SLOW FIRE DESTROYS THE HOTEL MARYLAND.

Dense Smoke Endangers Guests But No Lives Are Lost.

Thrilling Rescues from Great Burning Building in Pasadena, Housing Hundreds of Persons, Including Recent Occupants of the Huntington — Loss More Than Half a Million Dolla rs.

PASADENA, April 18.—Transforming a gay ball and children's party into a rout through smoke-filled halls, slow but irresistibly, fire tonight totally destroyed the famous Maryland Hotel, driving hundreds of guests into the streets clad in night clothes or evening gowns and causing a loss estimated at $510,000. The loss in personal property may run up into an enormous sum.

Five minutes after the flash of an electric fuse told the guests that the building was ablaze, smoke poured from the elevator shaft and sent them hurrying for safety.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke. Two were soon resuscitated by Dr. B. O. Coates with oxygen. The third finally came to and went back to work.

Trapped in her bed because she did not hear the alarm of fire, Mrs. Linnard, mother of D. M. Linnard, manager of the hotel, was saved by Palmer Day, the assistant manager, after a game fight against smoke that choked the halls and stairways. With a wet handkerchief over his face Day fought his way to the upper floors, found Mrs. Linnard in his arms and carried her safely to the street.

D. M. Linnard, manager of the hotel, last night made the following estimate of losses:

Main building, total loss, $250,000; furnishings, $160,000; concession stocks, $100,000. Total, $510,000.

The insurance is about $250,000 on hotel and furnishings, and the insurance on concessionaries stock about $70,000 (estimated.)

The cause of the fire is not yet determined, though the flames started in the basement and later burst into the baggage-room. Up to then hotel employees seemed to have the fire in hand, but it got beyond control and in ten minutes the building was doomed.

It is said that the actual cause of the blaze was crossed wires and defective insulation.

No injuries except to firemen resulted. Several firemen were

WILSON FACES GRAVEST CRISIS SINCE DAYS OF SPANISH WAR.

To Ask Full Authority to Act in Mexico Unless Huerta Yields by Six O'Clock Tonight.

Obstinacy of Mexican President in Refusing to Salute According to Terms Laid Down By the United States, Puts Washington in High State of Tension—Executive Plans to Go Before Congress Tomorrow—Fleet Steaming to Tampico.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 19.—"Encouraging but not final," was the way Secretary Bryan, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, summed up a message just received from Mexico City. Further than that the Secretary did not disclose what his latest dispatch contained. President Wilson left at 11:15 o'clock last night for White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., where Mrs. Wilson has been for the last week for her health. The President will return to Washington Monday morning.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The gravest international crisis the United States has faced since the Spanish War looms ahead.

Unless Huerta accedes to Rear-Admiral Mayo's demand for a twenty-one-gun salute before 6 o'clock on Sunday evening to the American flag at Tampico, President Wilson will go personally before a joint session of Congress on Monday and ask for authority to use the army and navy for such steps as may be necessary.

Huerta may actually fire the salute before 6 o'clock, which would be 7:36 p.m., Washington, or he may "yield" by advising President Wilson of his intention to do so. Either action, taken at the last minute, could be known here before the hour of the President's going to Congress.

This final word went to Mexico City today, after Huerta had parleyed for the last time and reiterated his demand for a "simultaneous salute." Leaders in Congress said President Wilson would be clothed immediately with all the authority necessary to take action.

Seizure of Vera Cruz and Tampico, of the Mexican warships in those waters, and of a section of the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City as far as the trestle twenty miles west of Vera Cruz and a pacific blockade are features of a plan of action President Wilson has outlined to his closest advisers.

Such a course authorities on international law describe as one "short of war," and not an act of war. Huerta, however, might construe it as one.

THE CLIMAX.

The climax came with dramatic intensity when a third message came from Huerta insisting on his own conditions for a simultaneous salute. A conference between the President and Cabinet members resulted in a prompt decision to brook no more temporizing or dilatory tactics.

WHITE HOUSE STATEMENT.

The following statement then was issued from the White House:

"Gen. Huerta is still insisting upon doing something less than has been demanded, and something less than would constitute an acknowledgement that his representatives were entirely in the wrong in the indignities they have put upon the government of the United States.

"The President has determined that if Gen. Huerta has not yielded by 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon he will take the matter to Congress on Monday."

TIME ALLOWED FOR ANSWER.

Allowing five hours, the average time for transmission of cable messages from Charge O'Shaughnessy, and including time for ciphering and deciphering, an answer was not expected here before early Monday morning, assuming that Huerta takes the full time for indicating his intentions.

President Wilson made his arrangements to leave late tonight for White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., to bring Mrs. Wilson, who has been ill, back to Washington. He will arrive at the health resort tomorrow morning and leave tomorrow night, reaching the capital early on Monday.

Huerta's continued evasiveness and Department. A summary of the developments of the day was cabled to all American legations and embassies for the information of foreign governments.

In the meanwhile the Atlantic fleet continues steaming southward to Mexican ports. No orders were issued to the army.

The determination to force a definite reply from Huerta, ending tolerance of his dilatory tactics, was emphasized strongly in the day's developments. It was a day of action in official circles, reminiscent to many of the scenes of 1898, for at no time since has a President threatened to ask Congress to use the army and navy to enforce a foreign policy.

WILSON SENT FOR.

The knowledge that the Mexican situation had reached a turning point spread throughout the national capital. For two hours, while clerks deciphered a long message from Charge O'Shaughnessy, a half-hundred correspondents waited in the corridors of the State Department for an inkling of its contents. Then Secretary Bryan sent for Secretary Tumulty. President Wilson had gone to play golf, expecting no developments until noon. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Tumulty conferred briefly and then hurried to a waiting automobile and were soon speeding toward the Virginia hills, where the President was playing.

In the meantime the White House had telephoned to the golf club and a secret service man ran out to the ninth hole and communicated a message. The President abandoned the links and got into his big motor car. On the way toward Washington he met Secretary Bryan and Mr. Tumulty. The party sped back to the White House.

Officials at the State Department meanwhile describedd Huerta's message as "inconclusive." Though the text of Huerta's answer was not made public, other officials described the dictator's attitude as "very obstinate" and insisting on a simultaneous salute. Naval officers said there was no such thing as a "simultaneous salute." Apologies are given in a salute of twenty-one guns fired at intervals of ten seconds, after the completion of which the party offended returns the salute.

That Huerta had merely "suggested" and "inquired" also was revealed, and officials found they had interpreted his previous "inquiries" and "suggestions" as promises.

CABINET IN SESSION.

When the President reached the White House, Postmaster-General Burleson was waiting. Acting Chairman Shively of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee arrived a few minutes later. They studied the Huerta message only a few minutes and were unanimously agreed on a reply which was dispatched to Charge O'Shaughnessy. It was couched in strong language and its tenor was indicated by the public statement issued from the White House, saying that unless Huerta had "yielded by 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon," the President would lay the situation before Congress.

Official business was interrupted at the White House, callers being turned away with the statement that "grave business" was being considered.

It was 2 o'clock before the ultimatum to Huerta had been put into cipher and dispatched from Washington. Officials estimated it would be delivered in Mexico City early tonight. Allowing time for its consideration by Huerta and his advisers, it was not believed any answer would be ready before late at night at the earliest and could not reach here until some time tomorrow.

In the meanwhile the aides at the Navy Department went into secret conference, completing plans for the movement of warships and marines.

Rear-Admiral Victor Blue, acting Secretary of the Navy, forwarded to Rear-Admiral Badger on the flagship Arkansas at the head of the fleet speeding to Mexico, the text of President Wilson's telegram giving Huerta until 6 o'clock on Sunday. It also was forwarded to Rear-Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz, who will communicate it to Rear-Admiral Mayo at Tampico. Rear-Admiral Howard, commander of the squadron in the Pacific Mexican waters, was also notified.

The fourth marine regiment on the Pacific Coast was ordered southward. The armored cruiser South Dakota, with 260 marines, was dispatcher from Bremerton, Wash., to Mare Island, where the remaining 600 marines will be divided with the collier Jupiter. Then the two craft will steam to San Diego to await further orders.

The two powerful new dreadnoughts, Texas and New York, at New York, although not under orders, are ready to start for Mexico on twelve hours' notice. The Virginia, Georgia, Nebraska and Rhode Island, now at Boston, would be ready by the end of the month.

The transport Hancock already has arrived at Tampico with 800 marines and the cruisers Des Moines and San

BOSTON, April 18.—One hundred and thirty-eight years ago tonight, Paul Revere made his famous ride to Lexington, the courier of the battle which began the Revolutionary War. Tomorrow, while the people of the United States are wondering whether Huerta will compel the descendants of those who fought at Lexington and Concord to engage in a conflict in the southern republic, Massachusetts will commemorate the heroism of those who were not afraid to beard the troops of England.

The coincidence of the two dates was discussed tonight in many clubs and meeting places where arrangements were being made for the patriotic celebration tomorrow. Lexington and Concord will observe the anniversary with a parade of the minute men on the historic green, while the troops at the border and the men of the navy are preparing for what the day may bring forth in Mexico.

his desperate condition, both from a financial and military point of view, especially on account of the recent rebel victories, led many high officials to believe he would defy the United States and take chances on consequences through which a national spirit might be aroused to unite the warring factions and entrench him in office.

REBELS CONSULT BRYAN.

The Mexican Constitutionalist representatives here were in communication with Secretary Bryan today, inquiring the trend of events. Well informed sources said the Constitutionalists would not, under any circumstances unite with Huerta, but would maintain a status quo in the territory they controlled, if the United States took no offensive action against them.

Ambassadors and ministers, too, were eager to learn the purposes of the American government and were supplied with information at the State Intervention.

WAR IN THE AIR FOR TWO YEARS.

Preparations Were Begun by Taft and Dickinson.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 18.—If President Huerta declines to yield to the American ultimatum requiring him to order the firing of a national salute of twenty-one guns at Tampico to make amends for the arrest of the American sailors from the dispatch boat Dolphin, the American war vessels and the American troops which for the last two years have been stationed within striking distance of Mexico will be called upon to enforce the President's demand for avenging the Tampico insult and incidentally to oust Huerta from the Presidency of Mexico. The downfall of Huerta is of course the prime object of the American policy although it has been temporarily eclipsed by the controversy over the dragging of the American sailors from the Dolphin's launch at Tampico.

For more than two years the American army and navy have been preparing for intervention or war with Mexico. Not quietly or secretly as such preparations are usually carried on, but above board and in full view of the entire world. Ever since March 13, 1911, when President Taft and Secretary of War Dickinson mobilized a large body of regular troops in Texas upon the pretext that maneuvers were to be held, the United States army has been preparing for the movement against Mexico which is now within sight. Of course a large number of the troops on the Texas border were for the purpose of preventing the smuggling in of arms and preventing violations of the neutrality laws and protecting Texans from incursions from either the Federals or the rebels, but the force of 10,000 trained troops encamped at Texas City, near Galveston, has been maintained there for the purpose of invading Mexico if necessary.

TRANSPORTS WAITING.

Four army transports—the Kilpatrick, Meade, McClellan and Sumner—have been stationed in the harbor of Galveston for months awaiting the day on which orders would come from Washington that war had been declared or that intervention had been decided upon. For many months officials of the army who have been studying the situation in Mexico have been confident that the time would eventually come when the United States would be compelled to intervene, either because of the incompetency of the Federal administration at Mexico City or the excesses of the rebels in the north.

The American army has a total of about 60,000 trained soldiers in the continental limits of the United States of whom about 40,000 will be available for use in case of a war with Mexico. During the last year or so practically one-half of this number has been in Texas or in close proximity the southern border. In addition there are several thousand coast artillery troops who could be organized into regiments of infantry if necessary.

Within a few days there will be sixteen American war vessels in the gulf ports of Mexico and eight in the Pacific ports. Of the sixteen on the gulf coast of Mexico, most of the American war vessels will be at Tampico, where the American flag must be to enforce the demand for the saluting of the American flag. On board of all vessels are about 8000 marines who could be used for landing parties in case of necessity.

Against this American force will be pitted the Mexican army, the strength of which at present is problematical because of the difficulty of obtaining accurate information, and also because of the serious reverses which it has suffered in its campaign against the Constitutionalists. According to a computation made at the War College its strength is in the neighborhood of 45,000 to 60,000.

HUERTA'S ASSERTION.

In a special message to the Mexican Congress several months ago, President Huerta made the assertion that he had 80,000 fully armed and equipped Federal soldiers in the field fighting against the reebls in the north. It was generally believed at the time this assertion was made that it was 15,000 or 20,000 over the actual figures, although there has been, of course, no satisfactory method of obtaining correct figures on the subject. Since then the Federal army has met with several serious reverses, principally from the Constitutionalist forces under Gen. Pancho Villa, and the belief among officials of the army and the State Department, based on a careful compilation of reports from all sources, is that the Huerta army is between 45,000 and 60,000.

It is recruited in time of peace by voluntary enlistments for periods ranging from three to five years, and in addition is supplemented by conscription in time of war and also by convicts from the government prisons. It is organized into thirty battalions of infantry, eighteen regiments of cavalry, one regiment of horse artillery, two regiments of field artillery and one of mountain guns, two battalions of garrison artillery, one of engineers. The war strength on paper is about 84,000, but in view of the serious reverses in the last few months it is likely that the number has been reduced by death and desertion to about 50,000. The total peace strength of the main army in 1912 was 107 generals, 6236 officers and 49,332 men.

The infantry are armed with the Mauser magazine rifle, model of 1901, and the cavalry with the Mauser carbine, while the reserves have the Springfield rifle of 1898.

MEXICAN NAVY.

There is no doubt about the Mexican navy, however. It consists of five gunboats and a couple of armed transports. Pitted against the mighty dreadnoughts of the American fleet it would not last a fraction of a minute. The newest gunboats are the Bravo and Morales, of 1260 tons displacement, built in 1903. They carry two four-inch guns, six six-pounders and one torpedo. They can make 16 knots. The next two gunboats, in age and size, are the Tampico and Vera Cruz, of 980-tons displacement, built at Elizabethport, N. J., in 1902. They carry two four-inch guns, six six-pounders and one torpedo tube. The Zaragoza is a training ship of 1181 tons, built in 1891.

According to afficials of the War Department, the possibility of war with Mexico furnishes an illustration of the urgent need for legislation creating a reserve composed of men who have served enlistments in the regular army, similar to the reserves of foreign countries. Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff, is an advocate of the creation of a reserve in this country.

"One thing is certain," he declares, "and that is that we must have an adequate reserve if we are to consider ourselves in any way properly prepared for war. Our mobile army within the limits of the United States, while efficient, is so small that it only amounts to about 6 per cent. of the force which it would be necessary to call to the colors in the early stages of a war with a first-class power. The militia could probably furnish 19 per cent., leaving a balance of practically 75 per cent. made up of men necessary to fill the regular army and militia to full statutory strength of volunteers."

LOCATING TROOPS ON THE BORDER.

NOGALES (Ariz.) April 18.—The War Department at Washington is making a close inquiry into the number and the location of Mexican troops along the border, according to authoritative information received here today. The inquiry, it was said, was being conducted through the commanders of the American troops along the international line.

MARINES ORDERED TO GO SOUTH.

VALLEJO, April 18.—According to orders received today at the Mare Island navy yard from Washington, a complement of 500 marines stationed at this yard will be attached to the 300 marines now ordered to proceed here from Bremerton on the cruiser South Dakota, under cmmand of Col. Julius H. Pendleton.

This force will embark on the collier Jupiter, which is ordered to proceed to San Diego.

Work is being rushed on the cruiser Cleveland, which is still in drydock.

MORE TROOPS TO CANANEA.

It was stated by Constitutionalist officers here that 300 more soldiers would arrive at Cananea tonight from Nogales, Sonora, making a total of 800 at the mining camp.

CAMP AGAIN QUIET.

NACO (Sonora, Mex.) April 18.—Arrivals here late today from Cananea reported that camp as quiet again and credited the concentration of troops there with having accomplished that result. It was reported that the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company had demanded military protection, threatening to close down unless it was granted.

Diplomatic.

BRITISH AGENT LEAVES MEXICO.

SECRET SERVICE MAN OF NOTE CALLED TO INDIA.

Sir James Winton, Who, Rumor Says, Caused Recall of Ambassador Wilson and Who Has Kept Huerta and Villa Guessing, Sees Heavy Real Estate Holdings Here.

Sir James Robert Howard Winton, the well-known British diplomat and secret service agent, who is credited with having procured the removal of Britain's last two envoys, Francis William Stronge and Sir Lionel Carden, from their posts at Mexico City, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning from El Paso, Tex. Sir James is en route from Mexico to the Orient and left last night for Vancouver, B. C., where he is booked for passage on the liner Empress of China.

He showed the effects of the mental strain and the wear and tear of the strenuous life and perilous adventures he has experienced in Mexico during his residence in that stormy republic. During the past year he has covered the Mexico situation as the secret service agent of the British War Office and as the personal representative and confidential adviser of Sir Edward Grey, England's Minister of War.

At the time Henry Lane Wilson was recalled to Washington by President Wilson to explain some phases of his official conduct as American Ambassador to Mexico, it was freely hinted in diplomatic circles that the President's summary action was largely prompted by the representations which Sir James Winton had made to the American State Department regarding Henry Lane Wilson's pronounced sympathies with the Huerta regime.

The fact that British diplomatic and consular representatives never openly or publicly recognize their government's secret service agents, much less disclose their identity, although in secret they work in conjunction with them, has enabled Sir James to avoid the limelight of publicity. His resourcefulness in maintaining a cloak of secrecy over the identity and movements of himself and his aides, and his constant flitting from place to place like a phantom, as illusive as a will-o'-the-wisp, has been a constant source of anxiety to both the Huerta and the Villa factions in Mexico.

The mutterings of discontent and rebellion in India caused the British War Office to recall Sir James from Mexico and to dispatch him to England's troublesome Indian dependency. During Lord Curzon's reign as Viceroy of India, Sir James Winton was, to all intents and purposes, the real head of the magnificently equipped secret service system which has been the main factor in maintaining British supremacy over 300,000,000 oriental subjects in that country.

Sir James' financial interests on the Pacific Coast are said to approximate millions of dollars. A well-known Los Angeles real estate man said yesterday that the British peer's investments in hotel property and ranch lands in Southern California would reach $1,500,000. In real estate circles Sir James is believed to be one of the principal financial backers of the new Carlton-Ritz Hotel which the Carlton-Ritz Hotel Company proposes erecting in Los Angeles.

Sir James declined to be interviewed during his stay in Los Angeles. He was accompanied by two secretaries, three English secret service men who acted as aides, and two valets. He breakfasted at the Alexandria and was then joined by a group of real estate men who had three touring cars ready for an all-day trip, including Pasadena, Redlands, Riverside and the beach resorts.

Francisco, the gunboat Dolphin, the scout cruiser Chester, the transport Buffalo and the Cyclops already are there.

At Vera Cruz, Rear-Admiral Fletcher has the battleships Florida and Utah, and the transport Prairie, with a large complement of marines. The battleships under Rear-Admiral Badger were reported off Key West, Fla., and are to arrive on Tuesday. On orders from Washington they could reach Tampico by Monday. It was generally agreed, however, that the force now at Tampico and Vera Cruz is sufficient to carry out any plan of action President Wilson may direct.

Should aggressive steps be necessary before the President has an opportunity to get Congressional action, there is no question in the President's mind of the right of the executive branch of the government to act. Republican and Democratic leaders say any action taken in an emergency would be promptly backed up by Congress.

Various steps not considered under international law as constituting a declaration of war have been discussed.

Any of these, of course, may be construed by Huerta as a cause for war and change the status of affairs, but precedent shows many a case in which a pacific blockade was declared, shutting off one nation from commercial intercourse with another, or the seizure of a customs-house and the collection of duties without involving either nation in war.

PACIFIC BLOCKADE.

The pacific blockade has not been looked upon by President Wilson as a very effective measure because precedent has not determined definitely whether a nation has the right to cut off the offending party from all commerce. It is admitted the United States could shut off Mexico from all commerce with the United States, but whether foreign vessels also could be prevented from engaging in commerce with Mexico without a declaration of war is a disputed point.

It is apparent the President has in mind other forms of "reprisal," a term international law defined as a "means of putting stress on a wrong doing state by something short of war." Landing of marines and even the bombardment of a town have been held as measures "short of war." In 1895 the British fleet sent a force ashore at Corinto, Nicaragua, seized a customs-house and held it for fifteen days, until an indemnity was agreed upon for indignities to a British Vice-Consul.

All officials were agreed that if Huerta did not yield, Tampico and Vera Cruz probably would be occupied, and held until reparation was made in the form of a salute, as demanded by Rear-Admiral Mayo on April 9. The demand at that time called for the hoisting of an American flag on shore, but Rear-Admiral Mayo has notified the Mexican commander he would not insist on that point as long as the salute was fired to an American flag flying from the mast of the Dolphin. It is believed the purpose of this is not to provoke any unnecessary demonstration against foreigners in Tampico.

AS TO HUERTA.

While predictions as to what will happen were numerous, there were some officials high in the councils of the administration who believed Huerta would not yield but would force the United States to land marines or occupy coast towns. With the act of American aggression completed, these officials believe Huerta will attempt to appeal to the patriotism of all factions in Mexico to repel the invader.

Some observers foresee in such a move an embarrassing situation for the Constitutionalist chief which they think might produce dissension and a possible disintegration of the rebel forces. Though showing their anxiety about the situation, high officials settled down to await Huerta's answer with resolute calm. Both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan attended the wedding, late today, of Chairman

SAN DIEGO FLEET READY TO MOVE.

FULLY COALED AND CAN SAIL AT MOMENT'S NOTICE.

Preparations Have Been Made to Receive the Marines Who Are on the Way from Bremerton and They Will Be Encamped Near the City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, April 18.—Both in the army and the navy here everything is in readiness to move at a moment's notice, orders being to "await orders." In the San Diego Harbor, there are now the destroyer and torpedo flotillas in command of Lieutenant-Commander E. H. Dodd. In the destroyer division are the Whipple, Paul Jones, Truxton, Perry and Stewart and the mother ship, Iris. The supply ship under command of Lieut. Martin Metcalf is anchored on the Coronado side of the bay. The submarine division has the monitor Cheyenne, formerly the Wyoming, and two diving boats under command of Lieut. K. Heron.

All are coaled and supplied, ready to sail at any time. The 800 marines who are ordered here from Bremerton and Mare Island will probably be encamped on Coronado Heights a few miles below Coronado City. Commander Cleland Davis, U.S.A., on shore duty here, in charge of the radio, coaling and recruiting stations, will recommend this site to the Washington authorities for the marines as there is ample room and dock and railroad facilities are good.

At Ft. Rosecrans, Maj. William Davis, commander at the fort, states his orders are to "await orders" and that the two companies of coast artillery and the hospital corps are ready to move at any moment. Maj. Davis conferred with Maj.-Gen. Arthur Murray, commander of the Western Division, while the latter was here this week, regarding preparations.

Five Wright air scouts manned with trained army aviators are at North Island at the local army aviation camp, expecting to be called into service at the first outbreak of war.

TO ATTACK GUAYMAS BY AIR, LAND AND SEA

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) April 18.—A simultaneous land, sea and air attack upon Guaymas is planned by the Constitutionalists, according to a statement made here today by Ives G. Lelevier, their agent in Douglas.

According to Lelevier, the attack by air will be made by the war aeroplane "Sonora," which will endeavor to drop bombs upon the city as it whirls above it.

The attack by sea will be undertaken by the gunboat Tampico and a warship recently purchased by the Constitutionalists. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) April 18.—[illegible] L. Switzer and A. T. Flanery, the Twentieth Infantry sentries who fired on two offending Mexicans interned in the prison camp at Ft. Bliss last night, were commended by Capt. G. H. Estes, executive officer of the camp, after an investigation.

Jesus Zarco, the first one to be shot, was caught by Flanery in the act of breaking the electric light bulbs which light the big camp, containing over 6000 fugitives from the battle of Ojinaga. Zarco was making use of a sling shot and when Flanery called upon him to desist, the Mexican directed his missiles at the sentry. The latter, standing on the elevated platform at post No. 9, fired and the bullet passed through the Mexican's thigh and left hand. He will recover.

The second shooting was that of Jesus Pallares. Pallares, five minutes after the Zarco incident, having crawled under the barbed-wire fence which surrounds the camp, was seen by Switzer trying to escape. The sentry called upon him to halt, but he redoubled his speed and Switzer fired. The bullet passed through his stomach and his recovery is said to be impossible.

The two incidents were not related and no evidence was found to show that there was any plot at a wholesale delivery. Since the Tampico incident, however, there have been many individual infractions of the rules. Recently some of the prisoners succeeded in breaking all of the lights on one side of the camp, and the barbed-wire fences having been cut, a number of them escaped. They were recaptured without the firing of a shot. On this occasion Col. Robert H. R. Loughborough issued a warning to the prisoners not to try to escape, as the sentries had been instructed to shoot.

Under military law, the two sentries must be exonerated formally by a court-martial, and for this purpose were placed under technical arrest.

TOOTING HORNS BY DEMOCRATS.

rk and Daniels Play Safe by Lauding Jefferson.

e Late Tom Johnson in Class by Himself.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND (O.) April 18.—Laudation of the accomplishments of the present Democratic administration and tributes to Thomas Jefferson and his influence upon legislation occupied speakers at the Jefferson "dollar dinner" of the Cuyahoga County democracy here tonight.

Among those who made set addresses were Speaker Champ Clark, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels and Gov. Cox of Ohio.

Short speeches were made by Senator Atlee Pomerene and Congressmen William Gordon, Robert J. Bulkley and Robert Crosser of Ohio.

Mr. Daniels spoke before the students of Western Reserve University [illegible] in the morning. At noon he and Mr. Clark delivered speeches at a luncheon given by the City Club. At this gathering Secretary Daniels made his only reference to the Mexican situation.

"We have had no war in which the American navy did not figure prominently," he said. "If we go to war with Mexico now, we are in better condition than ever before."

The Secretary, because of Mexican developments, kept constantly in touch with Washington.

Speaker Clark, like Secretary Daniels, devoted a large part of his address tonight to an eulogy of Thomas Jefferson. Speaking of recent Democratic legislation he said among other things:

"The tariff bill is the best, in my judgment, ever put on the statute books. Graded income tax, with its exemptions, is the fairest that can be levied. The present income tax has come to stay. No one will ever dare to repeal it."

Gov. Cox spoke mainly on State issues.

DANIELS' ADDRESS.

The influence of Jefferson upon the character and construction of present day legislation and government was depicted by Daniels. The speaker extolled the spirit of democracy and declared that the same unselfishness, [illegible] and liberality which characterized his administration in the days of Jefferson were seen today vividly reflected in the leadership of President Wilson, the counsel of William Jennings Bryan and the example of Tom Johnson, Cleveland's late Mayor.

Referring to the present administration, its tariff, currency and tax [illegible] Mr. Daniels said they were in thorough accord with the principles of the great mentors, Jefferson and Johnson. "These statutes already [illegible] and the proposed anti-trust [illegible] to be added, showed that the Democratic party in the past year has done more in the way of constructive legislation than the Republican party has in the past decades."

Mr. Daniels paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Mr. Johnson.

"Human liberty was threatened from a different direction when Tom Johnson was raised up to champion the weal of the masses. He incarnated the spirit of Jefferson. Jefferson was not more forgetful of himself in his thought of his countrymen than Johnson, and in the latter's use of his wealth for the community."

Discussing the effect of the new tariff law the speaker said, that, contrary to the predictions of the "apostles of privilege, we are not flooded with 'pauper' goods from abroad. Our exports have been increased. Our exports have grown greater.

"What is true of the tariff applies with equal force to the currency. The law which the last Congress enacted embodies the best thought of the nation on the subject. It rears no overshadowing central structure to determine the fate of whole communities.

"In the accomplishment of these democratic and truly American pieces of legislation I would not withhold the credit deserved by those members of Congress who differ with us politically, yes, who in the liberality of their views, have rendered us their hearty support. It is seldom that two such vital issues are determined with so little party spirit; and I regard it as most auspicious that the time has arrived when men of high station disregard the element of the party and let honesty and patriotism lend their support to measures for which their [illegible] are responsible."

THE GEDDES TRAGEDY.

A Man and a Woman Are Dead But All the Survivors Can Do Is to Guess Why.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

GEDDES (S. D.) April 18.—Deep mystery still veils the killing of William H. Menzie and Miss Blanche Signal, his book-keeper, whose charred bodies were found in the ruins of the Farmers' Elevator Company's office here Friday morning.

The local authorities still cling to the double murder theory, while some circumstances point toward murder and suicide with various motives suggested. Those who have known the victims intimately refuse to accept these versions. Others believe that Menzie killed the girl and then committed suicide.

The County Commissioners met last night, but decided to await the action of the Coroner's jury Monday when a large reward will be offered if the verdict warrants it.

SIX PAYS FOR FIVE.

But There Still Remains the One Per Cent. That the Missouri Pacific Will Have to Pay.

NEW YORK, April 18.—It is understood that payment of the $25,000,000 three-year 5 per cent. Missouri Pacific Railway Company notes maturing June 1 next will be met by the issue of a like amount of 6 per cent. two-year notes secured by increased collateral. As an inducement to the holders of the existing notes, a 2 per cent. cash payment will be allowed to those who make the exchange of new for old.

George J. Gould and members of his family, who are said to own fully half of the expiring notes, are reported to have agreed to the new plan, which will be submitted by the bankers to the Missouri Pacific directors at a special meeting on Monday.

POLICEMAN WITH BRAINS.

PORTLAND (Or.) April 18.—While a circus parade was proceeding through the heart of the business district here today, the bolt on the door of a lion's cage snapped and the door swung open. With a roar a huge Tasmanian lion leaped for the opening. The crowd surged back in terror.

The animal was half way out of his cage when Patrolman Charles Huston, sprang forward, smashed it on the nose with his helmet, drove it back, held his arm in the grooves of the cage in place of the broken bolt until he could produce his handcuffs and finally snapped the cuffs on the door and casement bar.

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) April 18.—Constitutionalists operating in the vicinity of Monterey reported today they had captured several companies of Federal fugitives from San Pedro.

These fugitives were supposed to be from Torreon.

Details of the capture of Salinas, twenty-five miles north of Monterey, yesterday, as given by Constitutionalists, declared the Federals had suffered heavy losses in that fight but gave no count. The destruction of a large part of the railroad between San Luis and Saltillo by rebels was reported.

The points mentioned in these dispatches indicate rebel activity northwest and southwest.

NEW RULES FOR PAROLES.

State Prison Board Will Meet Again in San Francisco to Revise System of Releases.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN RAFAEL, April 18.—The State Prison Board meeting at San Quentin penitentiary today as a parole board decided to meet again in San Francisco April 30 to draft new rules for the granting of paroles. This action followed a decision of the Supreme Court that under the present law any first-termer not serving a life sentence may file with the board an application for a parole.

Among the applications considered today was that of Henry P. Dalton, former Assessor of Alameda county, convicted of soliciting a bribe.

Abram Ruef of San Francisco, convicted of bribery, intends to present an application after the rules have been revised. A previous application was not considered.

Fifty-one applications for parole were received, of which thirty-four were considered. Nine immediate paroles were granted, two to women prisoners. Five future paroles were granted, seven applications denied, and all, including that of Dalton, were continued for further hearing.

GIRL GATHERS HONORS AS SPIRIT OF WOODLAND.

BERKELEY, April 18. — Maryly Krusi, the premier danseuse of Partheneia, as Wildwood, a feminine Pan, was one of the most finished players in the masque. Miss Krusi registers in the College of Natural Science as a senior, and is a member of the various dramatic and literary honor societies of the campus. She has played in many of the dramatic productions of the students, and has been known as a remarkably graceful and perfect dancer. As the spirit of the woodland in the Partheneia she was an incarnation of the youth and mischief of spring, and her dances with the pipes of Pan were received with delight by the audience. At all times during her dances there was present a refinement of feeling and a surety of interpretation that made her the most conspicuous figure of the episode. In many other performances on the campus she has been highly praised for her fine presence, and at present she is rehearsing for the leading role in "Teja," a play to be staged by the English Club of the university within a few days.

SEATTLE, April 18.—With fifty operators present, representing the industry in Washington and Oregon, the Pacific Coast Loggers' Association, at a meeting here today, unanimously adopted resolutions attacking the proposed repeal law granting to American coastwise shipping exemption from the payment of tolls for the use of the Panama Canal.

The association, of which former Senator Alex Polson of Hoquiam is president, pointed out the great danger to the lumber industry of the Pacific Coast which would follow the proposed repeal.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

The resolutions follow:

"The States of California, Oregon and Washington have an estimated total stand of timber at the present time of 1,318,200,000 feet, of which 400,000 feet are owned by the United States government, being embodied in national forests, parks, Indian reservations, etc. To that extent, at least, the United States government does itself and its wards, the people, the grossest injustice in forcing its own industry into competition with the cheap Asiatic coolie labor employed in the woods and mills of British Columbia.

STOCKTON, April 18.—That a juror's name attached to a petition for leniency in a criminal case is not entitled to weight was the assertion of Superior Judge J. A. Plummer today just before he passed sentence upon D. H. McDonald, convicted of manslaughter.

The defendant's attorney presented a petition for leniency signed by ten of the jurors, but the court refused to consider it, declaring succinctly: "Jurors have nothing to do with the sentencing of a prisoner. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) April 18.—About $1000 was obtained from the safe of the Monarch bar at Lowell, Ariz., in a hold-up early today, according to information reaching Bisbee tonight.

When the bar-room was deserted except for a bartender and three other men, the two masked bandits entered and covered the four with revolvers. One opened the safe by the "touch" system used by cracksmen, and took all of the money it contained. Then the pair hastily departed, after tearing the telephone from the wall.

KNOWLAND OPENS CAMPAIGN.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 11.—Before a large audience Congressman Joseph R. Knowland of Alameda tonight opened the Republican campaign in this county, the meeting being an enthusiastic one, held under the auspices of the Young Republican Club. At the outset of his remarks he took a hard fall out of the men who have betrayed the Republican party in California in the following language:

"During my seventeen years of legislative experience, seven at Sacramento and ten in Washington, I have endeavored to uphold the principles of the Republican party. All my honors have come through that party. I would far rather retire to private life bearing aloft the Republican banner than to attain higher honors by the betrayal of that party."

He attacked the tariff policy of the national administration, especially as to citrus fruits and other California products, charging that duty was lowered at the behest of the Italian fruit importers and their allied interests in the eastern cities, particularly New York.

He referred to the Mexican situation in the following language:

"I am very much gratified at the belated evidence of backbone on the part of the President in dealing with Mexico. Congress has watchfully waited while American lives have been sacrificed, American women outraged and property destroyed, while the administration has done nothing. Secretary Bryan has evidently temporarily caged the dove of peace and it is sincerely to be hoped that henceforth a firm stand will be taken in dealing with the Mexican situation and that every American citizen will feel that the protection of the Stars and Stripes means something even in Mexico."

The Wilson administration was bitterly scored on its stand on the Panama Canal tolls question, reiterating his statements made in other speeches on the Coast. He predicted Republican success in California this year. "The party has come back and one of the chief factors in bringing it back has been the Democratic administration."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Common repudiation of the Wilson Democratic policy of the proposed repeal of free tolls for coastwise American ships through the Panama Canal has been expressed in no uncertain terms by the people at the polls.

The Wilson administration, figuratively speaking, has been kicked hard by the American people, who will not stand for a surrender to Great Britain of our rights for American ships in the Panama Canal.

The issue was clear cut. There is no chance to misunderstand about the verdict of the people on the Wilson "surrender" Panama tolls policy—they registered their displeasure at this [illegible] but un-American policy in New Jersey, Boston and Alabama elections.

NEW JERSEY VERDICT.

In the Seventh New Jersey district [illegible] Drukker, a straight Republican, overwhelmingly defeated for Congress the Democratic administration candidate, James J. O'Byrne. Drukker made his fight solely on opposition to tolls repeal; O'Byrne was an administration pet and stood for repeal. Despite desperate efforts of the administration, which sent Senators James and Lewis into the district and the fact that this district is in the President's home State, the [illegible] voters, as a protest against the tolls, repudiated the Democratic candidate and elected Drukker by more than 5000 majority over O'Byrne. Senator James, speaking for O'Byrne through the district, declared if O'Byrne was not elected a "insult" would be given President Wilson. Evidently the people of the Seventh New Jersey were ach- [illegible] "insult" the President. It was a "stinging insult" to the administration.

THE BOSTON ELECTION.

In Boston James A. Gallivan, Democrat, running on an announced platform of opposition to repeal of free tolls, was elected to Congress from the Twelfth Massachusetts. Gallivan repudiated the administration tolls policy and the people backed him up with their votes.

In Alabama Majority Leader Underwood was elected to the United States Senate by a great majority. He and Speaker Clark are the principal opponents of free tolls in the House. Underwood's stand against free tolls rolled up his great majority against Hobson, his opponent, who [illegible] on the tolls question.

ADMINISTRATION CHAGRINED.

The administration is deeply chagrined over these unmistakable evidences of what the people think of the proposed surrender of our canal rights to Great Britain. When the result of the New Jersey election reached the White House the President was reported to be "stunned" at the news. Democratic leaders in House and Senate look harassed and worried.

Senator Burton of Ohio, who favors repeal, seeing the handwriting on the wall, has announced he will not be a candidate for re-election.

HEARINGS ARE FORCED.

Democratic and Republican Senators alike, who oppose the tolls "scuttle" policy, have forced hearings on the repeal question by the Senate Interoceanic Canals Committee and these are now on. A delegation of Californians, headed by William R. Wheeler of San Francisco, are scheduled to be heard April 21 in opposition to repeal. California is reported here to be almost to a man against Wilson and his remarkable scheme. The California delegation will vigorously oppose repeal. The California Congressional delegation, with the exception of Representatives Church and Kent, are against repeal. Church and Kent voted for repeal in the House. The other House members headed by Representative Knowland, voted against repeal.

CANAL SALE REPORTS.

Is the Wilson administration not content with its attempt to surrender rights for American coastwise ships through the Panama Canal, secretly dickering with Great Britain and other European nations to turn the canal, lock, stock and barrel to the world, to be used as a neutralized international waterway?

Startling assertions were published recently in Washington to this affect.

These reports were denied at the White House the next day, but so many denials have come from the White House when the Democratic administration has been caught "with the goods" in many nefarious transactions that denials from that quarter are now taken by the Washington public for what they are worth. Anything can now be expected from Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

ADMINISTRATION DOOMED.

There are not wanting political prophets here who declare that the single issue of tolls repeal will cause the next House to have a big Republican majority and that the recent elections sounded the knell of the Wilson administration in 1916.

KNOWLAND IN CALIFORNIA.

Representative Knowland has gone to California for a three weeks' trip in the interests of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Among the California Congressmen and other Californians here the opinion is general that Knowland will easily be nominated and elected Senator. He will be obliged to hasten back to Washington within a short time as his presence is necessary to lead the fight here against tolls repeal. Knowland is considered in Washington the foremost Congressman in the fight to prevent surrender of our canal rights to Great Britain. He is dean of the California Congressmen and led the fight for free tolls for American coastwise ships when the Panama Canal Act was passed.

Knowland will be in the thick of the great battle now being waged between the Wilson administration, which is trying its best to give away an American birthright for a mess of British pottage, and the patriots of all parties in House and Senate who are unalterably opposed to this proposed treachery to the American people.

Unions Would Grant the Railways Higher Rates if the Companies Only Help End a Strike.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) April 18.—After five-hours' discussion as to whether they should aid the railroads in obtaining higher freight rates, delegates to the convention of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor adopted today a compromise measure pledging support if the railroads would reciprocate by bringing about a settlement of the Illinois Central-Harriman lines' strike of shopmen, which has been in progress thirty months.

The first resolutions came out squarely for an increase in rates. The international officers of the various unions favored giving aid to the roads because of the effect it would have in getting higher wages for workers. Another faction of the convention denounced the railroads as trying to add to their immense earnings, and declared an increase in rates would raise the price of every commodity.

SHOWS REPEAL POLICY AS HEIGHT OF ABSURDITY.

Why Build the Canal if We Expected No Privileges, Asks Bonaparte—Former Attorney-General Declares No Nation Would Have Gone to Such an Expense if It Received No Compensating Advantage.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Advocates of the exemption of American coastwise vessels from Panama Canal tolls had their inning today before the Senate Canals Committee when the first witnesses appeared in opposition to the repeal of the exemption clause.

Former Atty.-Gen. Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore, Md., Russell L. Dunn of San Francisco and Representative Humphrey of Washington opposed the repeal on various grounds. James Brown Scott, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, was questioned by Senators Bristow and O'Gorman as to the motives of the organization participating in the propaganda for the repeal of the exemption clause.

Mr. Bonaparte asserted no nation would have been so foolish as to build the canal with the understanding that it was to derive no special advantage from the canal. He said the contention that the United States should be bound by the same conditions in the use of the canal as the other nations of the world was "unreasonable and absurd under all the circumstances."

Mr. Dunn spoke of the economic importance of free tolls to California in particular.

Representative Humphrey said the ships of the Pacific Coast States had [illegible] from the canal were about to be given to British Columbia.

Senator Bristow aroused Dr. Scott's ire by asking if the Carnegie endowment was not espousing the claim of Great Britain in advocating the repeal of toll exemption and circulating 100,000 copies of Senators Root's speech favoring the repeal.

Dr. Scott insisted neither he nor the endowment was consciously advocating the cause of England, but that they had taken their position irrespective of what Great Britain desired.

In defense of Panama tolls exemption, former Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte said that advocates of repeal could not esof Baltimore, told the Senate Canals cape from the position that the United States in case of war, was bound to permit its enemy to use the canal.

"If we were at war with Japan, our garrison at the isthmus," said he, "would be mere idle spectators of the peaceful passage of the Japanese fleet to attack New Orleans or New York. If we were at war with Germany the troops would look tranquilly on while German vessels traversed it to take San Francisco and the net result of our enormous expenditure for the construction of the canal would be to make our coast much more vulnerable than it was before."

Mr. Bonaparte contended that the rules of construction required the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to be interpreted as not requiring the United States to use the canal on the same terms as the other nations of the world. There was no question, he argued, that the exemption granted a bounty to the owners of coastwise vessels and he added that he thoug it would have been wiser, as a matter of form to collect the tolls and refund them.

As a general rule of law, Mr. Bonaparte told the committee, when one person grants "to all persons" a right to use his property, the grantor is not understood as including himself among those to whom the grant is made. A specific expression to include the grantor is necessary to bind the owner to the conditions, he added.

"Applying this principle to the present case," he continued, "if it had been the intention of the parties to this treaty that the United States should only use the canal on the same terms as other powers, then to give effect to that understanding the United States ought to have promised in so many words to observe these rules in its own use of the canal."

Russell L. Dunn declared the collection of tolls on American coastwise ships would interfere with the passing of California lumber through the canal. He said that a reduction in the price of California petroleum would follow if that product passed through the canal with no tolls. Free tolls, he argued, would develop borax production in California.

MITCHEL ASSAILANT HELD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 18.—Michael P. Mahoney, the gray-haired crank who yesterday attempted to assassinate Mayor Mitchel and in so doing wounded Frank L. Polk, corporation counsel, was arraigned by Tombs Police Court today on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He was held in $25,000 bail for the action of the grand jury.

When the amount of the bail was announced by Magistrate Simms, Mahoney smiled broadly and said:

Mr. Polk was resting quietly at the New York Hospital today.

Queen Mary Relents So the Ladies Who Accompany Her to Paris May Appear at Their Best.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, April 18.—Queen Mary, who is adamant regarding the etiquette to be observed in connection with court dress, both surprised and delighted the dames of honor by informing the ladies told off to attend court during her stay in Paris next week that the rule forbidding ladies to wear decollette dresses in the afternoon would be relaxed while the court is in Paris.

This unusual departure is due to the influence of Mme. Poincare, brought to bear through the medium of the Duchess of Devonshire, mistress of the robes, whom she induced to approach Queen Mary to persuade her to rescind the order given earlier that under no circumstances were the ordinary rules covering court ladies to be altered during the visit.

The success of this move is regarded as a masterpiece by the court ladies.

LIVES SAVED BY MATTRESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SCAPOOSE (Or.) April 18.—A charge of dynamite set off at midnight last night under the house tent of J. H. Gilmore, superintendent of the Nehalem Timber and Logging Company, and his wife, as they lay asleep, wrecked the structure and blew the couple high into the air. Mrs. Gilmore alighted on the wreckage and was seriously injured. Gilmore escaped with a few bruises. The heavy mattress probably saved both from death.

This is the third attempt recently on the life of Gilmore, one being made by fire and two by dynamite.

FLAG STAFF KILLS AUTOIST.

With Corpse at Wheel Machine Dashes into a Pole, Is Wrecked, and Daughter Is Injured.

CHICAGO, April 18.—W. E. Vossler was killed today by a flag pole that was broken off by the wind and thrown across his automobile while he was riding with his daughter Alice, 4 years old. When the gust of wind, somewhat stronger than the gale that prevailed during the day, snapped off the sixty-foot pole, Vossler put on full speed to escape the timber.

The heavy pole struck Vossler across the head and killed him. The staff bounded off the speeding car, which dashed onward unguided. The little girl screamed and clutched her father's coat. After running half a block the automobile struck a lamp post and stopped, wrecked. The child was thrown out and severely injured.

PARIS BOOMS M. CAILLAUX.

Calmette Tragedy Does No Injury to Financier.

Gifted Organizer Likely to Take High Position.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, April 5.—Joseph Caillaux, the leader of the Radical and the Socialist-Radical parties, will not be allowed by his friends to retire from French politics, as he announced he would do the day after his wife shot Gaston Calmette, the editor of the Figaro. M. Caillaux did withdraw as Finance Minister from the Cabinet he constructed with M. Doumergue as the Premier, but he is still constantly consulted by subordinate leaders of the two great groups in the chamber of which he is the chief. And it is understood to be his advice which guides the campaign now going on throughout France for the elections April 26.

The first popular impression after the killing of Calmette was that Caillaux's career was ruined. No one appears to think so now, as it became evident that he could have had nothing whatever to do with causing an act that threw into disorder his far-reaching political plans. The opinion of old parliamentary observers is that the shooting of Calmette is only an incident in the rise of the most powerful politician in France; not the ablest nor the most winning personality in French politics, but the most capable organizer of the forces of discontent and change among that great mass of the people between the extreme Socialists and the moderate conservatives.

Caillaux is a more gifted organizer probably than any other politician in France and employs every resource of interest and patronage in maintaining his voting machine. It appears that within the last four months nearly one-half of the prefects—the chief civil administrators or governors—of the departments of France, have been replaced by supporters of the Ministry. The prefects and deputy-prefects are able to influence greatly district politics.

M. Caillaux's wealth is a subject of gossip. He said on one occasion that he had inherited $200,000 from his father and it is obvious that this sum has grown, for he is a director in various important institutions, among them the Egyptian Credit Foncier, of which he is honorary president, and the Credit Foncier of Argentina, of which he is president. He is sometimes spoken of as worth 50,000,000 francs ($10,000,000,) but this probably is exaggerated.

Although a statesman of immense influence, he is also hated and distrusted by the conservative and moderate Republican interests. He is represented by his enemies as a sinister figure, one of the most dangerous men of the time. Against that is the view of his supporters that he is a high-minded man who has shown himself too adroit for his adversaries, who have had, therefore, recourse to detraction in an effort to break him down.

Queen Eleonore

Of Bulgaria, who sails for America May 21, will travel as a private individual, but nevertheless will be extended courtesies by the State Department.

Welcome.

"EUROPE'S UGLY DUCKLING" DUE HERE NEXT MONTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 18.—Although neither the State Department nor the White House has received official notification of the proposed visit of Queen Eleonore of Bulgaria, the usual ceremonies will be observed upon her arrival. It has been decided definitely that the Queen will sail on May 21. All affairs connected with the visit will be in charge of Third Assistant Secretary of State William Phillips.

Army and naval officials will be assigned to accompany the Queen on her tour of the country. With officers of the State Department, they will make all arrangements with all local and State officials for her entertainment. William Casper, personal representative of Queen Eleonore, arrived in the country on April 9 to make the final arrangements for the royal visit. He is the authority for the statement that the Queen will remain in this country five weeks and will visit all the larger cities as far west as Chicago. She will travel as a private individual.

The Queen is coming to this country as a student. She desires to study the methods used in handling immigrants and is also intensely interested in hospitals and the training of nurses. During the recent Balkan War, the Queen saw much service as a nurse and she now owns three hospitals in Bulgaria. She took much interest in the work of the American nurses who saw service during the recent war and plans to take back several from this country as teachers. She will bring with her four young women of Macedonia, who will study in this country to get experience at some of the larger hospitals.

According to the present plans, Queen Eleonore will visit Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Washington and Rochester, Minn. At the latter place she will be the guest of Dr. Mayo of the famous Mayo Brothers Hospital.

It has not been decided whether the Queen will continue her trip to the Pacific Coast. That depends upon developments after her arrival. Before her marriage to King Ferdinand, Queen Eleonore was called the "ugly duckling of Europe." The guest to be of the United States is said to be the mosct homely member of Europe's family of Kings and Queens. It is a fact, however, that her bravery at times of great stress and her kindly bearing toward her subjects has caused her plain face and figure to be forgotten in the fullness of their gratitude.

The Queen was married to King Ferdinand at the age of 48 and it is said no romance entered into the marriage.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 18.—A shirt costing $12 and worn by Charles J. Vopicka, Chicago brewer, who is United States Minister to the Balkan States, was one of the reasons prompting the resignation of Frank B. Kendricks, Jr., his secretary, who is on his way home from Europe. Mr. Kendricks, who is a former Chicago newspaper man, cabled his side of the trouble between him and his chief to John A. Malley, city editor of the Day Book.

Mr. Vopicka wore the costly shirt at a reception in a European city. According to Mr. Kendricks the diplomat was so proud of the garment that he boasted of its price to his guests. The secretary took Mr. Vopicka to task for talking too much and the latter became angry.

A week after the shirt episode Mr. Kendricks says he had a controversy with his superior regarding official matters. Their quarrels were frequent thereafter, resulting finally in the secretary's resignation.

In his cablegram Mr. Kendricks declared that he would have something to say publicly regarding Balkan affairs in general and Mr. Vopicka in particular as soon as he reaches Chicago. Mr. Kendricks is due in this city in about two weeks.

QUEER CUSTOMS IN ST. LAZARE.

Once a Monastery Is Now Women's Prison.

All Phases of Parisian Life Pass Through It.

BY STERLING HEILIG.

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, April 14.—Paris is stirred by the alleged elegance of Mme. Caillaux's prison cell—not at all a cell, they say, but grand and spacious old-world monastery room, transformed to boudoir-parlor. She waits trial, they say, amid beautiful furniture, luxurious carpets and wall-hangings, flowers and a new upright piano.

All this is exaggeration—but with enough truth behind it to make the "pistole" of St. Lazare the most striking prison regime in the world.

Mme. Caillaux certainly does have her meals sent in from Paillard's elegant restaurant; but so do others. Her "cell" is, truly, a spacious old castle-like room; but others have occupied it. Furniture and rugs have been brought in. Flowers were denied, and then admitted—both in the Paris papers the "pistole".

In a word, that one word tells the story: A certain section of the St. Lazare "pistole" is affected to notable accused women, great killers, great adventuresses, financial mystifiers like Mme. Humbert, mysterious international dames not specifically accused, and the whole category of Paris fashion and beauty, held up on "administrative orders."

St. Lazare is not a prison building, but a vast old monastery, transformed a hundred years ago to prison uses. There are shady gardens and green lawns—but there are also lugubrious exercise grounds of dirt and gravel.

There are soberly elegant old ecclesiastical halls, high ceiled, immaculate, where soft-voiced Sisters of Charity serve the "pistole" in the home of their great founder, and slip down to pray in the dim chapel.

There are long cold galleries, monks' doors become iron-grilled for the punishment of mothers. There are corridors of comfortable cells, where their sick children lie in isolation.

There are long, cold dormitories where young women who have never had a trial—nor will have—sleep from three days up to two months, at the autocratic word of a bureau-chief of the Prefecture of Police.

The different categories of prisoners, of course, live in different sections. Nevertheless, every girl or woman sent to St. Lazare, on entering, follows one of two great roads—the ordinary, or the "pistole."

Those of bad life regularly have the ordinary. You will see a fine creature go in magnificent—the latest street gown or evening costume. An hour later, she will be laughing and singing with her lower sisters, eating together, promenading the gravel, reading novels, or shirking work in the ateliers, all alike, in the gross St. Lazare skirt, waist, fichu and black cap. Girls you may have seen queening it in the supper-restaurants or princesses at the races make a point of honor to fling aside all elegance and rally to the great and humbler crowd. The money treats a dozen to meat dishes, cheese, fruit and wine from the "cantine." They do not ask the "pistole."

Here you see the type of ancient prison. In that old world, favor and the arbitrary walked hand-in-hand with very personal justice. Prisons were farmed out to their directors. Men's rank determined their comfort—and the price they paid in board. Often when a man of rank could not pay even a pistole per day, he got the luxury just the same; and the director made it up on others. And so from state prisoners down to footpads—to get comfort, one paid board on prison.

How old-world St. Lazare is, you may judge by this; there is gossip circulated that Mme. Caillaux occupies "le logis du Roi"—"the King's apartment."

Who knows what parts of the great old pile date from the fourteenth century monastery of St. Lazare? The monks began by caring for lepers, and ended by lodging the old Kings of France before they made their solemn entry into Paris. It being just outside the city walls, here Kings received the oath of the municipal authorities after breakfast—and continued the triumphal entry.

Those moderate prisoners, after all, most profit by the "pistole." Of an average 200 women awaiting trial, perhaps eighty of them, frightened respectable creatures, some of them innocent, take infinite courage preparing their defence by waiting in rooms instead of cells. The prices are compassionately elastic, all according to the person. So are the accommodations, rooms and rooms. The food comes in, from many a restaurant, at varying prices. And there is the prison "cantine," and the good Sisters, sweet and calm, in the home of their very founder, come and go, and slip down to the chapel.

Whenever it is a woman of merit, the higher luxuries of the "pistole" are put at their disposition. By woman of merit is meant she who has something—riches, social connections, valuable booty, or desirable or dangerous knowledge.

For such, the iron hand in the velvet glove!

MRS. KETCHAM SHARES ESTATE.

Remembered in the Will of Yerkes's Associate.

Twice Wealthy Widow Is Enriched Third Time.

Sleeping Potion Adds Millions to Her Holdings.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 18.—Mrs. Minnie Wallace Walkup Ketcham receives a life interest in one-fourth of the estate of Delancy H. Louderback, former associate of Charles T. Yerkes, according to the terms of the will filed today for probate. She is named as a "friend" in the will, which contains a provision that should any of the legatees contest it they would forfeit their bequests.

Mrs. Ketcham married James R. Walkup, a wealthy cattle dealer, and former Mayor of Emporia, Kan., when she was 16 years old. Mr. Walkup was a widower with several children and many years her senior. He died of poisoning. His young bride was indicted and tried for murder, but was acquitted.

Mrs. Ketcham's second marriage was to John B. Ketcham, a wealthy retired lumber man, who made his home in Chicago. Ketcham was also a widower. He died in 1907, leaving an estate valued at $800,000. His widow was the principal beneficiary. Following the settlement of the estate, Mrs. Ketcham was sued for attorneys' fees. Mr. Louderback was a prominent figure at the trial.

Mrs. Ketcham has lived in New Orleans and New York and has traveled extensively in Europe, where she is now.

No inventory or anything to show the value of the estate which has been variously estimated at from $100,000 to $1,000,000 was contained in the will or included in the petition for letters testamentary. A life interest in one-fourth of the estate goes to Mrs. Minnie Walkup Ketcham. At her death one-half of her share goes to Jean D. Louderback, a niece in Oakland, Cal., and the other half to be divided among the heirs already mentioned.

Mr. Louderback died a week ago and a Coroner's investigation resulted in a verdict that he died from an overdose of sleeping powders.

Community Helps.

CELEBRATES NINETY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY.

AN ENTIRE community turned out last night to welcome the youngest old man in Southern California, C. J. Stough of the famous Stough ranch at Burbank. The Chamber of Commerce and the Ladies' Auxiliary were in charge of the programme and several hundred persons crowded into the hall to pay their respects to the virile and hearty old man who celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday anniversary.

The residents of the mountainside hamlet endeavored to show their appreciation for the thousands of dollars donated by Stough and his wife when they were absolutely essential to make up a big deficit in order to bring the electric interurban into the community and connect it with the rapidly-developing outside world. This donation made possible the new life and activity in Burbank according to a number of the speakers who graciously referred to it and the other developments which Stough has been instrumental in.

He came all the way up from San Diego where he has his home and where last year he was given a great ovation by the citizens of that community for his splendid civic philanthropies. W. A. Blanchard, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. A. O. Kendall, president of the Auxiliary; Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Ballagh, the latter a sister of Mrs. Stough; Frank G. Tyrell of Los Angeles and many others of equal importance were in the receiving line. A touching tribute was that of a handsome leather-bound volume of pictures and history of Burbank and of the Stough properties, all handmade by students of the Polytechnic High School of the place, which is built on a portion of the great ranch belonging to the Stough family.

In a few well-chosen words, the recipient of the honors thanked his many friends and assured them that his was little work in pushing forward the welfare of the community compared with that of many of the men and women who actually campaigned for various salutary issues. When asked his receipt for long life, he declared for less food than the average man gets and a continually absorbing interest in current events.

Stough was born in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, in 1818; served with the Third Ohio Volunteers through the Mexican War; was distributing agent for the State of Wisconsin at Shiloh in the Civil War and in his long business career, won, lost and finally amassed an immense fortune. His greatest pride is in a letter which he received from his first employer after the Mexican War, when he went to work for only his board in a Cincinnati hardware store and received the title from his employer of being the best stove polisher the firm had ever had. Inside of three months Stough had risen to an interest in the business.

The foundation of his present fortune, which runs into millions, was the purchase of the Hinsdale ranch, which afterwards became a beautiful Chicago suburb. "All I was able to put up was $100, but that was sufficient," he declared. In 1886 he purchased 7000 acres at San Diego and was laughed at by men who a few years later paid him many times the purchase price of the entire ranch for merely a few acres.

Refrigeration.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT MEN DEMAND LOWER RATES.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 18.—Hearings of the complaint of the Pacific Fruit Exchange against the Southern Pacific, the California Growers' Association against the Alabama Great Southern Railway and fifty-seven connecting lines and the California Railroad Commission against the Alabama Great Southern, were held today before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The complainants desire the commission to order the carriers to grant lower refrigeration charges and lower minimum carload weights to eastern destinations and common points of shipments of California deciduous fruits.

Douglas Brookman of San Francisco, assistant attorney for the California Railroad Commission, represented the commission. R. D. Stephens and James H. Hays of Sacramento appeared respectively for the fruit exchange and the fruit association, the principal argument being made by Brookman for the California Commission.

The issues were exhaustively argued by the Californians, the reasonableness of the existing carload minimum weight of 26,000 pounds applying on shipments of deciduous fruits out of California, and the reasonableness of the refrigeration rates applying on shipments of California deciduous fruits to eastern destinations.

The fruit interests must have a lower carload minimum of 24,000 pounds, declared the attorneys, because the railroads are unable with their present refrigeration cars to transport 26,000 pounds of fruit to destinations in proper condition. There has been great complaint that top tier crates in 26,000-pound cars decay before they arrive at destination, causing shippers in the aggregate an enormous loss.

It was shown that California is the only State which has a minimum on deciduous fruits of 26,000 pounds per refrigeration car. The minimum weight from Texas is 20,000 pounds, and from Washington 24,000 pounds.

The carriers' revenue per ton mile of California fruits is greater than on any other commodity except hops, declared the attorneys.

The Californians contended that the refrigeration rates are unjust and unreasonable, and that these rates greatly exceed the actual cost of performing refrigeration service. Chicago, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, New York, New Orleans and Philadelphia, it was shown, all have advantages over San Francisco and other California cities in lower refrigeration charges.

The cost of ice, switching charges and supervision charges are unreasonable, it was declared.

A point that should appeal to the public is the fact that all work done in our office is done by experts and at a price commensurate with work of the very highest quality. We can therefore afford to guarantee our work for life and make good the guarantee in the event it proves defective (which isn't likely). We are not infallible, yet we make very few errors. The dentist who does cheap work cannot do it twice for one price, and it's a cinch that most cheap work will have to be done twice, thrice and then some.

Briefly, the Alveolar method is this: If you have two or more teeth left in either jaw, we can supply all that you have lost with teeth as good, solid and sound as the best set of natural teeth ever grown in any human being's mouth, and a whole lot more beautiful than nature's best product, without resorting to such makeshifts as partial plates and the unsanitary bridgework. Alveolar Teeth are not only beautiful, but they are comfortable and durable. We guarantee them to last a lifetime, where the longevity of bridgework is seldom ever longer than 5 or 6 years and generally a good deal less. It is never guaranteed to last by any first-class dentist who is responsible and reliable, because all first-class dentists will tell you that bridgework at best is doubtful. It is a painful operation and gives trouble from the time it is put in the mouth until it has to be taken out. In many cases where bridgework is impossible, and all cases where it is possible, we can replace your missing teeth with perfect Alveolar Teeth. The pain incident to the work is practically none; the expense is the same as the best bridgework—but in there satisfaction is no comparison between the two.

We have samples in our office to show at all times—hundreds of patients here in our home city to refer to. Examinations and booklets on Alveolar Dentistry are absolutely free.

Curing Pyorrhea (loose teeth), a disease given up by most dentists as incurable, is another of our specialties. It's a boastful statement to make, but we can do anything that is possible in dentistry, and what we do is always of the very highest class. Our booklets, Alveolar Dentistry, are free. Write for one if you cannot call. We have samples of our work to show at all times.

BILL AFFECTS YOSEMITE LAND.

Lane Approves Measure to Transfer Title.

Exchange to Be Made With Private Parties.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 18.—Secretary Lane of the Interior has sent to the President with recommendation for its approval Senate Bill No. 4943, authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to secure for the United States title to patented lands in the Yosemite National Park.

It was not found practicable to carry into effect provisions of the act of April 9, 1912, because there are not sufficient suitable government lands within the park on which to base an exchange and it was deemed advisable to ask authority from Congress to exchange certain lands abutting on the national forest, in addition to those in the park, which resulted in the legislation above referred to.

Under this act the area of government land and the area of private lands to be exchanged is practically the same in each case, 4560 acres, and the relative value of the timber is also the same. In addition, the wonderful forests along the Wawona road leading through the Yosemite National Park, and into the Yosemite Valley, will be preserved in their primitive beauty, thus maintaining the present natural scenic beauty, as well as preserving the trees and the watershed.

PUMPING PLANT OPERATES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN JACINTO, April 18.—The new self-regulating pumping plant is now in operation for the city and on Tuesday evening it was accepted by the Trustees and the initial payment made to the contractor. It is claimed that its use will save the city the wages of an engine man as the electric power is automatically shut on and off by the water gauge in the tank, thus maintaining a constant and an even water pressure in the mains.

Tomorrow night the City Trustees will reorganize. There will be but one change in the personnel, Roy Copeland having been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of A. J. Thompson, former Trustees, to Los Angeles. The other members of the board, the Treasurer and the Clerk, remain the same.

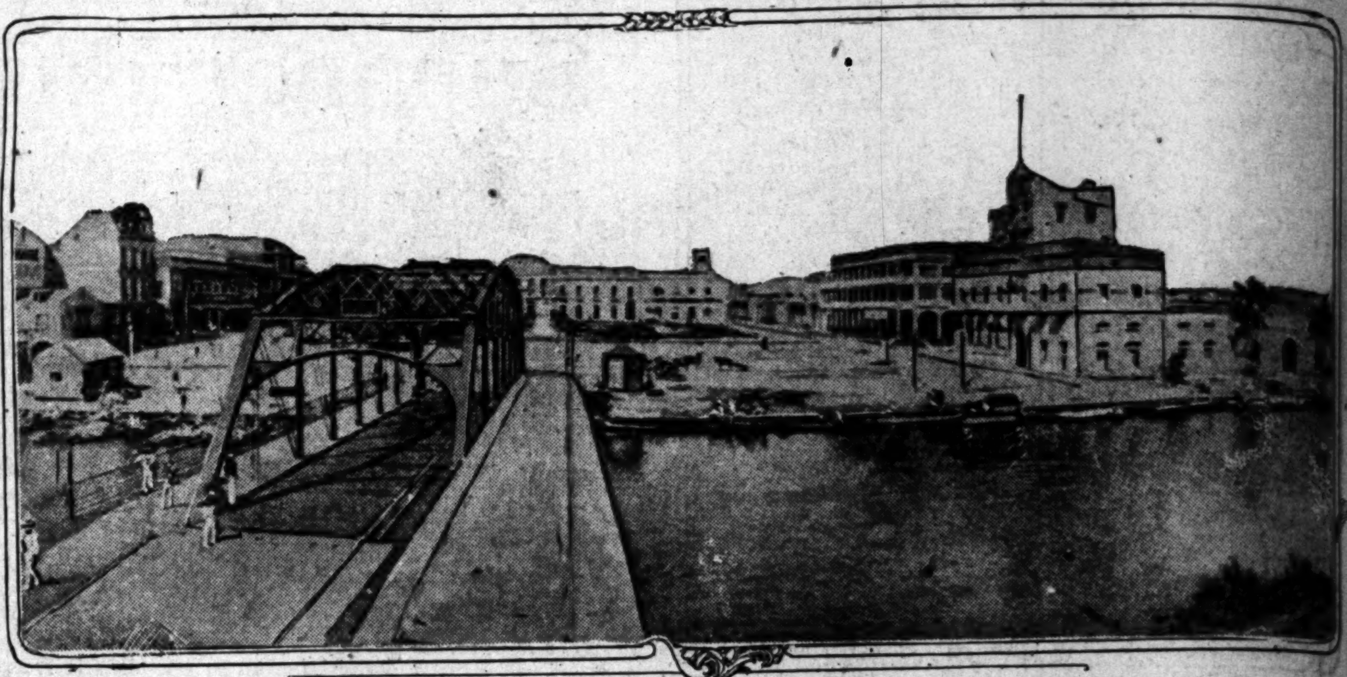
Where Huerta May Salute If He Makes Up His Mind.



The Tamesi river front in Tampico.

Since President Wilson has stipulated that the ultimatum of Rear-Admiral Mayo still stands, it is within range of possibility that Huerta will salute, if at all, an American flag flying from the staff discernible on the tallest building shown in the above picture. Mayo's original demand is that the American flag be saluted as it flies from the highest building in Tampico. There are no New York skyscrapers in Tampico.

STEADILY ON THEIR COURSE TO THE HARBOR OF TAMPICO.

ON BOARD THE U.S.S. ARKANSAS AT SEA, BY WIRELESS VIA JUPITER, FLA., April 18.—The battleships under command of Rear-Admiral Badger are proceeding steadily on their way to Mexican waters. Efficiency has been proved by the smoothness and speed with which mobilization has been accomplished. Admiral Badger is confident that the fleet is prepared for any emergency, but is unwilling to disclose his tentative plans.

Rear-Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, in command of the warships at Vera Cruz, has been instructed to meet the Arkansas and the other battleships composing the squadron off Tampico on Wednesday, April 22, when it is expected the fleet will be assembled. That will mean not less than 20,000 men.

If the salute demanded by the United States government is fired by the Mexicans a gunboat will probably receive it and then return to the big warships, which will lie seven miles out.

Determination.

ARMED GRIP IS CERTAIN IF HUERTA HOLDS OUT.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Congress will not "quibble" if developments make it necessary for President Wilson to report to it on Monday that Huerta declines to salute the American colors in accordance with the American demand.

Should it develop that Huerta maintains his "haggling" defiance, leaders in Congress believe the President will ask authority to use armed force to defend the dignity of the nation. Democrats, Republicans and Progressives alike agree that no other course could be pursued, and the Congress stands ready to give the President plenary power to act as his judgment and necessities may dictate.

If the American demand is not complied with, President Wilson will notify administration leaders of his desire to address Congress. Then and not until then will plans be made for a joint session of the Senate and House. Arrangements for this can be perfected quickly and action can be outlined after assurances of defiance from President Huerta have been received.

Opinions among members of Congress vary as to the attitude Huerta will assume. Some think he will wait until the last minute and then yield to the original demand of Admiral Mayo. Others believe he will ignore the demand, believing that through a demonstration by this government he can arouse the patriotism of his own people in his own behalf. There are few, however, who do not believe the United States, in the event of defiance of the ultimatum, must take an armed grip over Mexico.

The prevailing opinion is that a resolution would be adopted similar to one adopted before the Spanish War, authorizing the President to use the armed forces in his discretion, to defend the dignity and honor of the United States. The first move, it is believed, would be to seize the ports of Vera Cruz and Tampico.

Senator Shively, acting chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee will be in touch with administration officials and it is probable the President would communicate first to him if the situation should demand Congressional attention. Representative Flood, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, also would be notified and both committees called to consider the form of a resolution to meet the emergency.

"We are through talking," Chairman Shively said. "We must [illegible] now until we see what Huerta is going to do."

In both branches of Congress the ultimatum to Huerta was the absorbing subject throughout the day. The Senate was not in session but many Senators were engaged in official business at the Capitol and there were few who did not assert that Congress would hasten to support the President. In the House, news of the President's action was received with suppressed excitement and there [illegible] members agreed Congress would [illegible] hesitate to uphold the President to the fullest extent.

Wilson Faces Crisis.

Flood of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Miss Anna V. Portner of Appomattox, Va. Secretary Daniels, in Cleveland, O., arranged to return here tomorrow, and while the President is at White Sulphur Springs Secretary Bryan will keep him informed of developments.

Mr. Mryan has had to defer again his trip to Florida, and though he coughed heavily and still showed the effects of his siege of grippe, he was kept busy every minute of the day. Among his callers was Ambassador Spring-Rice of Great Britain. Other Ministers dropped in, too, and it is understood they were made acquainted with the latest developments in the situation.

HOW NAVIES AND ARMIES OF U. S. AND MEXICO COMPARE.

THE Mexican navy consists of five gunboats, the Bravo, [illegible] Tampico, Vera Cruz and the Zaragosa. There are also two armed transports. Unless the rebels come to Huerta's aid it is doubtful whether he could raise an army of 50,000 men. The total war strength of the Mexican Federal army, according to the best figures obtainable, is 84,000 men. The infantry is armed with the Mauser rifle, model of 1901, and the cavalry carry the Mauser carbine. The reserves have only the Remington rifle of 1893. The Mexican army consists of [illegible] generals, 6236 officers and about 50,000 men.

The authorized peace strength of the United States army is [illegible] men.

The total strength of the National Guard, which the President can call out, is 119,000 officers and men.

The reserve, or unorganized militia, comprises the whole of the manhood of the nation between the ages of 18 and 45 years, all being legally liable to serve two years. Their estimated number is [illegible]

ANGELENO ATTORNEYS INJURED IN AUTO WRECK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, April 18. — At the corner of First and Main streets, today, an automobile driven by Dr. F. Doyle of Santa Ana was struck by one occupied by Attorneys H. B. and Paul Stewart of Los Angeles, H. B. Stewart driving. A boy's express wagon drawn by Charles Miller, aged [illegible], was crushed while the boy had to jump to save himself from being run over by Stewart's machine, which [illegible] toward him when rebounding from the collision. Paul Stewart was thrown to the pavement and had a piece of skin removed from one shin.

Dr. Doyle states that he was turning off Main onto First, and would have passed safely in front of the Stewart brothers had not he been compelled to slow up to avoid running into young Miller's wagon. He says the other machine was not under control at the crossing. The Stewarts say Doyle made a quick turn to their side of the street without giving any sign of his intentions. Both automobiles were badly damaged. The attorneys were returning from Imperial.

E. T. Mateer and his wife, Plummer Bruns and Gustabel Bruns, who were injured yesterday when their automobile turned over with them on the Delhi road, are resting fairly well today. An X-ray examination shows Mrs. Mateer's right thigh broken close to the hip. Mateer has three ribs broken. Bruns left the hospital today. His injuries consist of bruises and cuts. Miss Bruns had one wrist sprained.

Hotel Maryland Burns.

suffocated and six are said to have been badly burned.

From the moment the flames burst through floors from the basement, fire fighters were powerless to save the big wooden structure.

The Pasadena firemen had laid their lines for the south or front side and the corners and were helpless to combat the flames in the rear. But the fire had made such headway then that they were powerless to do much but protect the cottages in the rear.

The cottages were menaced by the long awning covering the walk in the rear of the building and a score of men endangered their lives in tearing it away.

The manager of the hotel and his assistant paid no heed to saving their own effects, but directed a force of a hundred employees who tried to save what they could of the furniture.

EXPLOSIONS SPREAD FIRE.

The water supply was pathetically inadequate and the flames ate their way right by the firemen. The entire eastern wing of the hotel was gutted in less than half an hour's time. Tanks of oil and other combustible materials exploded with loud reports and neighboring property owners climbed on their roofs and fought to keep the fire from spreading by embers.

Calls for help were sent to the Los Angeles department, and first aid arrived at midnight, when the big aerial truck screwed its way through Colorado avenue and drew applause from 10,000 spectators as it brought relief to the fagged fire-fighters who had thrown all their energy into the breach.

At midnight the fight turned toward the possible saving of the bungalows, while across Los Robles street citizens fought with fire hose to save their homes as sparks dropped on the roofs of houses.

An immense palm in front of United Presbyterian Church caught fire and a lead of hose turned upon it drenching persons who were more than 100 yards from the flames.

USE DYNAMITE.

The use of dynamite to save the west wing of the hotel sent glass and timbers crashing into the crowds that surged over the ropes.

At midnight the main building had been razed, and the firemen seemed to have checked the spread of the fire. The glowing flames were slowly dying down to a pile of embers and with the aid that came from Los Angeles the conflagration was practically over, confined only to the interior of the main walls.

Among those who were guests were prominent people from all parts of the country. Many lost their clothing and valuables and were compelled to sit on the lawn and watch the building burn.

One of the concession holders is Magnin and Company of San Francisco. There were thirty-five people employed in the store, which opened off the lobby, and the loss of the stock and fixtures will amount to about $50,000. It was partially insured.

The firm of Fegans and Company of Los Angeles had an elaborate branch store in the hotel with a stock about equal in value to that of the Magnin company. It is reported to be partially insured.

Among others who had stores in the building where the Allegretti Confectionary Company, the Southern California Edison Company and The Bootery. There were twenty in all.

A gay dance was in progress and a children's birthday party, given by little Miss Mildred Lyon, daughter of ex-Mayor W. Parker Lyon of Fresno.

Miss Louise Farley, the telephone operator, was the first to discover the smoke. She seized the telephone and gave the alarm to the police. The action was just in time. The instant she said "Fire," the switchboard exploded with a noise and flash that startled the whole party of guests in the lobby.

There was no panic on the discovery of the fire. Mothers who were dancing left their partners to hurry to childrens' rooms; others thought of their personal property and sought their apartments. It seemed rather a question whether they should have to leave the building at all. However, they were advised to do so, and the exodus began.

In five minutes smoke was pouring from the elevator shaft and the exodus became flight.

Harry Tateymu, a Japanese operating the elevator, stuck to his post, running to each floor and calling "Fire!" at the top of his voice. He brought down several carloads of guests before the smoke and gases from the furnace underneath drove him from his post. Other guests ran down the stairs. A few who had retired appeared in scant attire. All question about remaining in the building had vanished and in flight few stayed to gather personal effects from the rooms.

SMOKE BIG MENACE.

The fire for a long time was confined to the basement and it was only smoke that made it impossible to enter the upper stories. It was almost 11 o'clock before the flames appeared above the first floor and until then it was believed the hotel could be saved. Once it gained control the fire roared up into the tower of the main part of the building in a few minutes' time.

Many thousands of dollars worth of diamonds and jewelry are in the ruins of the hotel. Many women, once out of the hotel, begged to be allowed to go back to get their valuables, but the smoke spread through the entire building and made it impossible for them to do so. They were compelled to remain outside, often by compulsion.

Little of the furniture was saved. Some of it and a few trunks were gotten out of windows and piled in the court back of the hotel. The guests and the employees there sought refuge and many of the women who had come from the building thinly clad or in ball gowns were provided with wraps by the guests who have cottages in the rear of the hotel.

These extend back over a block and were not in any great danger.

CROWD FILLS STREETS.

Word that the Hotel Maryland was on fire, combined with the fact that it was Saturday night, caused the greatest crowd the city has ever seen. The streets were filled for blocks in every direction and the police had great difficulty in holding back the crowds.

The Hotel Huntington, which had closed but a short time before, had consigned its remaining guests to the Maryland and there were 226 guests at the hotel, and 190 employees. All were taken in automobiles and on street cars to the Hotel Huntington. That will probably be kept open to house the victims of the Hotel Maryland fire.

A mountain of baggage was finally got out of the basement of the wings of the Maryland Hotel and piled in Euclid avenue.

The Country Fair, a gay charitable event at Hotel Green, was deserted, and the performers and guests, merry society women of the city, left the place to cluster in the court of the Maryland grounds, where they presented a bizarre sight in their gay costumes revealed by the glare of flames from the roof of the hotel.

CALL FOR HELP.
FIRE FIGHTERS DISPATCHED.

A call for assistance from the Pasadena department resulted in the dispatch at 11:30 o'clock last night of Engine Co. No. 25, Seventh and Figueroa streets, and Motor Truck Co. No. 5, Fifth street and Maple avenue.

Chief Eley and a detail of about ten men crowded into the chief's automobile and followed the apparatus.

FOR FOREIGNERS' SAFETY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHIHUAHUA (Mex.) April 18.—Plans for the safety of foreigners and foreign property in Tampico were agreed upon yesterday by the commanders of German, British and American vessels at Tampico in conference with Gen. Luis Caballero, chief of the rebel forces operating against that port. This information was conveyed to Gen. Carranza today in a report from Gen. Caballero, who telegraphed as follows:

"In the zone dominated by my forces, there is absolute respect for the interests of foreigners. Commanders of German, British and American ships in the harbor visited me and at the ensuing conference we agreed upon plans designed not only to protect the lives of foreigners, but their property as well, so far as possible.

"I will take positions, so far as I can, calculated to remove the fire of battle from the sections occupied by foreigners seeking safety and also will try to keep the line of fire away from foreign-owned buildings. It was, of course, understood that I might have to attack some of these structures if the Federals tried to convert them into places of defense. You may rest assured that any word sent you to the effect that I might enhance the present international complications came from a traitor."

Wesley Jones's Speech.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Republicans and Progressive were urged to unite their forces by United States Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington in a speech at the dinner of the New York Young Republican Club tonight. The special election in New Jersey, where a Republican member of Congress was elected, showed what they could do together, he said, and what they would do by voting together next fall.

Kokomo, Ind., a town founded in 1844 and named after Chif Kokomo of the Miami Indians, long inhabitants of the reservation near its site, now has the distinction of consuming 3 per cent. of the nation's aluminum output, and the record of producing the first "horseless carriage," built there by Elwood Haynes.

Two Entrances

Foolish and Original

Synonyms Betimes

When a person begins to act according to their beliefs and honest convictions their actions are called original and the person so acting is said to possess moral courage or self-reliance.

In failure these identical acts are called queer and the actor foolish or egotistical.

This condition of affairs may seem unjust to the young hopeful who has just experienced his first reverse, but later in life the world's apparent fickleness is advantageous as a test which usually shows real worth.

Harriman said opposition develops talent.

The best proof of our own sincerity of purpose is "satisfaction with our own acts when the majority are against or indifferent to us."

Many people say thus and so because some one has informed them, and while this kind of knowledge is only second-hand goods, the fact remains that most of our knowledge comes from other minds we accept as authorities.

More lasting credit is given where one is informed of a condition and then has experience to prove it.

When Mr. Lee Holiday, proprietor of the Gates Hotel, was informed that he could have live nerves removed from his teeth by Homer's analgesic method, he did the doctor an unintentional injustice by frankly stating it could not be done. To Mr. Holiday's delight it was done, the same as extracting, crowning and filling can be done, without pain.

Most dental work would be unnecessary if people would take proper care of the gums. Every one should watch for receding or bleeding gums, teeth slightly sore or loose and a bad breath, as these are symptoms of Pyorrhea, which causes the loss of most teeth.

Dr. Homer's specialties are: Treating Pyorrhea and making teeth without plates; giving a full set of teeth without plates or ordinary bridge work, if two or more roots remain in either jaw.

Associated with him are men who devote their entire time to making various forms of plates that restore natural expression and prevent shrinking of gums.

DR. HOMER, at the Orpheum Building, 636 South Broadway, gives a test for sincerity this week.

BARRING OUT ORIENTALS.

British Columbia Hears that It Can Prevent All but the Japanese from Entering.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 18.—Advices received today from Ottawa state that a new interpretation of the recent order in Council prohibiting the entrance into British Columbia of all artisans and laborers has been made there. It was thought at first that owing to the Chinese act the order in Council did not affect the entrance of Chinamen.

However, after a close study of the legal aspect of the question it has been decided that under present regulations the government can, if it so desires, exclude all new comers from China and in view of the recent racial difficulties in British Columbia the government may avail itself of this interpretation.

The only nation now excluded from the provisions of the order is Japan, whose case is covered by the treaty arrangement with that country.

REDLANDS AND GLENDORA ELECTIONS CONTESTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, April 18.—Attorney Edmund B. Patterson filed with the City Clerk today a petition calling for a recount of the votes cast in the recent municipal election for City Trustees between George P. Cortner and George S. Biggin. As the count now stands Cortner, who is a renominated member of the old board, was re-elected on the Good Government ticket by thirty-two votes over Biggin.

The petition presented to the Clerk states that the petitioner alleges that the tally sheets and returns did not show the correct and true number of votes cast for George S. Biggin, but that on the contrary Biggin received a greater number of votes than was shown by the tally sheet and that George P. Cortner received a less number of votes than shown on the tally sheet and all of the votes cast for George S. Biggin were not counted for him by the present officers.

The petitioner declares that he is informed and believes that in each and every voting precinct of the city of Redlands the election officers counted and tallied for George Cortner certain ballots which were in truth and fact properly stamped and voted for Biggin and the exact number of ballots was wrongfully and unlawfully tallied for Cortner.

Attorney Patterson acts for the Municipal League in filing the petition. The league elected all of its candidates excepting Biggin and this leads to the belief that there may have been mistake and discrepancies in the handling of the ballots.

Cortner, the hold-over member of the board, and the other officials are entirely willing that the recount should be made, and Mr. Cortner has declared that if the recount proves that Biggin has enough votes to change the tally as it now stands he will be only too glad to retire and to permit Biggin to be seated in his place.

ILLEGALITY ALLEGED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDORA, April 18.—Alleging that the ballots were not counted legally, C. A. Hammond, who was defeated for Trustee at the municipal election held Monday, instituted proceedings today to compel the Board of Trustees to recount the ballots.

The grounds alleged for the contest were: First, that ballots were counted on which there was a name without any initial; second, ballots were counted on which the printed name of C. H. Hammond was scratched out and that of another was written in; third, that illegal ballots were counted.

The contest by agreement was set for hearing at 1:30 p.m. Monday, April 20.

The contest, it was agreed, will be limited to the four Trustees elected for the long term, namely: J. J. West, with 211 votes; G. B. Gordon, with 206 votes, and M. L. Killingsworth, with 146 votes. W. W. Wilson, for the short term, received 281 votes; H. J. Painter, for the long term, 129, and C. H. Hammond, 137 votes.

While there is some feeling developing between the friends of Killingsworth, whose seat on the Board of Trustees is really being contested, and Hammond, who instituted the proceedings, it is not believed that in the event of defeat in the final determination of the contest before the City Council that either party will appeal to the higher courts.

Sixty-third Congress.

ROW IS BEGUN OVER COLOMBIA.

Vigorous Criticism Voiced by Senator Perkins.

Declares the Treaty Will Never Be Ratified.

Simmons of South Carolina Says It's All Right.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Indications were manifest today that the treaty between Colombia and the United States, for adjustment of issues growing out of the separation of Panama from Colombia, would encounter opposition when submitted to the Senate for ratification.

Publication today of what purported to be the text of the treaty created much criticism of the convention. Secretary Bryan would not discuss the published text, and will withhold the official text until the original copies arrive from Bogota, about May 1. It will then be sent to the Senate for ratification.

Senator Perkins of California voiced vigorous criticism, expressing the belief the Senate would not ratify it.

"I do not believe," Mr. Perkins said, "that the Senate will ever agree to ratify this treaty, which makes the United States apologize to Colombia, provides for the payment of $25,000,000 and for free passage of Colombian war vessels through the Panama Canal. Colombia should apologize to the United States, and to pay Colombia $25,000,000 is just $25,000,000 too much."

Senator Simmons of North Carolina defends the treaty, and maintained before the Senate Canals Committee that its main provisions were substantially the same as contained in the treaty negotiated with Colombia by Senator Root when Secretary of State.

Mr. Simmons sought to introduce into the record of the Panama Canal tolls exemption hearing correspondence between Great Britain and the United States to grant tolls exemption to Colombian warships proposed in a treaty pending in 1909 which dealt with Colombia's rights in the canal. When Senator Bristow insisted introduction of parts of the correspondence was not wise, Senator Simmons withdrew it, but after a correspondence with Secretary Bryan made it public.

The correspondence disclosed that Great Britain was about to protest against exemption of Colombian warships as in contravention of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty granting equality to ships of all nations. After a considerable exchange of notes Great Britain announced she would forego making such a protest.

JO-JO ELUDES PAPER SERVER.

CO-RESPONDENT LEADS OFFICER A MERRY CHASE.

Person of Fantastic Court Alias Registers at Hotel, Then Drops from Sight—Will Surrender Himself for Service Monday, Says Anonymous 'Phone Message.

"Jo-Jo," the man of mystery who is named as co-respondent in the divorce suit filed last week by George S. Caruthers, No. 2349 West Twenty-ninth place, arrived in the city yesterday morning, registered at a downtown hotel, remained two hours, checked out and apparently disappeared into space, for the efforts of the husband, a deputy sheriff and two other men continued all day yesterday and last night did not locate him. It is said that he will surrender himself for service Monday.

Arriving on an early morning train, "Jo-Jo" proceeded to the hotel that he usually frequents when in town. He registered, received the mail that had been held for him at the hotel and went to his room looking, according to the hotel clerk, "as though he were about to be married."

Within a short time he came down, turned in his key and left the place, giving no forwarding address and telling no one where he was going.

Starting with this hotel, Deputy Sheriff Pritchard with a summons in his pocket, visited practically all of the larger hotels and cafes of the city yesterday without success. Later, Caruthers' attorney received an anonymous telephone call and was informed that "Jo-Jo" would surrender himself for service Monday.

An Indefatigable Author.

[Indianapolis News:] Mrs. Catherine Gore, who wrote seventy novels between 1824 and 1861, worked on a strange plan. When J. R. Planche visited Paris in 1837 he found Mrs. Gore living in the Place Vendome, writing novels, plays, articles for magazines—almost every description of literature flowing from her indefatigable pen. He says: "'How do you manage it?' I asked her. 'I receive, as you know, a few friends at dinner every evening. They leave me at 10 or 11, when I retire to my room and write till 7 or 8 in the morning. Then I go to bed till noon, when I breakfast, after which I drive out and pay visits, returning at 4 to dress for dinner. As soon as my friends have departed I go to work all night again.'"

Nomenclature of Dances.

[Indianapolis News:] Speculations on the correct spelling and pronunciation of tango as a dance recall the fact that there were similar doubts about the waltz, which, when introduced, just a century ago, was scolded in terms very similar to those now applied to the tango. Waltz has had many different spellings. Its first form was as "lavolta" in old Provence. Henry III of France was fond of a dance which was really a development of lavolta and an early form of the waltz. It was then called "volta." Castil Blaze remarks that "the waltz, which we took again from the Germans in 1795, had been a French dance for 400 years." When it went to Germany it acquired its usual name or "waltz," but it is still quite common to find it on programmes under the French form of valse.

NEW RECORD OF WIRELESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, April 18.—Wireless communication between Boston and a steamer off the coast of Japan, a distance of nearly 10,000 miles, has recently been established, breaking all wireless records of distance. Harry B. Cheetham, a wireless operator in the Marconi station on a local department store building, was sitting at his key the other night when he picked up a message with a signature of the Pacific Mail steamship Mongolia. He began exchanging message with the vessel and learned that she was 200 miles east of Nagasaki.

LAST CALL FOR WAR VETERAN.

CAVALRY OFFICER PASSES AT AGE OF EIGHTY.

Col. Jenkins Follows Wife to Grave After Brief Period—Led Regiment in Three Campaigns and Served as Department Commander of the G.A.R.

Six weeks after the death of his wife, Col. William Samson Jenkins, a veteran of the Civil War, died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Gustave Junghaus, No. 2121 West Thirty-first street, early yesterday morning. He was 80 years of age.

Funeral services will be held at the Junghaus residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Col. Jenkins, a native of Zanesville, O., became a captain in the Seventh Kansas Cavalry September 5, 1861, commanding Troop C. On May 27, 1863, he was promoted to major, and on March 21 of the following year to lieutenant-colonel. As such he was for a long time in command of the regiment, which saw service in the Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee campaigns. He was seriously wounded in the battle at Ripley, Miss., while leading the skirmish line.

In 1869 Col. Jenkins was elected department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in the Middle West, resigning the position when he removed to Washington in 1875.

Col. Jenkins's wife, whose death preceded his so shortly, was formerly Miss Laura Gertrude Weibling. They married in St. Louis, November 19, 1862. They leave two daughters, Mrs. Junghaus and Mrs. Clara Florey of Hanford.

No Wonder She Cried.

"Insulted!" exclaimed Harry, love. "By whom?"

"B-by your mother," answered the young wife, bursting into tears.

"My mother, Flora? Nonsense! She's miles away on a visit to poor Tom."

Flora dried her tears.

"I'll tell you all about it, Harry, love," she said. "A letter came to you this morning addressed in your mother's handwriting, so, of course, I—I opened it."

"Of course," repeated Harry dryly.

"It—it was written to you all the way through. Do you understand?"

"I understand. But where does the insult come in?"

"It—it came in the p-p-postscript," cried the wife bursting into fresh floods of briny. "It said: 'P-P-P.S.—D-dear Flora, d-don't fail to give this l-letter to Harry. I w-want him to h-have it.'"

"Seven Come Eleven."

[Indianapolis News.] The officers of the Juvenile Court are not surprised at finding anything from a fishhook to a jacknife or a broken revolver in the pockets of the boys who are brought into court. But the other day, even with all their past experience in "boys' pocket fillings," they were astonished.

Out of a small boy's pocket were taken a candle and dice. It is not so very extraordinary to find either a candle or a dice in a boy's pocket, according to the Juvenile Court officers. But the combination of a candle and dice, on the other hand, presents a problem. Learned in the ways of boys, one of the probation officers guessed that the boy had been "shooting craps" in alleys at night by candle light. The boy admitted that the guess was right.

Although respect for the dead will not be lacking, Abbot Kinney, who introduced the ordinance, believes that sorrow is sacred to the homes and should not be publicly displayed.

PAVING PETITIONS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN PEDRO, April 18.—Petitions are in circulation today asking for the paving of Second street from the water front to the city limits. Last night property owners on the street held a meeting at the office of John J. Goldsworthy, Consulting Engineer, of the San Pedro Improvement Association, and decided upon grades and specifications.

This is one of the most decisive actions in the history of the town for the reason that the grades agreed upon will cut Nob Hill in two parts and make a fill through Happy Valley that will be sixteen feet deep at the lowest point. The grade will not be less than 3 per cent. and will afford a direct connection between the water front and both the Pacific avenue and Western avenue boulevards.

BOUND OVER.

Joe Francis and Leo Gregory, the Wilmington boys who are charged with stealing the automobile of Louie White, a Wilmington saloonkeeper, a week ago and wrecking it while on a joy-ride, will have to answer to the Superior Court. They were bound over today in $3000 bonds, which they were unable to furnish. It is charged that the boys, who have been in trouble before, took the machine while intoxicated and started on a wild ride along the harbor boulevard that ended when the machine struck a gum tree. Gregory was severely injured, but Francis escaped with a few cuts and bruises.

Garcia has confessed that he loosed the animal from a hitching rack on Gordon street and rode it throughout the night, finally taking it to his home. The horse broke away and went to its home on the Newton ranch. Garcia claims that he was drunk when he took the animal and that he rode to Chino, where his sweetheart lives. He is out of jail now under $1000 bail.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, April 18.—The damage suit of Mrs. Lulu Steiner of Kramer against John Blake for damages of $20,000, will come to trial Tuesday. The case grows out of the killing of J. C. Steiner, the woman's husband, over a year ago, by Blake, whose bullet was intended for Steiner's father-in-law, J. W. Young, the Santa Fe agent at Kramer, where Blake was postmaster.

Blake is a pioneer of the desert and well known all over the Southwest. He is a veteran of the Sepoy rebellion in India, and is yet hale and hearty in spite of his 80 years. Blake was twice tried for the murder of Steiner, but the jury failed to agree in both instances.

MEXICAN LEPERS.

An entire Mexican family of seven persons afflicted with leprosy has been discovered near here by the health authorities and they are now in seclusion at the county pesthouse, steps having in the meantime been taken by Immigration Inspector Blee and County Health Officer P. M. Savage to have the government deport the entire family to Mexico, they having been in this country but six months.

A woman is in the advanced stages of the disease, in spite of the fact that she has a 2-months-old child. The finding of repeated cases of leprosy among the Mexicans in this county will probably lead to determined steps being taken to stamp the disease out.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, April 18.—Grave charges of irregularities in counting the ballots in the recent municipal election are expected to be made at the meeting of the Board of Trustees Monday evening. At that time the board will officially canvass the returns and Franklin P. Wilson, who was defeated for membership on the board by J. S. Thompson, incumbent, by a margin of six votes, will present evidence to back up his assertion that he should have been returned victor.

"I will say nothing now," Wilson said yesterday, "and if the board disregards my evidence I am prepared and shall lay the case before the District Attorney."

Long Beach.

ONE OR OTHER MUST RESIGN.

Valuable Frontage Offered City Along Ocean.

Additional Counsel Selected to Defend Suits.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, April 18.—Reiterating his charges of yesterday that the Police Department has been notoriously lax in uncovering blind pigs and gambling dens, Mayor Wealton today declared that either he or Chief of Police Austin must resign from the city service and that in the event Chief Austin resigns, his chief of detectives, Robert O'Rourke, must also go.

Chief Austin stated that he will now insist that charges be preferred against him and that he will not let the matter rest as it is with no opportunity to prove himself innocent. He again insists, as does O'Rourke, that he is not guilty of accepting a bribe from P. M. Reedy. There were no more arrests today as a result of the issuance of warrants for twelve alleged blind-pig operators. The Mayor explained this by saying that it was because Assistant City Attorney Swaffield was absent from the city that no more druggists or tobacconists were haled before the court charged with selling liquor illicitly.

John E. Daly, who had been retained by the proprietors of the Riviera drug store, appeared before Judge Hart and withdrew a plea of not guilty for S. J. Spaulding, a clerk at the store, on the charge of selling liquor contrary to ordinance. Daly interposed a demurrer, which will be heard Monday morning.

Another meeting of the Police Commission was held this afternoon, at which further plans for the prosecution of the clean-up campaign started so sensationally were talked over.

OFFERS CITY PROPERTY.

Reminding the city officials that Long Beach does not own a foot of ocean frontage and that the opportunity to acquire frontage should not be lost, C. R. Drake, for the Long Beach Bath House and Amusement Company, offered the city the property of the company for $700,000. Drake offered to take the bonds of the city as part or whole of the purchase money.

This is a renewal of the company's offer to sell to the city. The matter was referred to the Inspection Committee. It is understood that the company is on a sound basis and is paying dividends. Three more pier projects are to be pushed to completion before the summer ends.

BEACH BRIEFS.

Byron C. Hanna, Walter F. Haas and Harry C. Dunnigan were retained as special counsel in the Empire Day damage suits by the City Council. They are to receive a retainer of $500 and a per diem of $75 each for their work. It is understood that Assistant City Attorney Swaffield has agreed to this employment of special counsel.

More than $200,000 in damage claims on account of the collapse of the auditorium approach were rejected by the City Council in session last night. This brings the total up to $2,111,360. It is expected that another million in claims will roll in before May 24, when the statute of limitations will operate to bar further suits.

A meeting to further the candidacy of Charles Hamilton for the City Council was held tonight at the Forum. An effort was made by the Lynn Parmley forces, it is stated, to get Hamilton to give up the Forum tonight so that they could answer some of the charges of Mayor Whealton made last night, but Hamilton refused.

REDLANDS' ROSE SHOW.

Horticultural Improvement Society Produces Excellent Results in Annual Event—Dances Are Features.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, April 18.—The spring rose show of the Redlands Horticultural and Improvement Society eclipsed all happenings of this week end. It was held at the Contemporary clubhouse and was the most beautiful in the history of the society. Twenty classes were arranged and many of the prizes were won by flowers from the gardens of wealthy residents.

Two society girls, Miss Lois Lehman and Miss Amy Morrison, took the special prize for the best decorated table, their design being in sweet peas of pastel shades. The Lincoln school won with a magnificent collection of roses the first prize in the school exhibits. Kingsbury and Lowell school were also winners.

Other winners were Mrs. A. Hornby, Mrs. J. W. Davis, Miss Davis, Mrs. Kimberley, Mrs. Eldridge Lyons, Dr. Mary Sroiz, Miss Mary Hamilton, Miss Amy Morrison, Mrs. Thomas Sanborn and many others.

Friday evening dinner was served at the clubhouse to large parties of guests. At a beautifully decorated table Mrs. M. P. Moll entertained the twelve young women who later took part in the flower dances which were the evening's feature.

Other hostesses were as follows: Mrs. J. A. Kimberley, fifteen guests; Mrs. John W. Davis, fourteen guests; Mrs. George W. Wilder, eleven guests; Mrs. A. Hornby, ten guests; Mrs. M. P. Moll, twelve guests; Mrs. Winifred Roberts, eight guests; Mrs. Bush, eight guests; Mrs. Grigsby, four guests; Mrs. Belle Jewett, five guests; Mrs. W. N. Moore, five guests, and many others.

The flower dances arranged by Miss Janet Moore were danced Friday evening at 8 o'clock and Saturday afternoon at 4. Miss Moore herself danced a beautiful poppy dance. The "dance of the roses" was by the Misses Ruth and Martha Moll, Fern and Jessie Dow, Doreen Lyon, Helen Graham, Maud Slater, Alice Wells, Charlotte Riddeland, Madeline Wynne. Miss Margaret Lyon danced beautifully the "Coppelia" dance. Miss Dorothy Davis accompanied.

Would-Be Bride of Twelve Restrained from Marriage by Law. Deadly Infectuous Disease Kills Boy.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, April 18.—Save for the interference of the authorities, Suzanna Ruiz, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ruiz of East Park street, would today be the bride of R. Lopez, aged 24.

When Lopez applied last night to Deputy County Clerk Mitchell for a marriage license he was unable to give the name of his prospective bride but swore that she was 16 years of age. Mitchell informed Lopez that both the name of the girl and the consent of her parents were necessary to the issuing of a license, and the two set out in quest of the data.

Meantime, however, word was received by Truant Officer Axley that the would-be bride had but twelve summers to her credit and upon instructions from Judge J. R. Pollock the child and her mother were hailed into court.

When the officer went after the girl members of Lopez's family scented trouble and hid her in the house, but she was finally found. Before the judge both mother and daughter admitted that the girl was only 12 years of age. Mrs. Ruiz is the mother of seven daughters and was anxious that Suzanna should marry. She herself married at the age of 15 in Mexico. The laws of California fix the minimum marriage age at 16 years for girls.

FLAGS HALF-MAST.

Because of the belief expressed by attending physicians and city health authorities that Roger Smith, 9-year-old son of Glenn D. Smith, president of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, who died yesterday noon after an illness of less than a day, was the victim of a deadly and infectuous disease, the funeral was held this evening from Draper's funeral chapel and was private.

A memorial service is to be held next week at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, the date of which has not been fixed. The death of the boy has shocked the whole city and flags throughout the city are at half-mast today. Roger was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Smith who are prostrated by his death.

RAID ON LOTTERY JOINT.

A variegated assortment of Chinese, Japanese and white men was gathered in late last night in a raid on a lottery den at No. 518 North Los Angeles street. The manager, Looee Sing, and twenty-one visitors were arrested. To effect an entrance the main door had to be battered down. While a wild scurrying attempt was made by the visitors to get away through a side exit, and the proprietor and his assistants tried to hide tickets, ink pot and other paraphernalia, the police entered.

Do You Suspect Your Kidneys?

If So, Warner's Should Be Taken at Once.

Pains in the back are not the only symptoms of kidney trouble. A much more frequent indication is general weakness—while other common symptoms are furred tongue, distate for food, headache and general depression of spirits. When the kidneys fail in their work, from inflammation or Bright's disease, the impurities inevitably return to the blood and that is the beginning of impaired digestion and failing health, with nervous irritability and a dropsical condition. For thirty-seven years Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has been restoring health to sufferers in all stages of kidney complaint, and here's another man who appreciates the immense amount of good it has accomplished in his case: "About seven years ago I was so weak and worn out that I could hardly work. After trying other things without relief, I tried Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy. In a short time the pain left me, my urine cleared up and the rheumatism and dyspepsia vanished. We have used Warner's ever since with great success in our family."—O. F. Rose, Burtonville, Ky. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is sold everywhere by druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes. Don't put it off until tomorrow; get it today. Write for free sample and other valuable information to Warner's Safe Remedies Company Dept. 205, Rochester, N. Y.

BLAMES FAST LIVING.

Former Wealthy Man of Affairs Now in City Jail and in Check Trouble.

A year ago a wealthy man of affairs, today a prisoner in the City Jail facing a charge of forgery, W. H. Keith ascribes his downfall to what he calls "fast living."

He was arrested early last evening by Detectives Beaumont and King at the Angelus Hotel after having attempted to pass a forged check indorsed with the signature of Mrs. Annie E. Stimson. Keith, after much evasion, finally admitted his need of funds and his attempt to get money by the check method. According to the detectives, he says he has been "hitting the pace."

According to the detectives, Keith sent a messenger boy from the lobby of the Hotel Angelus to one of the branches of the Walter E. Smith Grocery Company. The check was made out to W. A. Chambers, signed by F. C. French, indorsed to Mrs. Annie E. Stimson, and signed by her.

Keith says he has been here three weeks from New York. With him in an apartment on South Figueroa street was a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Reeder. She was not arrested.

NEW OIL MARKETER.

Filing of Incorporation Papers for Royal Dutch-Shell Pipe Line Arouses Interest Here.

Marked interest was aroused in local oil circles yesterday by the news that the Royal Dutch-Shell combine is making definite arrangements for the construction of its pipe line. Incorporation papers for a $10,000,000 corporation, known as the Valley Pipe Line Company, have just been filed at Sacramento.

It has been known for some time that the agents of the company have been making surveys as to the best route for the pipe line, but exactly which will be determined on is not known yet. It is likely, however, that the line will have its terminus at San Francisco Bay, and will start in Midway field and follow along the general route of the Associated Oil Company's pipe line.

The construction of the Royal Dutch-Shell pipe line will mean a new marketer in the field for oil, and it is said that the European combine already has a quantity tied up for future delivery, beside the production on its own properties in Coalinga field.

The combine purchased the properties of the California Oilfields Ltd. and the W. K. property last year.

SURGEON'S FUNERAL.

Body of Veteran of Two Wars Cremated Following Impressive Services at Residence.

Impressive services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of the late Dr. Charles B. Nichols, at the family home, No. 1006 Park View avenue, by Rev. W. D. Landis of the Presbyterian Church, who spoke feelingly of the life and character of the deceased. Following the services the remains were cremated and the ashes will be sent to his old home in New Hampshire.

Dr. Nichols was born in Franklin, N. H., and was a veteran in two wars. He served over three years in the Civil War as a surgeon, and made an enviable record. When the Spanish-American War broke out in 1898 he was stationed at Ft. Wingate, N. M., and shortly afterward was ordered with his regiment to the Philippines, where he was stationed for five years. To him largely fell the duty of cleaning up Luzon and he was successful in ridding the island of disease and pestilence and making the place habitable for Americans.

After retiring from the army eleven years ago, Dr. Nichols made his home in this city, where he was known and loved by a large circle of friends. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Linnie B. Nichols.

The pallbearers were Dr. H. LeMoyne Wills, Dr. John W. Trueworthy, Dr. B. F. Church of Redlands, Weightman Smith, Dr. W. S. Johnson, Niles Pease, Dr. Cook and Dr. Charles Browning.

MRS. MASSON,

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

Domestic Plunderers.

TALK ECONOMY, POCKET CASH.

Congressmen Collect Coin as "Perquisites."

A Half-Million Dollars as Legal Graft.

Goes for Clerk Hire and Extra Mileage.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—[Special to Philadelphia Record:] While party leaders are filling pages of the Congressional Record with economy appeals for home consumption, Congress is expending more than $500,000 annually in legalized graft perquisites of the membership. Part of this is carefully hidden away in lump sum appropriations, and part is not easily separated from necessary expenditures.

The most easily traced of these abuses are four in number, and the "legitimate" graft hung on them mounts up into hundreds of thousands of dollars in the House of Representatives alone. Persistent efforts, though weak, to reform these practices have proven futile. These four are:

The mileage privilege, which, under the old apportionment, last year amounted to $169,500, paid members of the House and Senate above what these same members allow others for similar expenses.

The "clerk-hire" privilege, by which each member is paid $1500 a year for clerk hire, permitted to draw the money himself and pocket the difference between what he pays a clerk and stenographer and the amount he receives.

The telegraph frank, supposed to be used only for official business, but which cost Uncle Sam $6491.34 for telegrams charged by members of the House alone between March 4 and June 30, 1913.

The stationery allowance, which was intended to permit each member of the House to charge up to $125 worth of stationery annually, but has been so used that the member draws his $125 and pockets it in advance, spending whatever is absolutely necessary from his pocket later.

VOTE MONEY TO THEMSELVES.

Except in the case of the mileage, it is next to impossible to establish the amount of unnecessary expenditure in connection with these "perquisites." And the only means of establishing the fact that members pay themselves just four times as much mileage as they permit the government to pay for anyone else is through their own confession. What this amounts to can be figured up individually.

A member of Congress votes himself 20 cents a mile each way to each session of Congress. The authorization for the present payment was made in 1866, and no legislation since that time has taken cognizance of the decreased cost of transportation.

Under the old apportionment the total mileage each session for the House in the Sixty-second Congress amounted to $175,000. That of the Senate was $51,000. This represented 20 cents a mile each way for each member. Five cents is the allowance Congress makes for witnesses or employees traveling at government expense.

When the mileage item in the Sundry Civil Bill was under discussion last winter, Representative Cox of Indiana sought to substitute a provision calling for a mileage allowance of 5 cents, or for actual expenses.

DODGE VOTE ON QUESTION.

"It will not be contended for any member of the House for a moment," he declared, "that it costs him 20 cents a mile each way to travel from his home to the city of Washington. There isn't a member of the House who cannot travel from his home to Washington city for 5 cents a mile or less."

Although there were more than 200 members of the House listening to the debate, when the vote came only fifty-eight members were in evidence, the remainder having escaped into the cloakrooms to avoid voting. Representative Cox's amendment was lost by a vote of 21 to 37, with no roll call.

Those who have the figures showing how much each member of the House gets in this legitimatized graft throw up their hands in holy horror when asked to make public the figures. Although this is public money, appropriated by law from the Federal treasury and paid to public men on the recommendation of a regularly-constituted legislative committee, the figures themselves are not for public consumption.

Warren Worth Bailey, a Bryan Democrat, of Johnstown, Pa., is chairman of the Mileage Committee of the House. He was asked to give the individual figures.

ALL DECLINE THE FIGURES.

"I have not the authority," he replied. "Get them from the Speaker or the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, who pays the mileage allowances. We have given him the figures."

"I have nothing to do with it," said Speaker Clark. "Either Mr. Bailey or the Sergeant-at-Arms can give out the information if they care to."

"Well, I am an administrative officer," said the Sergeant-at-Arms. "I have no authority for giving out such information. You must get it from Mr. Bailey."

The same secrecy surrounds the telegraph account. Upon this there is no limit. A member of Congress may send and charge to the United States any message which he chooses to construe as public business. Aside from the fact that it is next to impossible to define where private political business merges into public business, the privilege is abused by members sending purely personal telegrams, carefully disguised to bring them within the extremely shadowy legal definition.

When the telegraph companies turn in their bills the accounts are audited by the Sergeant-at-Arms, who is supposed to throw out any messages which he does not believe to be public. The Sergeant-at-Arms is elected by the House majority, a creature of the membership of the House. He decides whether the accounts of his superiors shall be approved. Virtually the same practice prevails in the Senate.

The account finally is approved and paid by the Committee on Accounts of the House. Representative Lloyd of Missouri, chairman of this committee, himself recognizes the abuse, and has introduced a resolution restricting each member to a telegraph account of $40 a year. This was introduced in December, and nothing further heard of it. Of course, Chairman Lloyd refuses to give any details of this public business. He will not say how much any member spends.

He recently made a compilation, however, from which it is found that between March 4 and June 30, House members sent 13,092 telegrams as public business, at a cost of $6491.34. Sixteen members, among them Chairman Lloyd, Minority Leader Mann, Representative Sereno Payne and Majority Leader Underwood, sent no telegrams except in the cases of Payne and Underwood, whose telegrams concerned the appearance of witnesses before the Ways and Means Committee during the tariff hearings.

One hundred and forty-nine members spent less than $5 of government money for telegrams; 144 spent more than $5 and less than $13.50; ninety-six spent more than $13.50 and less than $40; twenty spent more than $40 and less than $100; ten members charged more than $100 worth of telegrams in less than four months and one member's bill for that period amounted to $212.88. Chairman Lloyd refused positively to divulge further information.

PUT CLERKS' PAY IN POCKETS.

On this basis, the average yearly expenditure for telegrams per House member is $44.76. The Senate figures are not available.

Members of the House as a rule make no pretense of paying out for clerk hire all they receive for that purpose. The money is paid on vouchers from the Clerk of the House, who sends in, along with the salary check each month, a check for $125, made payable to the member. The average member does not expend one-half of this amount for clerk hire, and most of those who spend the full amount or more do so because their private political affairs require the extra help.

The clerks so employed are not on the pay roll of the House and have no official rating. Repeated attempts have been made to have the clerks employed by members placed on the House pay roll and paid direct, but such attempts are no more popular than efforts to reduce the mileage allowance.

These perquisites do not include the House and Senate patronage prerogatives. In the House this amounts to between $1100 and $1200 for each member, distributed among something less than 200 jobs. As some of the jobs pay as high as $5000 and others range down to $1000 a year, each member cannot have an entire job as his patronage. Therefore, he takes his $1100 of government money to be paid out to an employee, and if he doesn't put his own candidate in he trades with another member, binding the latter to the support of a measure or movement in return for his share of the patronage pie.

Needless to say, while many of the political appointees under this system are efficient, many others are entirely useless and still more are paid comparatively large salaries for work ordinarily performed by half-grown boys.

In the matter of patronage, however, the Democrats have instituted several real reforms, and the operations of the system have been restricted somewhat by the abolishment of a number of useless jobs created under the Republican regime. Nothing except the extension of the civil service to Capitol jobs can affect the system itself, and this, at present, appears as far away as the millennium.

MEN WITH CAMERA EYE.

A Detective Who Could Remember Faces and Circumstances Though They Were Many Years Distant.

[Chicago Inter Ocean:] Most of us frequently experience more or less embarrassment from the inability to associate faces with names. Our memories of the face and the name are stored, as it were, in separate mental compartments, and we cannot quickly bring them together. In Andrew Irle's brain they seemed to be stored in the same compartment and always, apparently, came out together.

Many public men have owed much of their popularity to their ability at once to call a man by name when they see his face. The average man is pleased to be thus instantly and accurately remembered. The late James G. Blaine was a notable example of this faculty. Andrew Irle's went much further. His eyes, like the photographic camera, seemed to record all details of appearance, and his brain put under the same index all things seen or heard about any person in whom his business interested him.

He seemed to have for men whom he had met what may be called a "complete" memory. When he saw the face again, or a picture of it, he recalled at once the name, the time and the place where seen before, the circumstances, and the companions. Scores of stories are told about his wonderful identifying memory, out of which one must suffice here.

One day there came into the Pinkerton agency, with which Irle was connected, a photograph from the police of Portland, Or., of a man under arrest in connection with a bank robbery. The direct evidence against him was not strong, and he was not at all known as a criminal to the Pacific Coast police. As soon as Irle saw the picture he declared it to be that of a man arrested and convicted for a similar offense at Binghamton, N. Y., about ten years before, giving the exact date, circumstances, and the names of accomplices. And so it was.

On his release from prison, after about four years, the convict had either turned to honest ways or at least had kept out of sight of the police. He had simply disappeared from his old haunts in the East. Either he had failed to make a success of honest industry or had thought it safe, in a distant part of the country, and after a lapse of nearly ten years, to resume a criminal career.

Mr. Irle had the same complete memory for handwriting. Only a few weeks ago he was shown a portion of a letter. He at once named the writer, though more than ten years had passed since he had last seen any writing by the same hand, and then only a short note. By Andrew Irle's death society has lost a member whose special faculties and peculiar powers made him remarkably useful and efficient in its protection against its predatory elements.

Pay of Paris Policeman.

[New York Sun:] The Paris police, some of whose members have fallen into disgrace, are poorly paid. The maximum salary attainable by a "sergent de ville" is $360 a year. In view of the high cost of living in Paris, this amount is inadequate to maintain a family in any degree of comfort, and the married members of the force have frequently to supplement their incomes as best they can. Some of them earn a few francs by working as market porters during their time off duty. Others do boot repairing, and there is one who does odd tailoring jobs.

Still, in spite of these hardships, there are always plenty of men eager to join the force, about ten candidates being available for every vacancy that occurs.

Holy City.

MOSCOW CITY IS MAGNIFICENT.

CONTAINS MOST BEAUTIFUL RESTAURANT IN WORLD.

An American Negro Conducts One of the Amusement Palaces—The City Contains Few Nobles but Has a Rapidly-Growing Middle Class of Moderate Wealth.

[Correspondence Cleveland Plain Dealer:] No city in Europe has made such rapid strides during the last six or seven years as Moscow. From a "Holy City" of comparatively little commercial importance, as far as the other countries of Europe were concerned, it has developed since the revolution of 1906 into one of the leading commercial cities of the world. Today its population is close to 2,000,000, only 200,000 less than St. Petersburg. And it is growing so much faster than the capital that in five or six years it will be the largest city in Russia.

Even today, it is by far the wealthiest city in the empire. It boasts of a score of multimillionaires—all merchant princes—who have amassed the bulk of their wealth in the last few years. Among its population are dozens of millionaire oil and mining men and their number is being constantly increased by the tremendous development in the mining and oil fields of Southwestern Russia.

But what is even more important in the development of the city, a constantly growing middle class has made its appearance. In St. Petersburg the middle class is of comparatively little importance. The life of the capital is in the hands of the aristocrats—the government officials, the army and navy officers and the nobility aave the bulk of the wealth. In Moscow, however, there are comparatively few nobles. It is a city of merchants and the great commercial development in Russia since the revolution has added tremendously to their wealth and importance.

This growth has manifested itself in many ways. External evidences of it are to be found in the new buildings which are to be seen on every side. One of the new buildings, for instance, is the so-called Great Arcade, a mammoth structure, which actually dwarfs our biggest arcade in Cleveland (the biggest in America.) The Great Arcade in Moscow, which is less than three years old, contains, nine great glass-covered arcades, in which are 1500 shops, exclusive of offices. Each arcade is 1500 feet long and there are five arcades which intersect them the size of the Colonial or Taylor arcades. The great building is an architectural marvel and occupies one of the best locations in the city, directly opposite St. Basil's Church, and the Kremlin. Modern office buildings and apartment-houses have sprung up all over the city and there is hardly a block in which building operations are not being carried on.

While there are no department stores in Moscow there are specialty stores which are the largest and finest in the world. One fur store, for instance, has not only the largest stock, but the most costly furs to be found anywhere. There is one bread and cake shop which has forty delivery wagons. It sells nothing but bread and cake. And perhaps the finest fruit and delicatessen store in the world is to be found here. Its appointments are worthy of a grand duke's palace. All these stores have found new quarters since 1906.

Without question the most beautiful restaurant in the world is here in Moscow. It is the Establishment Yard—less than two years old. It is a veritable palace in which 2000 people can dine at the same time. For richness of design, for cuisine, appointments, and for variety in wines and menu, it is without a peer. Moscow also boasts of other restaurants and places of amusement which remain open later—or earlier, if you choose—than any other city in Europe. One of the amusement palaces is owned and operated by an American negro—a Mr. Thomas, who came to Russia as a valet to a grand duke. Mr. Thomas occupies an important position in Moscow life. His amusement place—it was a real palace before he transformed it into a restaurant—boasts of an Indian-room with a Hindu orchestra, a music-hall, which runs from 11 o'clock p.m. to 5 o'clock a.m.; a cabaret-room, which opens at 2:30 o'clock a.m., and a champagne tango salon, which is at its gayest from 1 o'clock a.m. to 4 o'clock p.m. He has cooks from the Caucasus as well as French chefs, and he speaks six languages!

But, of course, such places as the Yard and Mrs. Thomas's are only for the very well to do. However, they speak volumes for the wealth and prosperity of Moscow. A poor city could not support even one of the dozen big all night restaurants such as Moscow boasts of. And there is one cafe here which is open only from 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock a.m., where people go to eat caviare, smoke salmon and drink champagne before going to bed!

There is one institution here, however, which is a real index of the educational progress of the city. It is the Moscow Art Theater, which vies with the Deutsches Theater for the honor of being the leading playhouse on the continent. For realistic acting it is the first theater in Europe. Only "highbrow" plays are given—Ibsen's, Strindberg's, Tolstoy's, Maeterlinck's, etc. Or course, there are two Imperial theaters here—an operahouse and a small theater for dramas, but in addition there are two privately-owned theaters in which grand opera is given nightly throughout the season, which is seven or eight months; two theaters in which only Russian dramas are presented, and a big playhouse where Viennese operettas are the nightly bill of fare. Thus it will be seen that Moscow has three grand operas every night—something that no American city can boast of—in addition to several other first-class playhouses. And it possesses one theater that is absolutely unique—"Die Fledermaus"—where playlets begin at midnight and continue until 5 o'clock a.m. The company appearing here is soon to go to London for an engagement and the Art Theater company will tour Germany in the spring, following its usual custom.

Of course, sledges are still in use on the streets in winter, but there are 300 taxicabs and when a well-to-do citizen of Moscow can get a taxi he rarely takes a sledge. The streets are remarkably well lighted at night and the "corner cops" handle the traffic with as much skill as the traffic squad officers in a large American city.

Americans, when they think of Moscow, do not usually comprehend the fact that this city has twelve railway stations; that it has a street-car service second to none in Europe and a population almost as great as Chicago's. Moscow offers the best there is in the Russian empire.

VOTE SCHOOL BONDS OR PUT UP THE BARS.

Board of Education Asks for Means to Erect More Buildings—Growth of City Measured by Number of Pupils—High-Class Structures Contemplated in All Parts of the District.

A SCHOOL BOND election has been called for Thursday, May 14, at which time the Board of Education asks the people to approve an issue of $4,600,000.

Of all the problems that confront a growing community, it is safe to say the greatest is that of keeping the school facilities abreast with the cordon of children, who knock at the doors, demanding the education, which the laws of California declare they must have.

Los Angeles has courageously faced the situation for many years, only to find herself at the end of each year in a worse dilemma than she was the year before.

There are two ways of remedying the condition—give the school authorities sufficient money to build the schoolhouses, or send out word to peoples of the earth that Los Angeles has put up the bars and wishes to enjoy the God-given heritage of this land of the better life without further interruption.

HOW WE GROW.

That the population of the city and the school population grow along natural and systematic lines is conclusively shown by the figures of past years. For the sake of brevity in the comparison, let us take the periods of definite changes in population.

In 1900 the population of the city, according to the United States census, was 102,479; the school population was 20,497, almost exactly one in five.

In 1905, the local census made the population 201,000; the school population was 34,326, or a little less than one in six.

In 1910, the United States census fixed the population at 319,198; the school population was 52,054, or a little over one in six.

In 1913 the school population was 79,882. It would be fair to say that this was one-sixth of the population of the city at that time, which gives a total of 479,292 for that year, showing an average monthly growth of 4448 in the population of the city for thirty-six consecutive months.

In 1914 the city is growing at the rate of 5000 a month, which at the end of June will make the population 539,292, and the school population 89,882, following the ratio of increase for the previous three years.

In 1915, the same ratio of increase will produce the following figures on June 30: Population, 609,000; school population, 101,000.

If the school figures of past years mean anything, they mean that these figures for 1914 and 1915 are approximately correct, and it might be well to "paste them in your hat."

OTHER BOND ELECTIONS.

The last school bond election was held in 1911, when the people voted $1,720,000. Two years prior to that, in 1909, bonds were voted for the same purpose amounting to $700,000, and in both instances the money simply amounted to making provision for the children who were then unable to get into the schools, without looking forward to the natural increase in population.

The Board of Education is now asking for $3,000,000 for the elementary schools and $1,600,000 for High Schools, with the knowledge that when the money is spent the facilities will be fully as inadequate as they are today, unless the city stands still for twelve months, but they wish to be moderate in their request.

There are now attending school in 230 temporary bungalow houses, erected on the grounds of the various schools buildings, 10,000 children, and 2000 more are restricted to half-day sessions. These, with the estimated increase of 11,000 by June, 1915, make a total of 23,000, and it is freely admitted by the officials of the Board of Education that the best that can be done with the $4,600,000 asked for now will fall far short of providing for all these.

HOW MONEY TO BE USED.

The call for the bond election on May 14 specifies that the money is to be used for the purchase of new sites, erection of new buildings, repairs and additions to old buildings, and for equipment. Under the law none of these things can be done with the State funds or with funds raised by direct taxation, therefore the voting of bonds is absolutely imperative, and it is agreed that their defeat would be a calamity beyond estimate.

Said Deputy Superintendent Monlux yesterday:

"It requires about $5000 a room to erect school buildings, such as we build in Los Angeles, in addition to the land, and lack of bond money has made it necessary to resort to the temporary bungalows. It is a liberal estimate to say that the money now asked for will provide 350 rooms for the elementary schools and 150 rooms for high schools, and I fully realize that it will make no provision beyond the end of the fiscal year 1915.

"I understand it to be the purpose of the Board of Education to secure sites and erect new buildings for the elementary schools in a number of places where the demand has shown to be imperative; a high school on the First and Vermont site, the only one at present owned by the city, and high schools at Highland Park and in the southeast section, as well as additions and improvements to almost every present school building in the district.

"The larger close-in buildings will be of concrete and brick, and those in outlying districts will, probably be of the Wadsworth type—one-story buildings with cement exterior, all the rooms being as nearly as possible in the open air. The original Commercial High School on the hill, from which the Polytechnic High School resulted, was of this type.

"Larger plots of ground will be insisted upon in the new purchases, so that there may be ample playground room, and larger accommodations for the people of the neighborhood who wish to make use of the buildings and grounds, as provided under the law.

"Sloyd and cooking schools will be established in all the buildings possible, to obviate the necessity for boys and girls going long distances and paying car fare to secure the benefit of either of these vocational schools."

AN ILLUSTRATION.

As illustrating how it has been impossible to keep pace with the growth of the city, and the immense task before those who attempt it, Monlux said:

"In 1910 an eight-room building was erected at Normandie and Western avenues, and it was thought would be adequate to meet the requirements for many years in that section of the city, but since then two other buildings have been erected within a radius of fifteen or eighteen blocks—an eight-room building at Western avenue and Fifty-third street, and an eleven-room building at Western and Santa Barbara avenues. All are full and overflowing and seven temporary bungalows have been provided to relieve the congestion, and still there are some children attending half-day sessions at the Normandie-avenue school.

"This for one district alone, and the same condition exists in practically every suburb, particularly in Boyle Heights and in the northwest section toward Hollywood. The Ninth-street school, right in the heart of the city, has twenty-three rooms, all overflowing, and conducts some half-day sessions.

"Failure to vote the bonds asked would mean calamity to the schools, and I believe that it is only necessary for the people to know actual conditions. The expense to the taxpayer will be but 7½ cents on the hundred dollars the first year, and this will gradually decrease. Only 20 per cent. of property holders pay taxes on more than $1000, so you see it will cost 80 per cent. of them but 75 cents to give us this bond money and keep our schools a credit to the city."

The facts are so conclusive as demonstrating the need, that it is safe to predict the readiness of the voters of the city to meet the emergency and mainain the education supremacy of the first city of California. The Western Journal of Education placed Los Angeles on record for the fiscal year ending June, 1913, as having spent that year $2,500,000 more than San Francisco for education in addition to $876,000 spent for buildings the same year.

NORTON'S WEAK KNEES EXPOSED.

CANDIDATE TELLS ABOUT GOOD ROAD BONDS FLUKE.

Schwaebe Takes Supervisor to Task for Vacillation and for Change of Front in Bowing the Knee to Socialists and Laborites in Endeavor to Win Their Votes.

Lewis H. Schwaebe, candidate for Supervisor in the Second District, spoke at length last night before an enthusiastic gathering in Symphony Hall. He got a hearty reception.

Schwaebe briefly reviewed his qualifications for the position of Supervisor and dealt especially on the good roads question, showing that good substantial roads are an enduring asset to the community at large.

Supervisor Norton was taken to task for his vacillating stand on the good roads bonds which recently came up before the board.

Schwaebe said in part: "At a recent meeting of the different counties interested in building the Los Angeles-San Francisco highway, a decision was reached to issue bonds to meet this expense, and it was mutually agreed that Kern county should take over $500,000 worth of bonds, Los Angeles county $500,000, and that Tulare county would make proper arrangements to take care of its portion of the road. Norton acquiesced to this arrangement in the presence of the Board of Supervisors of Tulare county, Mr. Jastro, one of the Board of Supervisors of Kern county, the four other members of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, and Mr. Darlington, the State Highway Commissioner. Well, fellow citizens, matters were progressing too satisfactorily towards the beginning of a Los Angeles-San Francisco highway to please our self-styled defender of the public interests, and at the following meeting of the Board of Supervisors, when the purchase of the $500,000 worth of bonds representing the share of this county towards building the highway, was put to a vote, Mr. Norton saw fit to reform himself and cast his vote against this issue. An explanation of his inconsistent attitude in this matter was never made public, but it is surmised that at the eleventh hour the interests who are seeking to keep him in office against the popular demand of his recall, made it clear to him the road was not going where it would benefit their lands."

Schwaebe then cited an illustration of the inconsistency of Norton, his attitude toward the workingman as found in Norton's celebrated book, "Reminiscences of an Agitator."

Schwaebe quoted the following from to writing of Norton, who, he declared, is now bowing the knee and worshiping at the shrine of Socialism and union labor with the object of securing votes.

"Any one visiting our beach resorts or places of amusement on Sundays or holidays, or in fact on almost any day, would find it hard to believe that the people were being ground under the iron heel of oppression, as was so ingeniously, and, in some instances, so diabolically suggested by Socialist speakers in the recent campaign.

"The open disregard for the truth that is characteristic of far too many of the advocates of Socialist principles, on the platform or the soapbox, is an insult to the intelligence and common sense of the people they address.

"The truth is, that these men, if they actually realize the final outcome of the adoption of the doctrines they advocate, dare not show the same to the people in its true light; as a consequence, this movement resolves itself into a colossal confidence game to get into office."

Though a car may seem to "eat up gasoline," the fuel does not disappear from the float chamber of the carburetor at such an alarming rate as might be supposed. In fact, a car can run for quite a distance on the float chamber contents. This should be remembered in the event of a break in the fuel line, when repeated fillings of the float chamber will enable the driver to get home, with interruptions.

PRINCE AND PEOPLE.

Ruler of Monaco Puts People First and Revenue from Monte Carlo Relieves Them of Taxation.

[Minneapolis Journal:] Like many private persons, the Prince of Monaco is more respectable than his business. His capital is the biggest resort for public gambling in the world. He takes no part in it, and condemns play in others. Yet, from gambling, he gains a half-million of revenue, and commands leisure for his scientific pursuits.

Where does this leave him morally? In the position of a father who wins every comfort and some luxury for his family at the expense of outside indulgence which he forbids them and avoids himself. The Prince puts his people first. His half-million of revenue relieves them of taxation. Monte Carlo is beautifully kept and improved without cost to the inhabitants. No subject is permitted to enter the gambling casino.

Travelers and alien residents make up all the players. They lose more than they gain, as in other places. But that is the rule of the game, not the outright robbery often practised in more private houses. The profit is divided between concessionaires, government and people. The last are the only clear gainers. The managers of the bank in the various games get the inevitable percentage of profit, as they would in a private club or a tolerated game. They pay the government a high price, which the Prince turns over to his people. Without it, he would have to grind them with taxation.

It makes the Prince a gentleman of leisure, instead of a hard-worked monarch. He employs this to increase human knowledge. That is the way good and evil are mingled in this capricious world.

STEAM PLANT IS SUPERFLUOUS.

PUBLIC UTILITIES MANAGER MAKES RECOMMENDATION.

Would Sell City Property Because Private Companies Can Furnish All Electricity Needed—Longest Distributing Line to El Centro. Woman Sent to San Quentin.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, April 18.—Because of the unique place occupied by the municipal lighting and power plant of this city, private power corporations, no less than cities where municipal ownership prevails, will be keenly interested in the recommendation of Joseph H. Cox, general manager of Public Utilities, that the city dispose of its present steam plant.

The matter has yet to have the consideration of the Board of Public Utilities to which body the recommendation has been submitted.

As a matter of fact, the steam plant, which was installed in 1900, has been maintained of late for use in cases of emergency only owing to the favorable contracts the city has been able to secure from private companies for electrical energy. Contracts are now in force with the Southern California Edison Company and the Southern Sierras Power Company, and these will not expire until 1917. Renewal privileges assure the city of a reasonable power rate for many years to come; hence the recommendation for the abolishing of the steam plant.

SOURCES OF POWER.

In support of the proposal, the argument is advanced that nothing short of a calamity would ever call for the operation of the steam plant in view of the fact that the Edison company is serving the city from two sources—the 10,000-volt line in Mill Creek Canyon and the 30,000-volt line running out of the Long Beach plant. The Southern Sierras supply has two sources also, the Inyo county plant and the steam plant at San Bernardino.

It is also argued that the city's steam plant will not be up to the standard required of a generating plant at the time the present contracts expire three years hence.

General Manager Cox also believes that it would be to the interest of the city to dispose of all stock carried for house-wiring purposes to the electrical contractors who are willing to take over the material at invoice prices. The recommendation that the department discontinue the house-wiring branch of the business is based on the assumption that by so doing the private contractor would become the best new business solicitor that it would be possible for the city to obtain.

LONGEST POWER LINE.

Material for the construction of an extension to the transmission lines of the Southern Sierras Power Company which will give that company the distinction of having the longest distribution line in the world, is now on the ground, according to statements made by President LeLos Chappelle.

The extension for which this material was ordered will run from San Bernardino to El Centro, in the Imperial Valley. It is expected that the work on its construction will be completed within sixty days. The distance from the northern terminus of the company's transmission line at Winder, Nev., to El Centro is 586 miles.

WOMAN TO SAN QUENTIN.

Mrs. Mabel White, aged 25, is the first woman to be sentenced from this county to a term in State's prison. She was taken north today and will pass one year there for burglarizing the home of J. D. Funk of Beaumont.

The woman pleaded guilty to the charge in Judge Densmore's court, but sought to exonerate her husband who was also arrested for complicity in the crime. A week from today he will plead to the charge of receiving stolen goods. The couple were arrested in Santa Ana a few days ago, following the burglary.

LANDMARK EFFACED.

A well-known landmark was obliterated this morning with the wrecking of the big flume belonging to the Riverside Water Company, erected forty years ago across the Arroyo Tequesquite for the purpose of carrying the waters of the lower canal to the lower portion of the valley.

The structure becomes useless through the deeding of the canal to the city, which acquired a right to the old watercourse at the time the domestic system was purchased. The enlarging of the company's upper canal and the installation of certain pipe lines, has made it possible to obliterate from the landscape the unsightly ditch. The flume was 700 feet long and averaged forty feet in height.

London.

LONDON SUFFERS CROOK INVASION.

They Come from Colonies Instead of America.

Emigration Slackens Toward the Setting Sun.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, March 7.—American crooks now give London a wide berth. Supt. William McCarthy of the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard states that only on rare occasions does his department have to handle a case in which an American crook plays a part. When Frank Forest, McCarthy's predecessor at the head of the criminal investigation department, was serving his apprenticeship as a detective inspector, American crooks were so numerous that he was sent several times to America to study their habits on their native heath.

At present, however, London is suffering from an invasion of crooks from the colonies. Most of these come from Australia and South Africa, and they are of the type which resort to violence without hesitation. Many of them thrive by blackmailing wealthy colonials, who have taken up their residence in London. Some of these residents have pasts, the revelation of which would spell disaster and social oblivion, and the blackmailers who follow them from the colonies fatten on this knowledge.

In accounting for the disappearance from London of the American crook, Scotland Yard officials expressed the opinion that the skillful confidence man finds better openings on the continent, while his less artful colleague finds a safer outlet for his energies at home.

NOVEL COLONIST PLAN.

The tide of westward migration has slackened decidedly. Four steamships scheduled to sail within the next month have had their advertised departures cancelled. At this time last year it was impossible to get even a third-class berth on an English liner going to Canada without an order several weeks in advance.

The migration toward Australia continues, but diminished in comparison with last year. It is expected to increase soon, however, with the first trial of the government plan to assist English lads to places of apprenticeship among South Australian farmers. Under legislation passed last session the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Immigration is empowered to act as guardian of boys taking advantage of the plan, and ample safeguards have been placed about the interests of the boys as well as the rights of their employers.

The first party of boys for Australia will leave Liverpool late this month. This party will serve as an experiment, and if successful the plan will be carried out on a large scale. In the past Australia has complained that the adult Briton does not readily adjust himself to rural life in the Antipodes, and, becoming discontented, joins the already overfilled ranks of labor in the cities, leaving the problem of rural depopulation as acute as ever. It is believed that by the time their apprenticeship ends the boys will be quite willing to stay on the farms.

MORE HOTELS NEEDED.

Notwithstanding that London has spent $65,000,000 during the past ten years in building new hotels or improving old ones, largely for the accommodation of American visitors, the hotels are still overcrowded during the tourist season.

It is estimated that 100,000 Americans now pay visits of some length to London during each summer, whereas a few years ago the metropolis was declared to be only a stopping place for a day or so for tourists bound to the continent.

HEADS TROOPS IN IRELAND.

Gen. Sir Arthur Paget, who commands the troops in Ireland, at a dinner given him at the Corinthian Club, Dublin, told his audience what the exact feeling was in the army over the Ulster question. He had been assured, he said, that there was no intention on the part of the government to make use of troops in Ireland except "to maintain law and order." Speaking of Irish troops and the Ulster Volunteers, which are being organized to resist home rule, the general said:

"It is not thinkable, it is not possible for me to contemplate ever being asked to concentrate my men and to move against the forces in the north of Ireland.

"At the same time you must remember that in our lives we soldiers often have to do things that we do not like. When we have to deal with large bodies of men who understand the meaning of the word discipline it means that, however distasteful it may be to them, they will carry out any orders given to them by the King.

"And it may be—God forbid it should be—my lot to be ordered to the north. I should regret it. I have no doubt that many officers would regret it, but, if the order comes, that order must be obeyed."

This speech is taken as the reply of the official heads of the army to those who have suggested that many officers would refuse to obey orders to put down revolution in Ulster.

RADIUM'S PRESENT STATUS.

"It would be well if those who are experimenting with radium would be silent for the next couple of years, until they know where they are and can make some definite announcement," said Dr. Charles Ryall, chairman of the Medical Committee of the Cancer Hospital, at a recent meeting of the governors.

"Radium," he added, "has not come to supplant surgery in the treatment of cancer, but to aid it in fighting the disease. The properties of radium are comparatively little known, and we are therefore going through the experimental stage of radium treatment, endeavoring to fathom its effect on disease, especially cancer, estimate its dosage and classify what cases are suitable for treatment by it. That will mean some years of work, but we can wait with confidence for a definite pronouncement, as the radium research work in the country is being carried out systematically and is in the best of hands."

Dr. Ryall said there was enormous field for research work at the Cancer Hospital, but it was hampered by the inadequate supply of radium and its enormous cost.

The British navy is being handicapped by inability to keep up a continuous and adequate supply of oil fuel. This is said in naval circles to be the real cause of the decision not to hold any grand maneuvers this summer and for the cancellation of the review of the fleet which the King had intended to hold at Spithead. Every effort is being made to husband the supply of oil at the supply stations and to use it only in such ships as burn oil exclusively. The destroyers have been kept in harbor since they arrived at Christmas.

"ELECTRICAL TRESPASS."

The view of a county court judge that the action of money lenders in ringing up a debtor at his employer's office constitutes "electrical trespass" is indorsed by the Law Journal, which states: "To ring the telephone at another's house in order to put pressure on some person employed there is not only a most offensive thing to do, but is an insufferable trespass, for which no doubt substantial damages could be recovered by the owner."

Seaweed as Food.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat:] Seaweed is eaten as food in Scotland.

At this time of the year laver is in season among the Scottish fisher folk.

Laver is an edible seaweed. It is easily prepared for food. It is first dried and pounded. Then it is stewed with salt, pepper and vinegar. Onions or leeks are frequently added to this dish of laver, which has a flavor all of its own and much liked by the fishermen.

In Ireland a similar seaweed is called "sloke." It is frequently boiled with milk into a sort of salty blancmange, or custard. Another way to prepare sloke is to roll it quickly backwards and forwards several times around a heated poker. Grilled in this primitive fashion, it is said to be quite toothsome.

"Dulse" is the local name for still another species of edible seaweed that is mixed with barley meal and made into bread in the western highlands of Scotland.

In Wales, a fourth kind of seaweed is first dried and pounded and then mixed with ordinary flour. Then it is made into small flat cakes, called "sowle bread," and fried. It is said to be nutritious and has the value of economy.

FACT AND COMMENT.

[illegible] is Clean-up Week in Los Angeles. Beginning tomorrow, it is to be earnestly hoped that the aspect of neglect characterizing so many places in this city will begin to [illegible] before a determined onslaught of public-spirited citizens wielding various implements of the warfare on dirt, rubbish and general untidiness. The thing has been talked of long enough to insure that everyone has at least heard of the popular movement to brush up the town. Here's hoping that each and every individual who has sufficient civic pride to respond to the suggestion will be an inspiration for some one else. If only the idea could get firm lodgement in the minds of all who are directly and indirectly responsible for the conditions that brought about the Clean-up Week idea, Los Angeles would, indeed, be a spotless town in short order.

The Fact and Comment man has been urging people to clean up their vacant lots and their neglected improvements for years. The city has been urged more than once in these columns to take drastic action toward enforcing those laws on the statute books that have to do with the weed nuisance. The writer has appealed to the public, as well as to the practical sense of individuals on the same score, pointing out time and again the advisability of maintaining property in respectable condition. The idea of a general move in this direction, a pulling together to wipe out some of the disgraceful conditions prevailing here, is a most excellent one. It bids fair also to bear considerable fruit.

Every week should be a Clean-up Week in Los Angeles, until no citizen showing a visitor around any portion of the city would or could have any occasion to blush for the civic indifference of his fellow townsmen. The movement should not let up until every weed-choked vacant lot had been cleared up, every crumbling dirt embankment terraced, every bit of loose rubbish burned or carted away and every tumbling-down building repaired and given a coat of paint.

The city itself should develop a little zeal in the same cause and a good place to begin would be in the city parks, all of which, with one exception, are in a deplorable state of neglect. The park department, of course, should be given credit for its successful efforts to bring about the transformation of the unsightly [illegible] slough into the Silver Lake Parkway, but even that devoutly-to-be-desired project cannot make up for the appearance of the present city parking spots. Yes, the city may well enter into the spirit of Clean-up Week.

The next thing on the programme, if one might aspire to see the thing so far, would be the elimination of the billboards. One thing at a time, however! The accomplishment of the purposes involved in the present Clean-up schedule would represent enough of a civic millennium for the time being.

For Better Design.

A movement started in this city several years ago to bring about better standards of architecture in the building of homes is attracting attention throughout Southern California, according to reports received by the Building Exchange, which has taken the lead in the campaign. The purpose of the exchange and the various clubs that have taken up the cause of better house designing is to arouse all home builders to the desirability and wisdom of securing competent architects to prepare and handle their plans and competent builders to execute them.

Committees have been appointed to decide upon the best ways of educat-

PLANS FINE HOME.

Purchaser of Windsor Square Site to Erect Attractive Place—Other Mansions Under Construction.

Announcement is made by R. A. Rowan & Co., agents for Windsor Square, that another fine home is to be started in that fashionable Wilshire-boulevard subdivision within the next few weeks. The contemplating builder is Thomas O'Neill, president of the O'Neill Fruit Company, who recently bought a plot of ground 200 feet square on Windsor boulevard between Third and Fourth streets. The house will be of large size and will be set in beautifully-landscaped grounds.

A beautiful Italian Renaissance mansion has just been started in the tract by Miss Crimmins, the work being handled by Architects Morgan, Walls & Morgan. Construction has also been begun upon a large dwelling of the English Tudor type for Mrs. Nellie K. Powers. This house is situated at the corner of Sixth street and Windsor boulevard and was planned and is being erected by the Milwaukee Building Company. Wilton Goetz is just completing a fine place on Windsor boulevard, Architects Hunt & Burns being in charge.

The finishing touches have just been given to the landscaping of the grounds of Dr. Peter Janss and Dr. Edwin Janss on Loraine avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets. The two Janss places adjoin and occupy an entire block of frontage. The houses are of the Italian Renaissance type and of the same general style. Both were planned by Architect J. Martyn Haenke.

BUYS THIRTY ACRES.

Boston Woman Plans to Lay Out Fine Country Place in Heart of San Fernando Valley.

Helen P. Milton, widow of a wealthy railroad contractor of Boston, Mass., has just purchased thirty acres in the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands of the San Fernando Valley. She contemplates establishing a fine country place. The tract lies in the heart of the valley, not far from the town of Marian and just off Sherman way.

A considerable part of the property, it is announced, will be laid out to gardens, in which will be constructed a handsome home of a Japanese type of architecture. The remaining acres will be planted to peaches and walnuts. The sale of the property at a price reported to have been $14,000, was made through G. M. Reynolds, agent with the Janss Investment Company.

ORGANIZES FORCE.

Cropp will have supervision of the company's acreage activities, William Durflinger of exchanges and D. W. Dillehay of city property transactions. Conant reports that 1600 acres of Tulare county, five miles north of Delano, for which the F. H. Merrell Company is selling agent, will be ready for the market in thirty days.

FOR SALE—$14,500.

The best value in the entire Wilshire district. This house is worth $16,000. This palatial home is of substantial white plaster, built along lines of the picturesque French Renaissance architecture.

The living-room is immense in proportions and perfect in detail. This room and the library are connected by an archway and finished in the beautiful Juana Costa mahogany. The walls are decorated by hand in oil, and have a deep angle cove of the same rich wood. This mantel is of the exquisite Bachelor tile, hand-made, and in harmonious shades. Electric light fixtures are especially designed, the one in library being semi-indirect style.

The dining-room, opening from the living-room, is finished in quarter-sawed oak, highly polished. The buffet, massive and artistic, is in complete harmony with its setting.

The kitchen is very large, combining all the features of a perfectly appointed butler's pantry with everything useful to make a kitchen a model workroom and lessen labor. Woodstone sink board, generous closets and convenient cupboards are among the up-to-date features, and the floor is covered with linoleum.

The four bedrooms are spacious, light and airy —finished in white enamel and decorated with dainty wall coverings.

The lot in which this house stands has a 60-foot frontage. Beautiful lawn. The 70-foot street is paved with asphalt, has sewer, gas and water connections. The wide porch, walk, steps and driveway to garage are of cement.

FOR SALE— Suburban Property.

FOR SALE—HAMMERING DAILY AT MY SINGLE line, I naturally acquire much information, and become expert. I handle exclusively PRODUCTIVE SUBURBAN PROPERTY, for this is the safest, and in the long run the most profitable investment possible for the buyer of moderate means.

Safest, because our soil, climate, and water in this, the richest United States county, produce abundant never failing crops regardless of business ups and downs.

Most profitable, because the steady growth and expansion of the city inevitably affects value of well-located suburban property, and if the income pays you, the increase in value is clear profit. Very different is the case when you carry non-productive property; for then, your interest must be deducted from your increase, leaving the margin slim.

Investigate this matter with me; I can give you interesting information. Special bargains on hand daily; no trouble to show.

For instance, here is a three-acre orchard home, 12 miles from city, convenient to schools, churches, business and transportation. Five-room house, large barn, well, windmill, tank. Price $3750, terms. Now please take your pencil and figure out what it means to have, at this price, a pleasant home, and besides that the income and the produce from the following: Two acres of bearing plums, peaches, apricots, pears, cherries, prunes, apples, almonds, quince, with splendid crop coming; large beds of strawberries and asparagus; half acre in young gooseberries, currants, loganberries, dewberries, red and black raspberries; entire balance, including orchard, in potatoes, onions, turnips, carrots, peas, beans, lettuce, etc., all growing in the finest black sandy loam soil. Can you imagine a more independent man than the owner of this orchard? And $3750 is the price, with terms, but no trade.

I have places at prices to fit all pocketbooks, from $2000 up. I hope you will communicate with me if you contemplate buying a suburban home. Always courteous, reliable service.

FOR SALE—

GOOD IRRIGATED LAND.
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA,
AT $250 AN ACRE.

The foreman of a large orange plantation—a man with 20 years' experience in Southern California—bought ten acres of this land the other day—JUST BECAUSE HE CONSIDERED IT A GOOD INVESTMENT—and he ought to know.

The area of unplanted, unsold, cheap irrigated or irrigable land in Southern California is very small. Every day the discovery of NEW VALUES in the way of PRODUCTIVE VALUES is made for these little farms.

Then people realize the profits—permanent, staple, certain—which will be derived from up-to-date olive groves, from up-to-date peach and apricot orchards, from figs and berries. When people realize the profits from casabas—just "discovered" by eastern epicures—from sweet potatoes, from winter green peas, from chili peppers, and even from squash, then good little-farm homesites will be snapped up FAST.

This land has EVERY advantage of railroads, electric lines, boulevards, surrounded by prosperous towns and cities, level, part of a large tract, only two hours from Los Angeles—nothing to prevent its being as productive and as valuable as almost any land in Southern California. The soil is good, water rights dependable, no adobe, no alkali.

Sold on very easy terms. Only one-fifth cash, nothing more on principal for three years, balance in four installments, interest 6 per cent.

FOR SALE—

ARE YOU A SKILLED,
PRACTICAL FARMER?

We have a proposition—entirely new—which means this much to THREE good farmers:

(1) A chance to get a farm in the best part of Southern California at a low price, on easy terms, and which is likely to very rapidly rise in value.

(2) With this farm a "MEAL TICKET"—an assured monthly income—in cash—enough to meet your grocery bills, your horse feed and hire a hand as needed.

(3) Besides this, you share in the crops you produce—a diversity, not costly to raise, profitable.

The kind of men wanted for this must be real farmers—who know the trade of tilling the soil by actual practical experience—sober, industrious (married preferred.)

Applicants need to have some cash capital to invest in small first payment, house, teams, tools, seed, etc. Less capital than is needed anywhere else we know of—but SOME CAPITAL. They must be ready to jump in NOW and get to work.

If you know of any good farming man who has been waiting to find a place where his experience could help out his supply of capital—tell him about this.

The firm behind this offer is completely reliable. In writing give your name, address, experience, amount of available working capital, and if satisfactory we will make an appointment to see you. If you are busy day times, can see you in the evening.

STATE LAND—
YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY. Our service is certainly helping others make money. Why not you? Buy some to keep and some to sell quickly at profit. One of our clients, who became of age this month, bought 5 tracts of State land. One he sold for twice the cost inside of one week, and for the others he can get more than double the purchase price. You can do as well, or better. Shall we work for you? For our work WE TRUST YOU for a $10 payment until after you get the land. We require $5 payment with order to help pay advertising to tell you about your land. We continue to serve you until 1916. Then we shall improve the land which we have purchased. We help you get State land in ALL counties—any size you wish. Considerable within 2 to 5 miles of center of all towns in California. It is officially stated that this land is deeded to the people of the State of California. YOU ARE the PEOPLE. Let us help you get your share now—and the other fellow's share, too, if he refused to improve his opportunity. About 90 pieces of Indian land in California, 60 in Oregon. Indians selected these choice allotments years ago. You may buy all you wish now, and get title from Washington. Indian land is fine for general ranch purposes. Plenty of feed and water all year around.

Here's another opportunity for you. We can furnish county sectional maps for from 50c to $1.50 each, showing wagon roads and section, with the aid of which it is easy to find all the land described in our lists. Plats of any township showing vacant government land for $1 each. County section maps of the following counties, showing vacant government land: Mendocino, $2; Napa, Lake and Sonoma, $1 each. It is easy to see, select and buy your choice with the aid of these maps.

Get busy. First get our booklet, and then write or call or order at once and get the results of our years of searching. Office open 6 days and evenings. Closed Saturdays. Write THE CALIFORNIA STATE LAND INFORMATION BUREAU, 1511 K st., Sacramento, Cal.

I CAN LOCATE FOUR PEOPLE ON RIVER BOTTOM land on Gila River, Arizona, 35 miles from California State line; abundance of water for irrigation, 10 to 15 feet; I am no bunco steerer, but a responsible official of the Southern Arizona Development Association, and this is my last trip to Los Angeles; I also have for sale three first-class relinquishments, one of which is worth $3500, will be sold this week to the highest bidder, on account of sickness; I will leave here Wednesday at 3 o'clock. FOR SALE—WE OWN IN ALTADENA AT THE corner of Mariposa and Lincoln ave. a beautiful orange grove of twenty acres; good house, barn and splendid improvements. We are carrying this grove on our books as a corporation at $30,000, a sum which our directors decided was $10,000 less than the actual value of the property, but we know when we were ready to put it on the market that it would go very quickly at the price at which we are carrying it on our books—$30,000. This is our first advertisement. We are now ready to sell it for exactly what we are carrying it on our books for, and this advertisement is practically a guarantee to you that the property is worth $40,000. One of our clients is willing to loan to the prospective purchaser $15,000 for three years on this property. Before we got it, it had a $20,000 loan on it, which indicates its appraised value is $40,000, although the property has formerly sold for $60,000. Large acreage in Altadena is getting scarce. In five years there won't be any left. It will be all small lots. It is safe to say that you can live on this grove and make a fine income on your investment, have a home besides, and at the end of five years subdivide this twenty acres into 100 lots and easily sell these lots for from $1000 to $1500 each. This is a real, genuine snap, and simply because this corporation is ready to get this property off its books is the only reason that you would get it at this figure, and we know by placing the figure $10,000 less than the property is worth will sell it quickly.

FOR SALE—

A BIG BUY,
A REALLY WONDERFUL BUY,
IN CLOSE-IN APARTMENT SITE.

Eighty (80) foot corner, Fronting on 100-foot Boulevard, with Side street also Highly Improved; for about the Price of 50-foot Inside Lots Elsewhere. THINK OF IT—12 to 14 Minutes from Downtown, and an EIGHTY-FOOT BOULEVARD CORNER, for ONLY $2600, and on Term to Suit the Right Purchaser, at That.

Whether to hold for the BIG INCREASE IN VALUE that is SURE, or for immediate improvement, there is nothing to compare with this big corner at my price.

It is one of only three (3) lots, where the restrictions permit apartments or flats of the "chalet" type. The ordinary apartments or flats covering lot not allowed, owing to the very high class of the homes surrounding. This particular type—one now being completed on lot adjoining this corner—"fits" the surroundings, and would rent immediately at good prices. For any purpose you POSITIVELY CANNOT EQUAL this big corner at my price of $2600; REMEMBER, there's JUST ONE—and NO OTHERS LIKE IT. ACT AT ONCE if you are really interested—some one is going to take it up very soon.

YOU CAN SECURE IT TODAY—SUNDAY, as I have a branch office on the property; open ALL DAY on Sundays, and every afternoon through the week. To get there take any Hollywood, Colegrove, Franklin ave., or any other car going out Sunset blvd. (best car service in Los Angeles,) and get off at ELZA ave. Office right there. Or call at downtown office mornings.

CONSERVATIVE INVESTORS ATTENTION.

If you could ascertain without a question of a doubt that this tract of acreage is increasing at the rate of $600 per acre per year, and that you could make $36,000 by holding it only 12 months, could you afford to allow this exceptional opportunity to slip through your fingers?

It is a well known fact that the time to buy acreage is at the tail end of a financial depression. Now is the phychological time. This 60-acre tract that we have in mind is located on beautiful Washington Boulevard with several subdivisions around it and will no double be the next tract in the popular Los Angeles to Venice to be cut up. The out-of-town owners have authorized us to take good local property or clear eastern or northern up to $80,000. It is a chance of a lifetime to work in your property on a cash basis. See MR. CULVER or MR. WELSH.

ARE YOU HOLDING STOCKS OF INSURANCE Companies or other companies which you believe will take longer than one year on which to realize profits? If so, I have a gilt-edged plan whereby I can allow you from 10 per cent. to 12 per cent. above the market on an exchange proposition which I will leave to your own judgment, or the judgment of your attorney, as to whether or not, under certain conditions, you cannot make an enormous return on the exchanging of your stock. State name of your stock and how much you hold. Address L, box 155, TIMES OFFICE.

ASKS BILLION FROM GERMANY.

President of Army League Starts New Campaign.

Maj.-Gen. Keim Says He Fears Attack by France.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, April 5.—Maj.-Gen. Keim, president of the German Army League, has started an agitation for another billion marks ($250,000,000) for army purposes, without which, he declares, the safety of the country against the expected French and Russian attack cannot be guaranteed. This demand is in addition to the measure passed only last year, voting an extraordinary war tax of $250,000,000, the first installment of which has yet to be collected.

Speaking before the branch of the army league at Essen, incidentally the seat of the Krupp works, Gen. Keim made a bitter attack on Count von Hertling, Premier of Bavaria, who declared recently that the burden of armament taxation had reached its limit and that no further war taxes must be demanded for years to come. Gen. Keim, who referred to the Premier as "that man," declared Von Hertling needed to study political economy to learn that Germany, whose resources were greater than those of France, could afford to make as liberal sacrifices. He characterized Von Hertling's remarks as unconstitutional and impertinent, and said they would have evoked immediate protest from Berlin in the days of Bismark.

"The truth is," continued Gen. Keim, "that we are not as strong as our possible opponents. We must make ourselves much stronger than we are. Only when we are strongly entrenched can we rob our enemies of the courage to attack us from east and west and crush us as in a vise. Is it not better for us to offer up another billion and insure peace? Otherwise, if we do nothing to strengthen our military power in the approaching war we shall see our wives and daughters violated by the Cossacks and Turkos (French African troops;) France will take from us Alasce-Lorraine; Russia, East and West Prussia, and we shall have to pay an eventual war tribute of at least thirty billions."

This speech, with the recent article by Gen. Von Bernhardi of the same faction, pointing out alleged grave deficiencies in the country's military forces, leaves no doubt that the Army League, which by its agitation paved the way for last year's armanent measures, is planning a new campaign. It offers some explanation for the recent article in the Cologne Gazette, whose St. Petersburg correspondent declared unreservedly that Russia was preparing to attack Germany in 1917—a declaration which caused considerable embarrassment to German and Russian diplomacy, which has been busy for weeks with mutual denials of any provocative intent.

GERMANY'S REFUSAL.

The refusal of Germany in 1905 to enter into an alliance with France and Russia was due to a feeling that such an alliance would be "a discourtesy to England and to our English cousins," according to Count Witte of Russia, who will be remembered in the United States for the prominent part he played in negotiating the treaty of Portsmouth.

At the time of the proposed alliance of Germany with France and Russia, he says, according to the Taegliche Rundschau, King Edward VII of England was suing desperately for the friendship of Russia, but Russia preferred Germany as a third member of the planned alliance. Count Witte received at Paris an invitation from King Edward to call on him. He learned that the King's purpose was to discuss an alliance of Great Britain with Russia, and declined the invitation. The next day he proceeded to Rominten.

Count Witte was at that time armed with full authority to negotiate an alliance between Russia, Germany and France, according to the Taegliche Rundschau's correspondent, who quotes him as follows:

"My proposal was not new to Emperor William II. Some years earlier I had laid before His Majesty a well-worked-out plan of this nature during his visit in St. Petersburg, based upon the standpoint that only a firm alliance between Russia, Germany and France, not directed against England, or, at least, only in an extreme case, could make certain the peace of Europe for a considerable period. I realized perfectly well that the Franco-English Morocco treaty of 1904 was the first step in the isolation of Germany which Edward VII so greatly desired. I was also as well acquainted with the proposals of alliances which the British King had caused to be made to us in 1905, and with the correspondence in the same matter between Lord Lansdowne and the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg, Sir Charles Hardinge.

"Nevertheless, I returned to St. Petersburg not without hopes for my plan, and I cherished these hopes until the play behind the scenes at Algeciras in 1906 put an end to them."

This "play behind the scenes," joined with Germany's unwillingness to offend Great Britain, is alleged to have driven Russia into Great Britain's arms in 1907, after Isvolski, a Germanophobe, had become Russia's Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Live Insects for Jewels.

[Brooklyn Eagle:] An amazing use of live black beetles has just been achieved in Paris. Recently, at the Parc Monceau, a woman, in an extremely decollete dress, was the cynosure of all eyes, not on account of the scantiness of her costume, but because the whiteness of her skin was relieved by a procession of crawling black beetles, which were fastened by tiny gold wires to a string of beautiful pearls. The woman appeared to be happy, but the insects would doubtless have preferred to be free to scamper on a kitchen floor.

Unfortunately the fashion is now gaining ground, and other live insects and reptiles are to become the vogue. Apparently pearls and diamonds have for a time lost their sway over the most susceptible feminine hearts.

"BACK UP," SAYS LONDON.

Many Believe England and Germany Will Finally Conclude to Be Officially Represented at Fair.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 20.—There is a general belief current in London just now that Germany and England will climb down gracefully over their refusal to participate in the great exhibition at San Francisco and at the last moment will vote the sums required to make the British and the German sections a success.

An influential committee has formed in both countries to organize public opinion into the right channel, and most of the principal newspapers have recently told Sir Edward Grey very bluntly that he, at all events, has made a mistake in his attitude, and that it will be better for England in every sense that she should help ungrudgingly in this gigantic celebration of the opening of the Panama Canal. The present position of affairs was admirably summed up the other day by Summer H. Doulton, an American counsellor-at-law, now in London. He remarked:

"Some people believe that the British government's attitude is attributable to an agreement with Germany. Be this as it may, there is now every indication that the tide is turning across the German Sea, and it seems safe to predict that Germany will participate, possibly at the last moment. How will England look then, when the Germans will be making a brave show, and who will estimate the irreparable loss to British prestige, should England be conspicuous only by her absence?

"On the other hand, contrary to expectations, should Germany not come in, after all, the British gain in being present is obvious. Whoever takes part, Great Britain must participate, unless she, now this unique opportunity is offered, wants to be hopelessly outclassed in the ever-keener struggle for commercial supremacy.

"Other considerations, far-reaching in their potentialities, should urge Englishmen to accept the cordial invitation from across the Atlantic. Uncle Sam has grown to be a big boy and doesn't relish being snubbed by anyone, not even his cousins in dear old England.

"If England stays sulkily away in 1915 this slight will cause a deep feeling of resentment in widespread circles throughout the United States, with the deplorable result that public opinion, that all-powerful factor in American life, will be soured, and all the good work that has been done in the past years by those who are honestly intent on establishing permanent cordial understanding between the great English-speaking peoples will be largely frustrated.

"Public opinion, again, is reflected in the official attitude of the American government, and sways the actions of political leaders and lawmakers. As, unfortunately, the existence in certain quarters of strong anti-English sentiment cannot be denied, it would clearly be carrying grist to the mills of these disaffected elements if England now fails to grasp the hand of good fellowship reached out by the American nation as a whole.

"There will be further American tariff revisions," added Mr. Doulton, "and there will have to be made many more treaties, both commercial and political. That they may be mutually advantageous, let England pave the way now, when a critical moment is at hand."

LIVE ON NATURE.

A Maine Girl Will Subsist Two Months in the Woods Without Aid of Food or Weapons.

[Baltimore Star:] Garbed only in the original attire of Mother Eve, Miss Bana Douglass, of Stratton, Me., will enter the dense woods of Franklin county and remain there two months, some time this year. She will take neither weapons, clothing nor provisions, but will trust to her woodcraft and her knowledge of game to enable her to live and to come forth fully clad in fine fighting trim. She is a fearless ranger of the forests and her friends say she will accomplish her difficult task.

Miss Douglass declares she will enter the forests of her native county as scantily clad as when she was born and will come forth at the end of the two months fully clothed in such garb as she can obtain in the woodlands. She will take nothing, feeling certain that she can provide for herself whatever she needs of food and raiment.

Fear of no modern Actaean seems to enter her mind. Miss Douglass greatly prefers the woods and fields and streams, with their hunting, freedom and fishing, to a love romance.

Since childhood the girl, a daughter of Gus Douglass, of Stratton, has followed her father hundreds of miles in the woods, has absorbed his fund of woodlore and has studied the forests and inland waters with their teeming life. The father is an expert shot, trapper, fisherman and guide and just now he, another man and Miss Douglass are across the Canadian border on a shooting trip.

Miss Douglass knows every kind of tree and bird and animal to be found in the Dead River region of this State, knows every sort of animal of the field and river banks, and every variety of fish frequenting Carrabassett River and the south and north branches of the Dead River itself, in home district. She knows all their habits and peculiarities and has no fear of life alone among them for two months.

Stratton is a part of the town of Eustis, forty-eight miles north of Farmington. The settlement and all the region of the Dead River lying thereabout is thinly populated, comparatively speaking, but it offers a great field for the sportsman with rod and gun. From her home town north to the Canadian border no pond, stream or trail is unknown to this twentieth century Diana and the crack of her rifle almost always brings down that at which she aims. With her home district. She knows all their her knowledge of the woods, she is deadly equipped for her coming adventure.

Miss Douglass last summer carried the mails over the rural route from Stratton to and through neighboring settlements for upwards of twenty-five miles and in all sorts of weather and under many difficulties. She is not of large frame, but is strong and agile, the simple life of the backwoods serving in the twenty-three years of her life to conserve her strength and build up a rugged constitution.

The girl seeks no notoriety in the venture she will make, and in all probability the outside world will never know she has completed her two months and lived with the forest dangers until the time is up. Unwished-for-attention may be attracted to the venture, but the girl's family will guard against intruders.

Excellent for Stomach Trouble.

"Chamberlain's Tablets are just fine for stomach trouble," writes Mrs. G. C. Dunn, Arnold, Pa. "I was bothered with this complaint for some time and frequently had bilious attacks. Chamberlain's Tablets afforded me great relief from the first, and since taking one bottle of them I feel like a different person."—[Advertisement.

PRINCESSES ON A STRIKE.

Royal Femininity Want to Pick Their Own Lords.

But They Will Probably Go on as in the Past.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, April 15.—European courts face what is practically a widespread strike on the part of Princesses against matrimony made to order. Individual protests against being made a victim of the old system whereby royal children have no voice in the selection of life partners are as old as the system itself, but the stand now taken, particularly by the Princesses, is said to appear like a concert of action. It is a blow to the royal match makers, who blame both the scarcity of Princesses and the growth of feminism for the failure of their pet system. In this connection it is known that many of the royal dowagers are inclined to lay the responsibility for this state of affairs on the fair shoulders of Princess Patricia of Connaught, daughter of the Governor-General of Canada, who is said, during her residence in the new world to have acquired certain odious democratic ideals not at all in harmony with her station.

The recent birth of a son to the Duchess of Brunswick, the only daughter of Emperor William of Germany, has served to call attention again to the small number of Princesses and has given further force to the excuse of the royal bachelors that they are unable to find suitable partners of their own rank. This excuse may or may not be entirely valid, but it is undoubtedly true that both the young men and women of the royal circles show a distinct disinclination towards matrimony made to order.

Among the eligible Princesses, who seem in no hurry to accept the partners selected for them by their royal parents, are the elder daughters of the Emperor Nicholas of Russia, notably the Grand Duchess Tatiana, the beauty of the Russian Imperial family, and Princess Elisabeth of Roumania. The latter is really a beautiful girl and any debutante might envy her perfect features, her cloud of lovely hair and her very expressive eyes. Both she and her young sister, Princess Marie, have inherited the wonderful Coburg elegance coupled with the half-gray, half-sad charm of their native land.

But the strike is not confined entirely to feminine sprigs of royalty. It is even said that the Prince of Wales, the most eligible of royal bachelors, has turned up his nose at the suggestion of a union with a very high-placed, but extremely unattractive Princess.

THE WOMAN'S CHURCH.

The Church of the New Ideal, which admits no males to membership, has held its first services. The church is located at Wallasey, the newly-constituted borough on the Cheshire side of the Mersey. Some 200 women assembled for the inaugural sermon delivered by the Rev. Hatty Baker of Plymouth. Men were rigorously excluded.

A preliminary declaration of reasons for the formation of the church sets forth "the epoch-making advance in the self consciousness of women as a sex," and women's realization of equality with man in religious as well as other spheres of life. Their exclusion hitherto from any share in conducting church services is referred to as an exclusion by which the general progress of humanity has been delayed.

The Rev. Hatty Baker, who wore what is described as a "white choker" and a black gown of conventional clerical type, took as her subject, "God's Glorious Ideal." She declared that churches as founded and conducted by men obscured this ideal, and the present effort was to create a church of the future which would be along the lines of the ideal. Abraham, she said, as long as he acted on his own initiative, made many mistakes, and twice had to be told by God to take the advice of his wife, and the greatest tragedy the world ever witnessed would never have taken place if Pilate had listened to his wife. The male bias had obscured the message of Christ in the past and the present church would do away with such bias. The preacher warned her adherents that they must expect persecution and ridicule. In the evening a service to which men were admitted was held.

FORTUNES FILCHED BY CAMERA

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PARIS, Dec. 20.—Parisian couturiers and modistes are making a desperate effort to save their newest fashions from the hands of a thousand thieves.

Each spring great houses like Worth, Paquin, Bechoff-David and Doucet are in a fever of mysterious excitement over the models which are to carry their fame world-wide, and the most stringent precautions are taken to hide the "creations" from the prying eyes of unauthorized persons.

The enemy most feared hitherto has been not so much the copyist from London, New York, Berlin and St. Petersburg—dangerous though he be—as the traitor within the camp who is ready to sell the secrets to second or third-rate houses up Montmartre way, whence they will return to flood Paris at prices within the reach of the woman of ordinary means.

Now, however, modern photography has added the supreme danger. When the great day has arrived and the new fashion is finally launched at Auteuil or Longchamps races—not always, as is generally supposed, by mannequins—the man with the camera is ready to register the smallest detail of the new costume, and, needless to say the wearer is flattered by the attention.

A few hours later the picture is speeding away to all the world's fashion centers where keen-eyed local experts will have reproduced the novelty and be executing orders long before the Paris firm whose property the creation is can send out its first consignment. M. Bechoff-David gives a striking instance of the prejudice caused by the ubiquitous photographer. "A big commission agent of New York," he says, "recently returned to me a model invoiced at $250 (fr. 1250) for the sole reason that he had received a photograph of the costume a week before the original arrived. He explained that his customers—New York dressmakers—had also received copies of the same photo, and had already reproduced the model."

There are, says M. Bechoff-David, two or three agencies in Paris which, at subscription rates ranging from $20 to $80 a year, undertake to send out every Sunday evening photographs of models taken by their operators that same afternoon at Auteuil and Longchamps.

To protect their rights the great Paris firms have now decided upon the drastic measure of asking the authorities to prohibit the taking of photographs at race tracks and in public places. The race-track committees at Auteuil and Longchamps, who are tenants of the Ville de Paris, are willing to do this if they have the support of the municipality and the Prefect of Police, M. Hennion, is now giving the matter careful consideration. It is not proposed to put the new prohibition into force before the spring.

LONDON'S GIGANTIC MAP.

Will Show the Ownership of Every Parcel of Land in the Metropolis and Be Issued in Sections.

[London Standard:] What is really a doomsday book of London is now in course of preparation. The huge task of compiling such a record of a town of the immensity of the metropolis, which has an area of 115 square miles, was commenced by the London County Council, fifteen years ago, and, though the undertaking is approaching completion, it is doubtful whether it will ever be adequately finished, because there are bits of land which nobody owns, and which therefore cannot be properly mapped. Already the Council has spent £15,000 on the work, which will in time be a full record of every house and owner thereof within the administrative county.

The record is taking the form of a gigantic map, and naturally is being made in sections. The scale is five feet per mile, so that the necessity for sectional construction will at once be recognized.

The new map will show at a glance the owners of every bit of London, so far, of course, as owners are ready to acknowledge their ownership. London is divided up into over 38,000 different estates, and 14,000 people own their own houses and have to be placed on the map. Changes take place frequently, and so the map will be kept up to date week by week.

This gigantic map of London will not be published as are ordinary maps. In the first place, it would be too costly a production to secure many purchasers. Nevertheless, it will be issued in sections for the benefit of the twenty-eight borough councils, who will thus have a complete record of the districts over which they have jurisdiction.

THE ONE SEAM BLOUSE.

The Sleeve Clasps Around the Wrist and the Seams are Disguised by Lace Beading.

[Washington Herald:] The one seam blouse, a novelty that has no under arm seam, is very new and correct, as it has the new sleeve that shapes down imperceptibly from the bloused body of the waist to a sleeve that clings tightly around the wrist. Another new waist shape, opening sometimes in the back, sometimes in front, has the slanting yoke. This, starting high up in front and back, descends to a depth of several inches under the arms. The lower part of the blouse, often made of taffeta like the yoke, is fulled lightly into it, and the blouse itself is cut out enough at the neck to allow for a little vest. The long shoulder yoke that extends half way down to the elbow has the blouse fronts gathered into it, and the back is gathered at the sides and laid in pleats at the center back. The sleeves are generally full from the yoke down gathered into a ruffle or cuff at the wrist, wide if plain; it is outlined with several tiny frills above and below if narrow. Mousseline de soie lined with the same, net lined with chiffon, taffeta, plain or embroidered, and crepe de chine, plain or figured, are used. Lace inter-run with gold threads over a chiffon cloth foundation makes, perhaps, the most elaborate waist.

In the tulle and net blouses the seams are almost always disguised by a wide or narrow lace beading. Over the tulle or filmy waist a little loose bolero coat is sometimes worn to match the hat color, a most effective fashion for the Southern season. These coatees are often short sleeved and outlined with picot edged ruches or fur bands. The hat has perhaps an answering touch of fur and a waving plume. This color contrast with an all white gown is especially striking, but the coat may be also used to carry the color of a dark skirt onto a white waist.

Many of the morning waists are gathered into a yoke top. With such blouse is combined one of the loosely fitting collars cut on one of the many sailor shapes. The sleeve, set in a large shirt armhole, is gathered into a cuff that is neatly buttoned.

Jumper effects have also appeared in blouses made of voile or mousseline of the skirt color and posed over net or chiffon chemise shaped foundation of white or cream. These jumpers are cut out at the neck heart or square shape, are often sleeveless, even showing the under blouse under the arms; some, however, have elbow sleeves. These jumpers are bordered with fur bands or embroideries of sparkling bangles or beads or by sewing round pendant beads along the edges, or are simply finished by a piping. The new Pickwick collar its dickey front corners lightly wired, is very new and smart. On the simple blouse it is of lawn, double thickness; on the transarent evening corsage, of delicate cream or ecru wired lace.

Making Better Bread.

[Popular Mechanics:] "How can we make better bread?" asked a big baking company of the late Prof. Robert Kennedy Duncan, Director of the Mellon Institute. The first step in finding the answer was to put a trained chemist at work in one of the institute's laboratories. The baking company paid him a salary of $750 a year for two years and offered him a prize of $2000 if he found a satisfactory answer. Before he had finished his experiments, another baking company asked the same question. They offered $4750 a year for two years and a prize of $10,000 for any practical results.

And the chemists got results—found not only one answer but a dozen answers—found how to make better bread, while at the same time cutting down the cost of manufacture; found how to make "salt-rising" bread of better quality than the kind grandma used to make; found out, in short, so many interesting and valuable facts about the chemistry of bread making that the companies which are now utilizing these facts are already saving probably more than $250,000 a year in the cost of their product and giving their customers better bread than they have ever had.

"WOMAN'S DAY" IS A FAILURE.

Russian Police Prevent It Observance at Capital.

Conditions in Country Ba for Suffragettes.

Private Soldier a Marvel of Army Discipline.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1—Plans for the observance of a "Woman's Day" by the workwomen of the capital were broken up by the police. The day was to have been observed chiefly by lectures in various halls on general topics affecting woman's work and position. The police arrested a number of women in advance of the day set, some of them of the educated classes, and forbade all the planned meetings but one. Three of the speakers for this meeting, however, were arrested beforehand, and the meeting was dissolved after two women had spoken. The audience tried to form a procession on leaving the hall. This was broken up and a number of other arrests were made. Altogether more than thirty women have been arrested.

Interest in all questions affecting women, but more especially in woman's suffrage, is rapidly growing in Russia. A number of meetings have been held during the winter and crowds of girl students and women from all stations of life attended. Inasmuch as Russian conditions are especially unfavorable to the extension of the franchise to women, the political issue is generally treated merely as one phase of the general question of the enlargement of the area of women's work for social betterment.

Madame K. A. Tyrkova, a well-known novelist, and one of the leaders in the women's movement, stated the aims and ideals of the Russian women as follows:

"Russian women have been for years in a privileged position compared with their western sisters. They enjoyed considerable property independence and higher education had been secured for women in Russia long before it was acquired in most of the countries of Western Europe. In the struggle for political reform women fought side by side with the men. All these things, however, have caused a false sense of security, and opportunities for securing full political rights are gradually being narrowed down. There is danger that the traditional conception of woman's inferiority will assert itself, and Russian men, like the men of Western Europe, will resolutely oppose the extension of political rights to women."

Mme. Tyrkova points to the suffragette movement in England as an illustration of the straits to which the best women were driven in a highly-civilized society when the conception of the essential inferiority of women was embodied in an intricate network of usage and custom.

ARMY DISCIPLINE.

The spirit of discipline in the Russian army is well-nigh ideal if it is generally that exhibited by a private soldier of an artillery regiment at Nijni Novgorod. A sergeant of the man's regiment, who had charge of the disposition of sentries, committed suicide. When the time to change sentries came, the sentry, although informed of the sergeant's suicide, refused to leave his post. He declared that under military rules, only the sergeant or the Emperor Nicholas could relieve him of his post, and as the sergeant was dead, he was bound to remain until the Emperor ordered him to leave it.

The colonel of the regiment accordingly sent an urgent telegram to the Emperor, who immediately sent back an order to the sentry to leave his post. The soldier insisted on reading the telegram himself by the light of a pocket electric lamp before he consented to return to barracks.

New York Curb Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Curb prices were generally lower today. Oils continue weak with South Pennsylvania selling down to 294, after touching 310. There was a slight recovery in this issue at the close. It is believed by a great many brokers that prices of crude and refined oil are likely to go lower. This would cause a further decline in Standard Oil issues. The mining list was quiet and without features. Boston coppers opened quiet, excepting Alaska and Granby, which sold off fractionally during the first half hour, but recovered on an improved volume of business. Arcadian was well bought. Other coppers were very quiet with firmness displayed. The close was fairly active and strong.

FASTER SELLING IN WHEAT PIT.

CAMPAIGN OF BULLS SWEEPS DOWN PRICES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 18.—Faster selling than has been seen for weeks, much of it believed to be for leading bulls, swept down prices today in corn. Argentine offers lower than ever and ideal weather to prepare for the new domestic crop, gave the greater part of the impetus. The close was weak, ⅜@⅞ to 1⅝ under last night. Wheat showed a net decline of ⅝ to ⅞ and oats ⅜ to ½@⅝. In provisions, the outcome was an advance of 7½ to 15. Corn made an almost vertical drop from start to finish. It was a day of liquidation on a broad scale and no let up in any of the months, but with the severest pressure on the May delivery. Brokers, who usually act for the principal house on the bull side were unloading apparently without limit, and with but little, if any, regard for the effect on prices. Whenever there seemed likely to be a breathing place, prominent bears were not slow to throw all their weight on the overburdened market. General rains, particularly beyond the Missouri River, took the wheat market down grade. The timely supply of moisture virtually stopped the drought talk from both the winter and the spring crop belts. Seeding in the Dakotas and Minnesota was reported as 50 to 75 per cent. complete. In oats, notwithstanding that shorts were good buyers, the market felt the effect of the setback for corn. Weather reports tended also to depress prices. Scantiness of hog supplies made provisions ascend regardless of grain. Packers bought freely.

HARBOR ITEMS.

The British steamer Barneson, which has been in port since her maiden voyage from Newcastle-on-the-Tyne, being changed from a coal to an oil burner, sailed today for San Francisco to load a cargo of refined oil. The big tanker is owned by the General Petroleum Company, but will take her cargo at the Union refinery at Oleum, in accordance with the working agreement between the companies.

For the first time in months there is not a steam schooner in port tonight. The Henry T. Scott arrived from San Diego and, after loading a partial cargo of crude oil for the General Petroleum Company, proceeded to Seattle. The Doris sailed for Gray's Harbor in ballast and the Columbia for San Diego with passengers and balance of cargo, loaded at Gray's Harbor. Four or five lumber carriers are expected from northern ports before morning.

The steamer Beaver sailed for Portland today with a big list of passengers and several hundred tons of freight. The Yale arrived from San Francisco and proceeded to San Diego. The Queen also proceeded to San Diego and both will call here tomorrow on the return trip to San Francisco. The Santa Clara arrived from San Francisco, one day behind her schedule, and sailed for return.

WINTER MELON FOR CALIFORNIA.

SPAIN HAS VARIETY THAT MAY THRIVE IN THIS STATE.

Picked Green and Hung in Nets from Ceilings or Doorways and Exposed to Air Until Fully Ripened—Great Profits Accrue from Raising "Valencias."

Spain has long exported melons to the United Kingdom and to many points of continental Europe. In some districts the industry is one of considerable importance. The Spanish melon crop for 1910—the latest date for which statistics are available—according to figures furnished by the Spanish agronomical engineers, amounted to between 500,000,000 and 600,000,000 pounds, about half the weight of our California orange crop.

Of these melons the province of Valencia in 1910 produced between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000 pounds, the product of this province being considered the best in Spain.

Among the finest of the varieties grown there is the Valencia, which matures late in the fall and will keep in good condition for three or four months after it is picked, and is frequently to be found on the markets throughout Spain as late as February. It is believed that this melon could be successfully raised in Southern California.

The Valencia melon is usually planted about June, the seeds being first sprouted and then set in hills, three or four to the hill, the ground being perfectly level and with irrigation furrows four and one-half to six feet apart. It does best on rich turfy loam, somewhat heavy, with plenty of well-rotted manure mixed in.

The average crop amounts to between 600 and 700 dozen melons to the acre, which in Spain wholesale at about 36 cents a dozen; bringing gross returns of between $200 and $250 an acre, the cost of cultivation being estimated as $150.

This winter melon is not as a rule ripened on the vines, being picked when green and hung in nets from the ceiling or doorways and exposed to the air until fully ripened.

A number of varieties of melons grown in the Spanish province of Valencia are frequently stored for a long time, and kept in good condition, by packing away in barrels or boxes filled with sand, or still better, in a mixture of coal dust and sawdust, care being taken to shelter against light, moisture, heat and frost. On the Spanish Mediterranean coast melons are kept through the entire winter by tying them with esparto grass or strings to the ceiling of a dark room.

The melon industry in such districts as the San Fernando Valley—that of the Imperial and Coachella valleys being essentially devoted to the production of early melons and cantaloupes—is one of growing importance; climatic and soil conditions are there pre-eminently adapted for the growth of fine crops.

While there are varieties of winter melons now on the market the supply is yet limited and the production of a winter melon of fine flavor and good carrying qualities has much to recommend it. This late Spanish variety undoubtedly offers much promise for trial in Southern California.

An industry of considerable value and importance can undoubtedly be built up in the production of winter melons, which although they can never become a "popular" item on the menu, nevertheless would have a large market once in regular supply on the larger eastern markets.

REALTY BOARD GROWS.

Committee Campaigning for New Members Meets Success Among Local and Outside Dealers.

Remarkable success is being achieved by a committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board in the campaign for new members which is now being waged prior to increasing the initiation fee from $10 to $50.

In the past three weeks over forty new applications have been received and the preliminary work of broadening the campaign throughout the State has been accomplished. A number of applications from outside cities for non-resident membership have already been received. The real estate men throughout the State appreciate the importance of becoming affiliated with the local board prior to the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges in this city in 1915, which is now practically assured.

Late applications for membership received by the board are as follows: Alexander MacKeigan Co., Seward Cole, I. H. Schoemaker, R. W. Kinsey, El Segundo Land and Improvement Company, Irvine W. Pigger, Simpson & Gray, Hugh B. E. Brown, H. J. Harrell, George A. Rondel, G. H. Cutter & Co. (Corcoran) and T. H. Crotty (Winnipeg.)

PHOENIX HOLDS ITS SUN FETE.

Historical Parade Depicts Days of the Aztecs.

The G.A.R. in Arizona Is Said to Be Increasing.

Six-Story Business Block in Process of Erection.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 17.—Yesterday was the day of the Phoenix Sun Fete, an annual holiday celebrated under the auspices of the Phoenix Board of Trade and at first designed to be a feature of the Admission day festivities. The principal item of yesterday's programme was the parade, which was almost entirely historical in character, through the Aztec, Spanish and Indian periods, as depicted on floats that bore Aztec, the stalwart Indian ruler for the day, Montezuma, with a guard of Spaniards in armor, a representation of the Aztec sacrificial stone, with a victim ready for the obsidian knife of the high priest, and a reproduction of the famous Tumacacori mission, with a hundred black-robed friars attending, all members of the Knights of Columbus.

The Indian floats were beautiful and realistic, provided by the local Indian school, showing real Indians of various tribes engaged in their native craft work, beside representations of their homes, including the pueblo mud house of the Hopi, the brush jacal of the Pima and the rough hogan of the Navajo. Then came a float showing what the Indian of today is doing in the white man's industries and then two noble battalions of well-drilled and neatly clothed Indian boys and girls, all marching in well-ordered ranks, under command of the school's disciplinarian, Maj. E. P. Grinstead. Mexico was represented by a hundred zarape-clad members of Spanish-American societies and there were cowboys, old prairie schooners, overland stages and burro-punching prospectors.

ELKS' PARADE.

Today was another parade, in connection with the annual meeting of the Arizona Elks' Reunion Association, the third gathering of the sort in the State, the others having been at Tucson and Globe. The city has been lavishly decorated in the colors of Elkdom. Several hundred members of the order have come from other localities to join in the festivities. President of the organization is Joe Prochaska, postmaster at Miam.

G.A.R. ON INCREASE.

Arizona, California and Arkansas are listed as the only States wherein the membership of the Grand Army of the Republic is on the increase, a fact in each case simply due to accretions at the expense of other States. This was told this week at the meeting in Phoenix of the Arizona encampment of the order, with about fifty veterans attendin gas delegates. George W. Read of Prescott was elected Department Commander and A. J. Sampson will remain in the position of Assistant Adjutant General.

ODD FELLOWS' SESSION.

In Phoenix for the first three days of next week will be held the thirty-first annual session of the grand lodges of Arizona Odd Fellowship. Three hundred delegates are expected from the thirty subordinate lodges, twelve encampments and twenty Rebekah lodges.

"ARIZONA DAY."

Gov. Hunt has formally called for the observation of "Arizona day" April 24, in the schools of the State and has recommended that on the hour of noon of that date Arizonians gather together in all cities to drink a toast to their home and its memories. In Phoenix will be given a pioneer banquet.

OFFICIAL HOLDS OFFICE.

V. A. Thompson retains office as waterworks superintendent under the new administration of the city and Earl H. Parker, a civil engineer, has been chosen street superintendent. Dr. E. S. Godfrey has accepted office as health officer, with the understanding that all his time shall be devoted to the work. George D. Christy is the new City Attorney, Frank Thomas, former City Recorder, has become City Clerk and Charles D. Barnett succeeds himself as City Assessor.

REJECT FIRE BIDS.

As there had been much comment over the purchase of fire-fighting equipment in Los Angeles during the closing hours of the late City Council, the new City Commission has rejected all bids received and will advertise again, on the standard set by the Fire Underwriters. The city is in bad shape financially, with not nearly enough money on hand to carry it through to the next tax-collection time.

NEW FEDERAL BUILDING.

Owing to the moving to Phoenix of a number of important Federal offices, the local government building suddenly has been declared inadequate and an effort has been started for an enlargement or for the erection of a separate postoffice building. If the latter be determined upon, the new building may be placed near the railroad depots, for the better handling of the mail.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK.

Work is to be started at once on the erection of a six-story business block on North Center street, opposite the Adams Hotel, by a syndicate of capitalists headed by Dwight B. Heard and B. M. Goldwater. The lower floors will house the latter's department store, while the upper floors will be fitted up for offices, with one floor set aside and equipped for physicians and dentists.

GIVES UP THEATER INTEREST.

Arthur S. Heyman, now in Southern California, has surrendered his interest in a new theater now being built within the O'Neill block on West Adams street to a local company of business men. The theater, which is to be the largest in Arizona, is to be called The Columbia and is to be opened in May.

Additional seating capacity for 1500 persons will be provided by the Arizona Fair Commission at the grounds near Phoenix.

PHOENIX CATHEDRAL.

Early action is to be taken for the construction of a new cathedral in Phoenix, long planned by Bishop Atwood of the Episcopal Diocese of Arizona, the present church accommodations being entirely inadequate. Announcement has been made that the chancel, a marble altar and mural decorations will be the gift of Frederic Bartlett of Chicago, who is now visiting relatives in this city. Bishop Atwood last Sunday dedicated a new chapel and guildhouse at Ray.

ARIZONA NOTES.

In Tempe, the Methodist congregation, on money wholly provided beforehand, is completing a $10,000 church structure, to replace a frame building put up about 1887 by the almost single efforts of the pastor of the time, Rev. O. S. Frambes.

Under the Somers's system of valuations for taxation, the most valuable property in the larger towns of Arizona, per front foot, has been determined as follows: Phoenix, $110; Tucson, $650; Bisbee, $500; Douglas, $340; Globe, $300; Prescott, $220; Miami, $100.

The income of the Mesa postoffice for the past estimate year was in excess of $10,000, and application will be made for the establishment of free delivery July 1.

Emphatic protest was made by the Phoenix Woman's Club to the make-up of the last telephone directory, where the advertising matter obscured the valuable text of the work. As a result of the protest, the directory just issued is on new lines, with the numbers following the names and with no intrusive advertising.

A State Society of Optometry has been organized in Phoenix, with Dr. D. D. Northrup as president and Dr. E. Munson as secretary.

The Rev. R. C. Fleischer of Los Angeles was mirried yesterday in Glendale, Ariz., to Miss Helen V. Fauber of Phoenix.

Modern Job.

TAKES CHILDREN; LANDS IN JAIL.

Jeweler Who Says His Wife Left Him for Greek Waiter Starts Away With Two Daughters—Arrested on Woman's Complaint for Carrying Concealed Weapons.

All his cell mates agree that William T. Webb, under arrest for having carried concealed weapons, has more woes than any other person behind the bars.

After having been happily married for twenty-two years, with three children, a home, and old age immediately in the foreground, Webb's wife, he alleges, ran away with J. H. Pappas, a Greek waiter, in San Francisco, and later took her three children. That was four years ago. After a constant search, during that time, Webb located his family here yesterday under the name of J. H. Earnest, and immediately took possession of two daughters. His son was away from home. He was trailed by his former wife, who had him arrested on the charge of having carried concealed weapons.

Pappas came into the Webb home as a boarder, while he was employed as a waiter in a restaurant. Webb and his wife were born on adjoining plantations in Kentucky, lived there until maturity, were married there, having been sweethearts of school-days, and finally came to San Francisco, where Webb secured lucrative employment as a jeweler.

Immediately Webb began searching for the children. Letters were received from them, marked "General Delivery, New York" and other baffling addresses. He could secure no inkling of their real location through their letters which were sent from one postoffice to another to the father's confusion.

He received direct information that the family was in Los Angeles. To locate them he went to the County Recorder's office to find out where they lived, as he know his wife would own the property. He could find no property listed under the name of Pappas.

Then he learned that the family was known as Earnest. Immediately he traced them to No. 5032 First avenue. Yesterday he went to the residence and found the children. He took them to the downtown district, intending to go to the beach, and was arrested while in an ice cream parlor with the children.

MOORPARK ORGANIZES.

New Chamber of Commerce to Hustle Things—Boys Start on Foot for Arizona.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MOORPARK, April 18.—A Chamber of Commerce with an initial membership of twenty-nine, has been organized here. About sixty people were present at the organization meeting and refreshments were served by women of the Fortnightly Club. Officers were elected as follows: C. I. Thacker, president; M. W. P. Wright, secretary; J. R. Vaty, vice-president; J. E. Smith, second vice-president; A. E. Everett, third vice-president, and A. B. LeRoy, treasurer.

Three Moorpark boys, Walter Bauer, Ellory Colston and Chester Estes, 12 and 13 years of age, departed for Arizona Tuesday evening, without informing their parents. Ellory Colston had saved his school lunch for provision for the trip and the start was made over the trail to Los Angeles. Walter Bauer turned back after the first mile. The other two were overtaken at Simi the following morning by Deputy Jake Smith, who had been notified by the anxious parents. Both boys were glad to take the train home.

Claiming to be 101 years old, Peter Morrison arrived from Los Angeles in search of Moorpark friends whom he located. Morrison said he had walked nine miles the day previous to his arrival, and that he has a son 75 years old.

SHOOTS IN SELF-DEFENSE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD, April 18.—A man, believed to be M. S. Ghormley of Oakland, was shot and killed by Jose Diaz of the Southern Pacific section crew here, when he enforced his demand for a hand-out with an attack on Diaz with a shovel which Diaz had been using, and which Ghormley picked up after Diaz refused his request. Diaz was considerably bruised and cut about the face. He does not deny the shooting, saying he did it in self-defense. He says the tramp was intoxicated.

Frederick O'Brien, resident of Glendale and former owner of the Oxnard Courier, has written friends here from Atuona, on the island of Hiva-Oa, Marquesas, Polynesia, where he is engaged in writing a book. It took his letter forty-six days to reach Oxnard. O'Brien writes that he is the only American on the islands, the only other white men being fifteen Frenchmen scattered over the different islands of the group.

Inspiring.

VICTORY AHEAD SHOWS CLEAR.

Enthusiasm in Meeting of Southern Republicans.

Prendergast Coming to Talk for Fealty to Party.

An enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Republican State Central Committee of the counties south of the Tehachepi was held yesterday at the Southern California headquarters of the State Committee in the Coulter building. Questions of vital importance concerning the coming campaign were discussed.

Robert Sweeny, vice-president of the State Central Committee, presided and delivered an inspiring address upon "Republicanism." He spoke of the splendid opportunities that await all true Republicans, who are actively participating in the movement to restore the party of achievement and rational progress to power in the State and nation.

F. C. Roberts of Long Beach, who recently returned from an extended visit in Washington, D. C., gave an instructive talk. He told of the difficulties of the Wilson-Bryan-Page administration and the high enthusiasm with which the National Republican Congressional Committee is entering upon this campaign. Roberts said it was the consesus of opinion among political wiseacres at Washington that the next House would have a good working Republican majority.

Dr. D. Gochenauer, chairman of the County Central Committee of San Diego, said that the Republican majority in San Diego was assuming such proportions that it was hard to look it in the face, and declared he refuses to name figures any more, as he still has some respect for the feelings of the "Progressives."

"When the alleged Progressives dropped the word 'Republican' they dropped the only valuable asset they had. Gov. Johnson fooled the people with his claptrap in 1910, but he can't repeat in 1914. San Diego county will roll up a majority of 15,000 votes for the Republican candidate for Governor."

TOO MUCH JOHNSON.

Dr. Norman Bridge, in a pithy address, said there were innumerable reasons for the termination of the Johnson regime and a multitude of reasons for the return of the Grand Old Party to power in Congress and State. "If we do not carry California we will fail in our duty," said Dr. Bridge. "The 200,000 men and women who were disfranchised by Johnson and his close advisers are anxiously awaiting election day, when they can take part in the smashing of the extravagant and hypocritical 'Progressive' administration."

Col. W. H. Holabird made a short address. He said that Gov. Johnson and his freaky Legislature had passed many laws "absolutely inimical to the welfare of the people and the business and farming interests of California."

Upon motion of F. C. Fairbanks, seconded by Dr. Gochenauer, and carried unanimously, a committee of five is to be appointed by Chairman Sweeny to draft a set of resolutions. This committee will report at a general meeting to be held on Monday, May 4, at 2 p.m., at the State headquarters in the Coulter building. On that day there will be a joint meeting of the members of the State Committee with the members of the County Committees from the eight southern counties.

FOR HARMONY.

A committee consisting of Seward A. Simons, A. L. Bartlett and E. L. Davin was appointed by Chairman Sweeny to assist the various Republican clubs in organizing the jurisdiction of the Republican State Central Committee of Southern California, in order to harmonize and co-ordinate the action of all such subsidiary organizations with the Republican State Central Committee.

Among those who participated in the discussion were Dr. Gochenauer of San Diego, S. W. McNabb of San Bernardino, C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, F. C. Roberts of Long Beach, John J. Squier of Santa Barbara, Senator Frank D. Lewis of Riverside, Lester D. Welch of San Diego, J. W. Calvert of Azusa, Seward A. Simons of Pasadena and the following from Los Angeles: A. L. Bartlett, E. P. Johnson, A. G. Gage, W. M. Bowen, F. G. Haley, Vincent Morgan, Dr. Norman Bridge, F. C. Fairbanks, Col. W. H. Holabird, H. M. Wisler, Mrs. Cornelius Cole and Mrs. Seward A. Simons.

A telegram was received by Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman, from V. H. Barnes of Ventura, in which Barnes says:

"Impossible for men to attend the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee today. Republicans of Ventura county will work in harmony with the other Southern California counties in the rehabilitation of our party. The registration in this county shows the Republicans to be nearly double all the other parties combined. We have a County Committee in complete working order and much enthusiasm is manifested by Republicans here, and I predict a great victory for our party at the coming election in this county."

PRENDERGAST TO SPEAK.

On the evening of May 4, Hon. William A. Prendergast, Comptroller of New York City, will speak in Los Angeles to a great rally of Republicans from all the southern counties, to be held under the auspices of the Republican State Central Committee. The "Progressive" press of the country pronounced Prendergast's speech nominating Theodore Roosevelt, at the first and last Progressive National Convention, a masterpiece of eloquence. He is peculiarly qualified at this time to convince those who still hold some lingering allegiance to the alleged Progressive party, that the only hope of substantial progress is with the Republican party.

Prendergast's departure from the ranks of the "Progressive" party has left there an aching void—a wide gap. He is going to tell all about it, from the inside and outside, and give compelling reasons for the Republican faith that is within him.

At this rally, Sweery will present California's Republican National Committeeman, P. A. Stanton, who will be chairman of the meeting. Among the addresses that will be delivered, besides the main event of the evening, will be one by Dist.-Atty. Fickert of San Francisco.

POLITICAL TIPS.

Ex-Senator Foraker of Ohio has jumped into the race for the United States Senatorship to succeed Senator Burton, who proposes to retire from political life. There are other candidates, however, including former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, who claims to be the logical successor to Senator Burton; Freeman T. [illegible]son, former Speaker of the House of Representatives; Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate for Governor in 1910, and former Gov. Myron T. Herrick, now American Ambassador to France. Mr. Foraker is fighting against the field and though approached with the proposition that he withdraw and give the others a better chance, he obstinately refuses. He is a good fighter, too.

Pittsburgh is having its sensation. By a unanimous vote the City Council recently asked Mayor Armstrong to remove from office certain persons whom he had appointed, because they belonged to the criminal class. It was a surprise to the Mayor, as a majority of the members of the Council has stood by him in the past, and for them to say that he had brought shame upon the city dazed him for a time. In a couple of days, however, he came to himself, and in a communication to the Council accepted all responsibility for having broken his pre-election pledges, announced that he had already in his possession the resignations of several of his appointees, and that hereafter he would have nothing to do with the entangling alliances that had caused his trouble, and would be Mayor in fact. The situation created by the Council was of a most unusual character.

Terre Haute, Ind., also has its troubles. There the Mayor is on trial on a charge of conspiracy for having corrupted the elections and personally directing the action of thugs who attacked Republican voters at the last election. That scores of illegal ballots were cast in at least one ward has been proved, and men have testified that they were threatened by Mayor Roberts with assault if they did not leave the polling places. Among the charges are that unregistered persons were allowed to vote and that many changes were made in the precinct books.

Senator Broussard of Louisiana will have the unique distinction when his term expires of being the last member of the Senate who was elected under the system originally provided by the Constitution. One-third of the members will be elected under the new method this year, one-third in two years more, and the remaining third in 1918. Senator Broussard was elected two years ago, but will not take his seat for still another year.

The present Senate consists of forty-nine Democrats, forty-four Republicans, one Progressive and two vacancies—Alabama and Georgia. Representative Underwood has been elected from Alabama and the Georgia vacancy will be filled by a Democrat. This will give the Democrats fifty-one of the ninety-six members. It will therefore be necessary for the Republicans to make a net gain of five in the coming election in order to get control of the Senate. The Progressives will again have the honor of aiding the Democrats to keep control of Congress. If any one finds fault with the free-trade legislation, the Democrats can easily turn around and say the responsibility is with the Progressives, as every one knew that the Democratic belief was free trade.

President Wilson is said to have expressed a desire that the incident of the election of a Republican Congressman in New Jersey in place of Representative Brenner, deceased, be soon forgotten. As the election was on national issues, and President Wilson, in a personal letter to the Democratic candidate said he hoped the people of the district would "show their judgment with regard to the present administration," he naturally would like to forget the incident himself.

A writer in the Atlantic Monthly dissects Mr. Bryan, and says he has "an immense faith in the American tradition that the place creates the man. "How can I give you ten minutes," he is said to have asked a subordinate with important business, "when my office is crowded with men who have voted for me three times? How can I trust a Republican appointee to carry out the policies of a Democratic administration with which he is out of sympathy?" has been the sense of his defense in regard to the political appointments that he has made.

POLITICAL TIPS.

Ex-Senator Foraker of Ohio has jumped into the race for the United States Senatorship to succeed Senator Burton, who proposes to retire from political life. There are other candidates, however, including former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, who claims to be the logical successor to Senator Burton; Freeman T. Eagleson, former Speaker of the House of Representatives; Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate for Governor in 1910, and former Gov. Myron T. Herrick, now American Ambassador to France. Mr. Foraker is fighting against the field and though approached with the proposition that he withdraw and give the others a better chance, he obstinately refuses. He is a good fighter, too.

Pittsburgh is having its sensation. By a unanimous vote the City Council recently asked Mayor Armstrong to remove from office certain persons whom he had appointed, because they belonged to the criminal class. It was a surprise to the Mayor, as a majority of the members of the Council has stood by him in the past, and for them to say that he had brought shame upon the city dazed him for a time. HEAVY DRIVE IN STOCKS.

FAVORITE ISSUES UNLOADED IN LARGE AMOUNTS.

Union Pacific, Reading, Steel and Can Fall at the Lowest Figures of the Year and Quiet Recovery Follows Steadily to the Close—Bonds Show Decline.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 18.—The heavy selling movement of the week came to an end with another vigorous drive early in today's market. The favorite stocks were unloaded in large amounts, and in several cases prices were hammered down 1 to 2 points. Union Pacific, Reading, Steel and Can sold at the lowest figures of the year. This happened in the first half hour of trading. There followed a quiet recovery, which proceeded steadily to the close. Lehigh Valley and Missouri Pacific, whose weakness yesterday approached demoralization, met with support today, making net gains of more than a point each. Announcement of plans for caring for the New Haven and Missouri Pacific notes, which soon fall due, strengthened the stocks of these roads. The Mexican situation was dismissed as a factor for the time being, pending more definite developments. Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $[illegible]. Government bonds declined ¼ to 1 point on call on the week.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

The week past has seen the arrival of a number of the season's early products and the actual beginning of the fruit harvest, which promises to be a record breaker, reports on apples, plums, peaches and pears being favorable. Cherry reports also show a fine possibility. The first cherries are already spoken of in the past tense and the week at hand is expected to bring the price on the fruit down to at least 25 cents a pound and possibly lower than that. The supply of apples is diminishing fast and there are less than twenty cars still in storage, which would mean about a supply for another month. Prices are not advancing rapidly on account of the arrival of berries and other fresh fruit. Apricots are expected in another two weeks from the Imperial Valley country. Receipts of berries have been very heavy and strawberries have sold for as little as 75 cents a crate.

Eggs were firm in the trading of the morning. They were unchanged here or in the north. Receipts were only 481 cases, which makes the average for the week show a decline over the receipts of the past two months for the same period. Butter arrivals were 59,450 pounds. The call for this commodity was fair and the price in San Francisco advanced ½ cent. Here it remained unchanged. Receipts of cheese totaled only 740 pounds. A decline of 1½ cents was reported in the north on full cream which created an uneasy feeling here and will bring lower quotations during the early part of the week if no recovery is reported.

Potato arrivals amounted to 6083 sacks. About one-fourth of present receipts are from Oregon, Idaho, Utah and other outside territory has discontinued shipments. Prices are barely steady. Onion arrivals were 725 sacks and the market on Bermudas was down to $1.75. Bean arrivals were 700 sacks. Limas advanced 50 cents a hundred. Sweet potato arrivals were only thirty-three sacks and the price is now $2 a hundred on fancy stock. There were no changes in the vegetables list.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Union Oil and Producers' Transportation Bonds Reveal Stronger Tone—Market Quiet.

The market was a summer-day affair yesterday morning on the Stock Exchange. There were a few scattered trades in the low-priced oil issues, two odd-lot sales of Associated and two trades in Los Angeles Investment stock, but the most important transaction was the sale of five $1000 Union Oil fives at 87. This bond, as well as Producers' Transportation fives, was stronger. Off board, ten shares of Union Provident at $74 and ten of United Petroleum at $75, were reported to have changed hands. Of the low-priced oils United and National Pacific were stronger, while Maricopa Northern was slightly easier.

Local Stock Market Activities

That "irreducible minimum" of business that economists talk and write about, would seem to have been approximated in the local securities market during the past week. Speculation has remained at a standstill and investment demand has apparently been no more than just sufficient to meet the requirements of idle funds for which some use must be found.

There was no pressure to sell. In fact, an average of prices for the leading issues probably would indicate a trifling gain, but the change was not of sufficient importance to show any stimulating effect upon trading. The condition of the market is one where either an advance or decline of any proportions would likely bring activity, but clear indications of a change in either directon are not yet discernable.

The question of what next? is still the one generally uppermost in the minds of most traders. The oil boom that was predicted is slow in materializing. Home building stocks are out of the running, and moving-picture companies have not yet experienced any very wide demand. With this situation in most lines, mining men are growing more hopeful, and even the conservative Wall Street Journal seriously calls attention to the greater ease with which mining ventures are being financed and predicts another era of activity in mining stocks. That the public is taking more interest in legitimate mining there is no room to doubt, but whether this is about to develop into another speculative fever remains to be seen.

Stockholders of the California Portland Cement Company will vote June 4 on a proposition to increase the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

In the bank list, trading during the week included the sale of twenty shares Security Trust and Savings at $387.50, and eleven shares of Home Savings at $151. First National was bid for at $640, an advance of $15 a share over recent sales.

United Oil developed a stronger tone yesterday on news that the company had extinguished the fire that has been raging at well No. 27, which came in a week ago as a tremendous gaser. The fire was finally overcome by tunneling up to the casing and cutting off the gas below the flames. Negotiations are now under way to contract for the sale of the huge quantity of gas which this well is capable of producing.

Contraband?

TIIEIR HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS THREATENED.

Grape and Wine Men Fighting Prohibition Amendment to Save Vast Industry for Which California Has Been Famous Half a Century—Say They Believe in True Temperance and Strict Regulation.

IF THE proposed prohibition amendment should be adopted by the voters of California, the wine for which the State has been famous for half a century would become a contraband article, the property of those engaged in the viticultural industry, valued at $150,000,000, would become useless, and the State would be deprived of an annual income of $25,000,000 for wine, brandy, raisins, table grapes and other products of the vine.

The different branches of the viticulture industry are so closely related and dependent one upon the other that the destruction of the wine and brandy feature would mean the ruination of all, the experts declare. The growers of raisin and table grapes say they must have a market for their second-crop and other inferior grapes to enable them to make a profit from the high-grade business. The wine makers at present use all of the inferior stock produced by the growers of raisin and table grapes.

Threatened with this calamity, the vineyardists are making a heroic effort to save their property and protect their rights. At a meeting of grape growers and wine makers in San Francisco, February 3 last, it was the consensus of opinion that the viticultural industry should divorce itself from all entanglements and conduct a clean-cut fight for the preservation of the California grape industry.

The conference in San Francisco ended with the organization of the California Grape Protective Association, with these officers: President, G. E. Lawrence; first vice-president, Bismark Bruck; second vice-president, F. A. Lucas, third vice-president, A. Mattei; treasurer, C. H. Wente, and secretary, H. F. Stoll.

Since then more than a dozen grape protective associations have been formed to affiliate with the central organization.

The Southern California Viticultural Association, organized recently at Cucamonga, will lead the fight for the grape in this part of the State, where the industry is great. Protective associations have been organized in these counties: Alameda, Contra Costa, Kings, Madera, Mendocino, Napa, Santa Clara, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Merced and Sonoma.

The costly campaign to protect the grape is financed by the vineyardists who are contributing 10 cents a ton on all the grapes they produced during the 1913 vintage; the wine-makers who are contributing 10 cents a ton on all of the grapes they crushed at the last vintage, and by contributions from men engaged in the various associated industries.

The campaign now waged by the viticulturists is largely educational. They are seeking to impress the public with the importance of the industry, the amount of money involved, and its relation to the prosperity of California.

The vineyards of California have an area of 330,000 acres, of which 170,000 acres are planted to wine grapes, 110,000 to raisin grapes and 50,000 acres to table grapes.

At an average of $200 an acre, the vineyards represent a value of $66,000,000. Some of them might be bought for less than $200 an acre, but many of them could not be purchased for $500 an acre, so $200 an acre is considered a conservative average valuation. Packing-houses, 700 wineries and other equipment in the State bring the total viticultural investment up to $150,000,000.

There were 6363 carloads of grapes shipped out of California during the fall of 1913, and 1000 other carloads were either consumed in the State or forwarded in less than carload lots to various parts of the country.

The average net weight of a carload of table grapes is 26,000 pounds. Therefore, California vineyardists sold about 191,438,000 pounds of table grapes in the last vintage season.

The fruit-shipping companies are authority for the statement that the average gross price received for a carload of table grapes was $1250, making the total amount derived from table grapes during the last season, $9,203,750. Deducting freight, refrigeration charges and commissions for selling, it is estimated that the growers received for their packed grapes at the shipping points in California, $950 a car, or a total of $6,994,850.

The community of interest between the table and the raisin grape growers and winemakers is shown by the fact that last season the latter bought 10,000 carloads of table and raisin second-crop grapes for which a total of about $1,000,000 was paid.

More than one-half of the entire acreage of the vineyards in the State is planted to wine grapes. The total dry wine production was 25,000,000 gallons last season, for which about 180,000 tons of grapes were required. The winemakers paid the growers prices, ranging from $10 a ton, as a minimum in sweet wine sections, to $27.50 a ton in dry wine districts in the coast counties.

The production of sweet wine for 1913 was 17,134,988 gallons, requiring the use of 212,937 tons of grapes. The season's out-put of brandy was 1,544,245 gallons for which 51,475 tons of grapes, costing an average of $10 a ton, were used.

It is estimated that the winemakers paid the growers $6,000,000 for grapes in 1913. This raw material, made into wines at the 700 wineries, aged and marketed, represents a commercial value at the present market selling prices of about $15,000,000.

The raisins produced during the last season amounted to 129,074,414 pounds. The average price paid the grower for raisins is $75, making a income of $4,840,275 from raisins last year.

The value of California's table grapes, raisins and wine for 1913 was about $30,000,000. It is estimated that of this amount, $27,000,000 came from outside the State.

About 15,000 heads of families, owners, lessees and renters are engaged in the viticultural industry in the State, making, in all, about 75,000 persons directly engaged in handling the grape and its products.

Secondo Guasti, a pioneer grape grower and the president and general manager of the Italian Vineyard Company, is one of the active leaders of the grape growers' fight in Southern California. The company's 4000-acre vineyard at Guasti, in San Bernardino county, is the largest single vineyard in the United States. The vines there are growing on land that was known fifteen years ago as the Cucamonga desert district where sand used to blow across the railroad tracks and block traffic. The equipment at Guasti, used in the production of wine, includes a private railroad, five miles long, for transporting the grapes; a fermenting cellar with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons; wineries, with gigantic tanks, each having a capacity of 35,000 gallons; and much other expensive apparatus.

One of the interesting features of the viticultural activities at Guasti at the government experiment station where there are 502 varieties of grapes. This and similar experimental stations, maintained by the Department of Agriculture, helpe the growers to rehabilitate their vineyards after they had been wiped out by the vine diseases, known as phylloxera and the Anaheim disease.

"It has been the established and expressed public policy of the State of California for the past sixty years to encourage and foster grape growing," said Secretary Stoll during a visit to Los Angeles a few days ago. "Over and over again, the business has been referred to by the Legislature as 'the most important' industry 'the second industry of California' and 'a valuable industry.'

"Our Legislature has invited and urged people to come here and invest their money in this industry. Thousands of dollars have been expended by the State, and are now being expended by the State to teach people the best methods of cultivating wine grapes and making wines. The University of California teaches grape growing at the Davis Farm and wine making at Berkeley. This is the only State in the Union that has a university teaching grape growing and wine making, because California is the only part of the United States where the industry plays such an important part.

"Commissions have been appointed by our Legislature and maintained at great cost to the State, to induce people to cultivate wine grapes and invest money in the business of making wine, and to give them the knowledge pertaining thereto. Since 1877 to and including the session of 1913, there has been but one Legislature, that of 1897, that failed to make some provision for encouraging the industry of wine making.

"The grape growers of this State, whom I represent, believe in true temperance, in strict regulation, in making those who conduct saloons or sell sealed packages live up to the letter of the law in every respect. But we do not believe that it is necessary to adopt a State-wide prohibition constitutional amendment that will stop the 'manufacture, sale, giving away or transportation from one point within the State to another point within the State' of California wine.

"We have the Wiley Local Option Law on our statute books and we have the initiative and referendum so that any incorporated city or supervisoral district can promptly correct any existing evil if it desires so to do.

"The prohibitionists realize that they never could have induced our State Legislature to adopt such an unfair measure and so they have resorted to the initiative, which has made it easy for them to put this question on the ballot. They succeeded in getting the necessary signatures to their petitions principally in the counties south of the Tehachepi and are now attempting to make the people of this State believe that there is a State-wide demand for prohibition.

"Under the proposed prohibition constitutional amendment, however, wine would be a contraband article. You couldn't have it in your home unless on a doctor's prescription. If you had an extra drop or two, you wouldn't dare give it to any one.

"Our winemen could not manufacture their grapes into wine, or ship the wine they now have from one point within the State to another, say from Cucamonga to Los Angeles.

"Eugene Chafin and some of the other dry leaders have been telling the growers that grape juice will take care of the wine grapes and the surplus table and raisin grapes. This statement is so absurd that it seems incredible that any sane person would dare to utter it.

"In the whole United States today only about 2,000,000 gallons of grape juice is made. If we did as Mr. Chafin and the others advised, we would find ourselves with 73,000,000 gallons of grape juice on our hands, and I would like to know how we could ever hope to dispose of it, when we can't get rid of the 2,000,000 gallons we produce in the United States today.

"The output in California today is under 100,000 gallons. This is principally due to the fact that we do not make palatable grape juice in California. Plants have been started in Lodi, Modesto, Kingsburg, Rochester and Cucamonga and after periods ranging from three to five years, the ventures were given up, because they could not continue to produce juice which nobody would buy."

LETTER-WRITING CHIEF PLEASURE.

TWO TO HUSBAND EVERY DAY WIFE IS AWAY.

Woman Averages Ten Letters a Day and Takes Greater Enjoyment in Sending Than in Receiving Them — Seldom Writes Note, Usually Lengthy Epistle.

Letter writing is an absorbing passion with Mrs. M. T. Bernard of Omaha. She writes an average of ten a day the year round. Every day that she is away from home she writes two letters to her husband, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. She mails a letter to her daughter regularly every day.

Mrs. Bernard's sister in New York gets four letters a week from her. Twenty other friends and relatives receive missives from her regularly. Her bill for postage stamps is $6 a month, or about $75 a year.

"My chief pleasure in life is letter-writing," Mrs. Bernard said yesterday at the Hayward. "It is a great pleasure, of course, to receive letters from your loved ones, but I must admit that I derive more pleasure from writing letters than from receiving them. With respect to letters it is more blessed for me to give than to receive.

"I have been away from home now about seven weeks. During that time I have written two letters a day to my husband. I mail one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. I receive one letter a day from him and consider that he is doing quite well to write that often."

Mrs. Bernard says that frequently she writes several letters before breakfast, and that it is not unusual for her to be engaged in writing at the midnight hour.

Many of Mrs. Bernard's letters are long. She seldom writes a "note." She believes that her letters will average 500 words each, and that the number of words written by her daily is about 5000. She writes rapidly. Often it is necessary for her to dictate to a stenographer. She owns a typewriter which she uses for rapid work in writing letters. She says that her friends and relatives know that she has a long list of correspondents and that they do not insist on receiving letters from her written in "long hand."

"When I travel around I like my friends to know what I have seen. I take great pleasure in writing descriptive letters. After an eventful day I like to tell somebody about it. I think that my most interesting letters are written near midnight. It is quiet then and the happenings of the day are vivid in the mind and I can describe them with color.

"Whenever my letter-writing becomes a burden or an unpleasant task then I will quit it. I do not write letters from a sense of duty, but purely for pleasure. If it ever ceases to be a pleasure then I will turn my attention to some other form of recreation."

CAR DOORS NOT FOR HIM.

Stout Passenger Sticks in Exit; Will Now Eschew New Fangled Narrow-Door Rolling Stock.

Is the new breed of street cars, on which the conductor arbitrates the in-goings and out-comings of passengers by means of patent doors, a success?

One fat man living out on Grand avenue does not think so. He boarded last night for the first time a car of the species running on Grand avenue. He is going to sit on the curb and watch that kind go by, hereafter. For his measure never was taken when they made those out-going doors.

He got in all right and when he reached his destination at Central Park he rose unsuspiciously and signaled the conductor he wanted to get out. The conductor obligingly turned the crank and opened the doors. The fat passenger looked at the aperture as a fox terrier regards a gopher hole. Then he looked down dubiously at his own dimensions. He was game; he tried and met his fate like a man.

But, alas, he stuck!

The conductor tried to hurry him. "Step lively!" he said.

The fat man, red and gasping, retorted, "Step nothin'! Can't you see I can't step at all?"

By this time an audience had gathered outside and a sympathetic bystander, coming to the rescue, pulled while the conductor pushed. Nothing doing.

Then, suddenly, the fat man fell back upon the conductor with a squashing sound.

"Lemme out!" he bawled wrathfully. "Drat your canary cage, lemme out a real door!"

And, glaring balefully at the trembling conductor, he went out, against all the laws of the company, the way he had come in.

This Looks Like Wealth for Local Flower Growers.

Millions in New Markets Are Awaiting Enterprise.

Golden Experience of Riviera May Be Repeated.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) April 14.—Suggestive of what flower growers of Los Angeles county and the whole of Southern California could do in the way of creating new and profitable markets is a report just received by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce telling of the profitable flower industry on the French and Italian Riviera. From a statement issued by M. Aussel, secretary of the French Floral Industry League, it would appear that the value of the flowers annually dispatched from the Riviera is no less than $12,000,000. This vast industry flourishes between November and May. The Department of Commerce is of the opinion that the cut-flower industry of the United States could be extensively extended during the same period.

Why, for example, could not the flower growers of Southern California find markets in winter in northern sections of the United States and in Canada? "In the domestic field the new parcel post convenience affords opportunity for a great expansion in the interstate trade in cut flowers," observes the department. "Very little has been done as yet in shipping open-culture-grown flowers from the South to northern cities. Some few tuberoses, gardenias or cape jasmine and violets have been thus shipped, but the total traffic is yet small."

MILLIONS IN IT.

As showing the enormous extent of the trade in cut flowers done between Southern and Northern Europe, it is pointed out that the average number of boxes of flowers dispatched from the various French Riviera stations between November and May in each year is 2,000,000. As the average value of each box is 16 francs, or $3.09, the total commercial value of the flowers sold from the French Riviera every year is $6,200,000. From the Italian side no fewer than 1,000,000 boxes were dispatched in 1913, the commercial value of which was $5,800,000.

Dealing more particularly with the French trade, M. Aussel says that apart from roses, carnations and violets sent away, flowers to the value of $1,550,000 are utilized annually by the local perfumery and preserved-sweet factories. The average annual net profits made out of the French floral trade on the Riviera by the actual growers is $2,725,000, but most of the Riviera flower growers likewise raise early vegetables and fruit and the profit from trade in the latter is estimated to be no less than $1,168,000, so that the average annual total profits of the growers are put at $3,893,000.

Paris is the biggest customer for Riviera flowers, with Berlin and London ranking very close to it. Formerly Vienna and other Austrian cities were good customers of the French Riviera, but Austria now takes all her winter flowers from the Italian Riviera. The competition of the Italian flower trade is giving the French growers some concern. Nevertheless the French Riviera is a rival of the Italian Riviera even in Italy itself. The French growers export to Rome and Milan a considerable number of boxes of flowers because certain special varieties are produced by them which are not grown in Italy.

Russia is another good customer of the Riviera flower growers, despite the great distance which the cut flowers have to be sent. The report says:

PACK FLOWERS IN WOOL.

"Owing to a more effective system of packing in wool, the French Riviera flower trade with Russia is annually increasing, notwithstanding the fact that it takes eighty-seven hours for a box of Riviera flowers to reach St. Petersburg. Only the most beautiful and most expensive blooms are sent to Russia. It takes forty-eight hours for a box of Nice flowers to reach London or Berlin and twenty-one hours to reach Paris.

"Sometimes the winter is too mild, even for the Riviera, and a sudden rise in temperature causes a glut in production for which there is no outlet. This means a fall in market value and loss of profit, the growers being obliged to sell their surplus production to the perfumery factories at any prices. Then, again, the winter flower trade is too centralized, Paris, London and Berlin being the three principal centers. Efforts are now being made to prevent congestion by opening up new markets in France, England and Germany.

"Another drawback is the great difficulty of keeping the flowers fresh during railroad transport in mild weather. Often during mild winters the flowers, despite all precautions in packing, arrive at their destination in a faded condition and are therefore unsalable. The loss from this cause is very considerable.

FLORAL COLD STORAGE.

"With a view to obviating this loss it is proposed to adopt a system of cold storage. In the course of various trials it was found that if flowers, immediately on being cut, were placed in cold storage from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, they afterward preserved their freshness much better, even after a long railroad journey in mild weather. Another advantage of cold storage was that the growers were enabled in periods of glut to keep out flowers for two or three days before dispatching them.

"With a view to developing the cold-storage principle the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Railroad was asked by the various commercial syndicates interested in the flower trade, to place a cold-storage train daily at the disposal of the growers instead of the special daily flower train that now exists.

"The railroad company replied that it would have to raise its tariff, and that a five-kilo (eleven-pound) parcel of flowers, which now, under the parcel post rates, is carried from Nice to Paris for 16 cents, would, if carried by cold-storage vans, cost 25 cents. The growers cannot afford to pay such a tariff, but have offered to take a certain number of cold-storage vans daily from the company with a minimum guarantee of $78 per van from Nice to Paris. The railroad company has agreed to make a trial on this basis."

In view of these facts it would appear that Southern California flower growers might make a successful effort to cultivate new markets in the winter as far east as Chicago and Kansas City, and north to Minneapolis, St. Paul and even Winnipeg in Canada.

REVIVE THE MEMORIES OF LONG AGO.

The remarkable offering by The Los Angeles Times of the famous song book entitled "Heart Songs" should interest every Times reader. The book contains 400 of the world's greatest songs, and never before has sold for less than $2.50 per copy. For a limited time, however, this splendid book can be obtained by Times readers for 98 cents (by mail, 10 cents extra for postage,) the bare cost of distribution, and one coupon clipped from the daily or Sunday Times. One of the coupons is printed elsewhere in this issue.

"Heart Songs" is not a mere collection of music and words, but it is a song book with a soul. Every song in this wonderful book has had some sacred memory, some touching experience, some sweet and hallowed association connected with it in the hearts of thousands. It is their song of joy—of sorrow—of thanksgiving—of love—of bereavement—of homecoming—or reunion—of all the tender sentiments that lift the human heart in worship to its Maker.

It is for this, by inspiration, that this unique volume is entitled "Heart Songs."

Already more than 100,000 copies of this unique volume have gone into the homes of the people of the United States at the publisher's retail price of $2.50 per volume. The merits of the book are such that the sales are steadily on the increase, and in the ordinary course of business, the book will obtain an enormous circulation.

"Heart Songs" is one of the great books of the century. It will charm, entertain and instruct every member of the family. It has 500 large pages, including over 400 selections, words and music, and is now being distributed by The Times to its friends and readers at a nominal price.

The book is now on display at The Times main and branch offices, First and Broadway and No. 619 South Spring street, where additional information can be obtained relative to this splendid offer.

STANFORD IN WHIRLWIND MEET OVERWHELMS U. C.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PALO ALTO, April 18.—Stanford won the intercollegiate track meet from California on the Stanford oval this afternoon by the score of 66 5-6 to 55 1-6.

The Cardinals took the heavy end of the score in the sprints, hurdles, quarter, half, relay, shotput and pole vault; the Blue and Gold men, in the two-mile, broad jump, high jump and hammer throw.

With the score tied at the beginning of the half-mile, that race marked the most exciting moment of the meet. Bonnett got the pole at the start, but lost it to Cuendett on the first straightaway. Bonnett fought to pass him throughout both laps, but failed until the last 100 was reached, when he gained a lead of two yards, breaking the Coast record with a time of 1m. 54 3-5s.

Wilson set a new Stanford-California record in the mile, when he broke the tape in 4m. 20 1-5s.

"Skin" Wilson drew a six-yard lead at the straightaway, keeping the pole throughout the major part of the race, but with Harry Wood constantly fighting him for it.

At the beginning of the last lap the pair led the pack by twenty-five yards, Wilson finishing five yards before Wood, with Wright four yards behind the latter. Wilson's time beats his mark of last season—4m. 26 3-5s, the Sanford-California record—by 6 2-5s.

RECORDS SMASHED.

Bob Krohn bettered the long-standing Stanford-California record in the pole vault by 7½ inches, when he cleared 12ft. 8½in. His form in topping the bar was perfect and next to Borgstrom of U.S.C., he is probably the prettiest vaulter on the Coast.

Fred Murray broke the intercollegiate record of 25 1-5s. made by "Herb" Whitted of Stanford, last spring, by crossing the low sticks in 24 4-5s. Norton took second as was expected. McClise, Maker and Hovens, California men doped to place, did not show up and Knapp won third for California by beating Sam Halstead over the last hurdle.

Stanford's four-man relay team set a new Stanford-California record for the mile, when it covered that distance in 3m. 21 3-5s.

Straube got the pole for California at the start, but Gard led him for the first lap by one yard. Wolcott gained four yards for Stanford at the start of the second lap, but lost all but a few inches to Meyer. Murray got the pole and finished the third lap with a fifteen-yard lead over Cuendett. In spite of this lead Chace was able to finish with only a half-yard.

McKee captured the 100 with his last year's time of 10 flat. Stanton was a yard behind him and Campbell led all others. Campbell beat Stanton out by a yard in the 220 in even time and Grant, a freshman not doped for place, won his letter with an easy lead over the pack. With Richdale leading at the last turn of the 440, Chace and Clark passed him for first and second. Campbell pulled up from sixth and broke the tape, leaving Chace as second with only about three inches over Clark.

The two-mile, hammer and the jumps did not surprise the dopesters, but nine points in the hammer upset all calculations.

SUMMARY.

Mile run—Won by Wilson (S.,) Wood (C.) second, Wright (C.) third; time, 4m. 20 1-5s. Broke Stanford-California record of 4m. 26 3-5s. held by Wilson (S.)

The 120-yard high hurdles—Won by Murray (S.,) Preble (C.) second, Norton (S.) third; time, 15 2-5s.

The 100-yard dash—Won by McKee (S.,) Stanton (C.) second, Campbell (S.) third; this ties the intercollegiate record with time, 10s. flat.

Pole vault—Won by Krohn (S.,) Gibbs (C.) second, Saylor (S.,) Graves (C.) and Nichols (C.) tied for third; height, 12ft. 8½in. Krohn now trying for world's record. Krohn broke Stanford-California record of 12ft. 6¼in. held by Scott (S.)

The 440-yard dash—Won by Campbell (S.,) Chase (S.) second, Clark (C.) third; time, 50 1-5s.

Half-mile run—Won by Bonnett (S.,) Cunditte (C.) second, Crabbe (C.) third; time, 1m. 54 3-5s., breaking Coast record of 1m. 56 2-5s., held by Edmundson of Seattle.

Hammer throw—Won by Coolidge (C.,) Wiley (C.) second, King (S.) third; distance, 157ft. 6in. Score: Stanford, 32; California, 31.

Two-mile run—Won by Wood (C.,) Swain (C.) second, Foster (S.) third; time, 9m. 59 3-5s.

The 220-yard low hurdles—Won by Murray (S.,) Norton (S.) second, Knapp (C.) third; time, 24 4-5s.,

L. A. Gas & Electric Corporation

Operate Six Packard TRUCKS

Since the purchase of the first of the six in 1910, those Packards have given splendid satisfaction.

This fact deserves especial mention, as the nature of the activities of the L. A. Gas & Electric Corp., requires an ALL-YEAR-ROUND service.

That Packard spells maximum service, is most evident from the sale of FOUR MILLION DOLLARS' worth of trucks during the last fiscal year.

All Packard cars use any grade of gasoline, motor spirits or distillate with the regular Packard carburetor and without special appliances or adjustments.

ALWAYS READY IS DECLARED.

Sailors Joy Ride and Then Are Called Away.

Many Automobiles at Harbor Celebration.

The soldier, the sailor and the automobile are always ready for service.

When the Los Angeles Harbor was dedicated last Saturday, a week ago, automobiles as well as soldiers and sailors took part in the programme. The Paul Jones, Truxton and Stewart were at Wilmington. The Machine Gun Company, Co. F, Seventh Regiment, and Battery A, N.G.C., were all called out to help make a real dedication day; and the motor car hauled the soldiers and a large share of the visitors to Wilmington.

Always Ready.

Buick among those present.

Above, Lieut. Sterling S. Boothe and Capt. Frederick Gallum of the Seventh Regiment Machine Gun Company. Below, H. W. Tuttle of the Howard Automobile Co., at the wheel of the Buick racer, joy riding sailor lads who took part in the harbor dedication ceremonies and sailed last Thursday for Mexican waters. The bluejackets are Clarence Eneking, John Korshine and J. D. Solomon of the U.S.S. Truxton.

It was estimated that there were 6000 automobiles and motor trucks at Wilmington during the day.

H. W. Tuttle of the Howard Automobile Company went down to do his share toward making the day's programme interesting. He annexed a small squad of sailor lads and spent the afternoon joy-riding them about the harbor district, in his racing Buick.

An official pass was secured for Tuttle and with this, the Buick made trips through the lines and out to the wharf, where the fighting ships were docked. Clarence Eneking, John Korshin and J. D. Solomon of the U.S.S. Truxton, took the automobile man aboard and made him a near sailor.

A visit was then paid to the camp of the Machine Gun Company and Capt. Gallum's horse created a riot when the Buick kicked up too much smoke and the car had to withdraw to a place behind the schoolhouse.

Four days later, there was a flurry and there was no more automobiling for the sailor lads. The Truxton steamed out of the harbor for a session in Mexican waters. The storm did not break and the Machine Gun Company has not been called upon, but Capt. Gallum says that his men are ready and Tuttle says the Buick is always ready.

Hard Climb.

DEBUT TRIP UP MOUNTAINS.

TRUCKS TO MAKE DAILY RUN UP STEEP TRAIL.

Work of Motor Trucks on Road Up Mt. Wilson Is Praised by Man Who Has Charge of the Construction Work on the Building Which Is to House World's Greatest Telescope.

The road up Mt. Wilson was open for travel for the first time in three months Thursday and one of the Mack trucks owned by the Observatory made its initial trip of the season to the top of the mountain.

The heavy winter rains always put this road out of commission and this season long stretches were carried away. The trucks have only been able to get about half-way up, but Thursday the first round trip was made.

From now on the two Mack trucks will make daily trips, carrying steel up the mountain for the building of the tower that is to house the largest telescope in the world.

Two hundred tons of steel for the structural work is now on the ground and will be carried to the top by the Observatory's trucks. This is to be used for the building of the substructure. Next year the remaining 600 tons will be taken up for the completion of the hundred-foot dome.

Most of the steel is in long columns, which makes climbing the hill very difficult. Many of the turns are so sharp it is necessary to back several times before the trucks can get around.

"These trucks are a wonderful assistance in our work," said George D. Jones, who has charge of the building. "Without them it would be a problem. With the machines we now have, we are able to carry capacity loads on every trip. Each truck will make a trip a day, carrying from three to four tons of steel."

Shawnee Polo Club of Kansas City, Mo., is the first club of that city devoted exclusively to the promotion of the sport.

New Idea.

STANDARDIZED CARS SOLD WITHOUT LIFTING HOOD.

EARL Y. BOOTHE, local agent for the National, Marion and Lewis motor cars, has entered upon a novel system of salesmanship in the attempt to dispose of his standard cars without raising the hoods. "Why open them," says Boothe, "when all are alike, built as uniformly in their types as so many watches?

"Who opens watches when buying? How many springs, gear wheels and adjuncts has your watch, or what is the special design of either? You do not know, and you don't care. All you ask is that it keeps correct time and keeps running.

"So it should be with a machine. We deliver one capable of running indefinitely, if properly treated, and you may take it on faith, as you did your watch.

"We believe that we can sell National cars on their performance alone, and there is no more need of raising the hood than there is of exposing the works of a Victrola. Our departure is not so radical as it may seem."

Made Good.

DROVE CAR UP STEEP HILL IN POWER TEST.

WHILE on a trip last Sunday into the canyons back of Saugus, F. M. Headlee of the Chalmers-Los Angeles Company tested the nerve of a party of friends who had accompanied him on a hard demonstration with the new 1915 Chalmers "Light Six."

The new car was being given its first hard tryout since its arrival. After putting the car through its paces, Headlee suggested a test which proved so startling that he was forced to take it alone.

The machine had been tried on the level stretches for speed and had dug its way out of deep sand. They were well in the hills and had stopped for luncheon. A rancher drove by and Headlee stopped him and asked him if there were any unusually hard hills in the vicinity.

"Wal, yes," was the reply. "There is Williams Hill; we call it Jumbo Hill. Ain't been but one car up it, and it had some trouble."

Headlee loaded in the party after luncheon and they started for Jumbo Hill.

It was so well named that when the rest of the party had taken one look they scrambled out of the car and informed Headlee that he could make that part of the trip alone.

Headlee knew it was about the worst hill he had ever tried to climb, but he put the little Chalmers in the low and went to the top without hesitating. There was no way of measuring the climb, but the members of the party say it is much more than the old Newhall grade and the roadway was nothing more than a trail worn by a horse and wagon that goes up about once a week.

NEW OWNERS FOR SUPPLY STATIONS

The National supply stations are now owned entirely by Earle C. Anthony and Harold L. Arnold. A deal was closed yesterday whereby Don Lee, Cuyler Lee and P. T. Prather, who had been equal owners with Anthony and Arnold, disposed of their interests. The stations were established several months ago in Los Angeles, Pasadena and Oakland. They are also to be placed in other California cities.

WIRELESS ORDER PUTS CAR MOVING.

The first motor delivery car order to be sent by wireless was recently received by the Commerce Motor Car Company of Detroit, through their western sales manager, W. E. Kenyon, while at Seattle.

The buyer, a department store at Friday Harbor, is located on an island at one of the extreme northwestern points of the United States.

Five hours after the order had been transmitted to Detroit the car was en route.

CHALMERS "SIX"

His favorite stunt.

TRY to find out when you buy a motor car what percentage of its price is represented in actual intrinsic value—and what percentage of it goes to pay interest on bond issues, dividends or excessive capitalization and heavy selling expense.

The Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company has no indebtedness of any kind. It has ample resources to enable it to manufacture most economically.

Hence it is able to put a dollar of actual value into the Paige car for every dollar of its selling price.

You will appreciate this at once when you check up the Paige car point by point with cars of higher price.

You will note for instance the bigness and beauty of the Paige design—the strength and character represented in its outward appearance—

You will be delighted with the richness of the finish and the quality of the upholstery.

Going deeper into structural features you will find the multiple disc cork insert clutch—the silent chain drive to motor shaft—the large unit electric lighting and starting system—the compact, unit power plant and the extremely high grade equipment—all features you ordinarily expect to find only in cars costing $2000 or more.

And after you have gone this far you will be fully ready for a demonstration and an order blank.

The JEFFERY Light Four Started Them All Going

Ideas, like the Sun, travel west. You can go over to London or Paris almost any day, pick up a new idea and if you take the fastest steamer, beat that idea back to New York; but you will have to keep on traveling some or it will get to Reno before you do. When the Jeffery Company sent its engineers to Europe a year ago to gather the soundest, tested and proven ideas of the best mechanics over there, we did not anticipate that we were starting a movement which would spread throughout America like wild fire and dominate the automobile industry before twelve months had passed.

When the Jeffery Company adopted the light weight, high speed, mono-bloc motor for the JEFFERY FOUR and produced a car for $1700 that had never before been duplicated for less than $2500, it sounded the death knell in America of the heavy Four, as well as that makeshift, the cheap so-called light Six, lacking quality and selling because it "looks like a lot of automobile for the money."

This struggle of the Fours and Sixes has to a large degree befogged the real issue in the public mind. Some automobile salesmen have taken advantage of this discussion of the relative merits of the Fours against the Sixes, in order to avoid a discussion on the real question in any car, whether it be a Four or Six—quality.

The Jeffery people were smart enough to build both Sixes and Fours, putting into each the best materials obtainable—materials heretofore found only in cars selling for two or three times Jeffery prices.

We know that you can buy a good Six if you pay enough for it. The triumph of the JEFFERY SIX is that it is built from the materials and with the high grade workmanship of these big, heavy, expensive-to-buy and expensive-to-run Sixes, yet it sells for only $2400, and is light and economical. The designers, manufacturers and men behind the machines know that you can't buy a good Six for any less. They know, too, that it is possible for a factory like the JEFFERY with unlimited capital behind the product and a consuming desire to do so, to produce a real, high grade Four in quantities and sell it for $1700.

The wise buyer of this spring and summer, the man who wants a car that will be up-to-date a year or two years from now, will find out what designers are figuring on for 1915, because you know, of course, that the designers are always a year ahead of the salesmen who must sell the cars that are on their sales floors today, even though they know they are not in accord with modern designing ideas.

The answer for the wise buyer is found in the trade papers almost every issue—high speed, light weight, economical four cylinder motor is the power plant.

The only car in America built according to the latest practices of American and European designers—the only car in America which embodies the ideals of the designer who is burning midnight oil nowadays, is the JEFFERY FOUR.

That is why it is quite truthful to say that the JEFFERY FOUR started them all going.

They seemed undecided about the route be followed and I believe the time for us to show the desire among motorists to see Southern California.

For his series of pictures Mr. English is using several models. Later is to go into the mountains and some of the scenic mountain to the collection.

MOTOR TAX LAWS OR PATENT SALE.

OF STATUTES IN NINE STATES.

to Be Restricted to Foot Rays, and Contact Disks Required, Six Dozen of 'Em, in the Inevitable Accident—But Not in California, Already Yet.

Automobile legislation is running in some commonwealths of the Union, there having been introduced the law-making bodies of only nine States, since January, 160 bills affecting motor vehicles and highways. Laws requiring lights on vehicles at night, warning signs at dangerous on highways, State Highway Commissions or similar bodies, are numerous. But the bulk of such legislation seems directed toward taxing motor vehicles, and compelling owners to attack certain patented devices to their machines.

New Jersey threatens a law that headlights must not cast rays higher than five feet above the ground—a patent attachment securing that result.

Another patent is advanced in the same State by a proposed statute requiring every automobile to "have attached on the front a practical accident-recording device that will enable at least seventy-two identification in the form of regulation to be scattered upon coming in contact with any object."

Protection to the public, and driver as well, has heretofore been best secured by the use of powerful headlights, but Rhode Island now proposes to forbid the operation of any car "in which there are lights attached of such candle-power as will rays 200 feet ahead."

"You are damned if you do, and damned if you don't," would be an appropriate slogan for some lobby-

FLYER ARTIST TAKES ON CAR.

DE LLOYD THOMPSON TO MOTOR HIS AERO CIRCUIT.

Well-Known Aviator to Have Regular American-Built Chassis and Engine Equipped with Wire Wheels and Special Semi-Racing Body.

De Lloyd Thompson, latest aerial loop-the-loop star, is going to join the list of celebrities owning Hupmobiles.

Through the Greer-Robbins Company, local distributors, the skyman yesterday began negotiations with the Hupp Motor Car Company for a specially-constructed Hupmobile. This machine will be used by Thompson in his trips around the United States this summer, and is to be taken abroad when he goes to England next fall.

Thompson's plan is to take a regular Hupmobile chassis, with its thirty-two-horse-power engine, and equip it with wire wheels and a semi-racing body. A detachable trunk will be part of the equipment. When the "jumps" between exhibitions are short the air wizard will use his car instead of the railroad as a means of transportation. His extensive wardrobe will be carried on the rear in the trunk.

If the little car develops a speed in excess of sixty-five miles an hour it will be used in exhibition work as well as for traveling. Thompson will show at all the big fairs in the Middle West and East, and if there is any call for him to race his biplane against an automobile he will press the Hup into service.

Last year Thompson used a $7000 imported car in his wanderings. At the end of the season he checked up and found that the expense of keeping it running had been enormous.

NEW BUILDING FOR SECOND-HAND CARS.

The Winton Motor Car Company has secured the salesroom and garage at 1225-31 South Flower street for temporary use as a second hand car department.

This company is planning to build a new building in order to secure larger facilities, but for the present Manager H. L. Owesney will endeavor to get along with the two buildings.

The old place will be used for new cars and the service department.

In San Diego.

CAR IS PULLED WITH INNER TUBE UP HILL.

THE new product of the Savage Tire Company of San Diego was put to a severe test in the southern city last week.

To test the quality of the new Red Graphite inner tube for the benefit of a number of visitors to the factory, officials of the Savage company planned a demonstration which has attracted widespread attention.

A street car weighing 13,000 pounds was pulled up a 1½ per cent. grade by one of the new Savage inner tubes. The tube was looped over a revolving drum on the car and hooked onto a steam roller by means of a coupler. Not only did the tube stand the strain, but when the steam roller stopped on the grade, the contraction of the rubber pulled the car up about eighteen inches. The valve and splice showed no effects of the severe strain and the tube stood the air test afterwards.

The test was made in front of the car barns and the grade and weight of the car were given out by officials of the road as correct.

A large crowd witnessed the demonstration and motion pictures were made for several of the news picture weeklies.

The first 1000 of these Red Graphite tubes have just been turned out of the factory and a large shipment is due at the local Savage branch this week. At present the factory is turning out about forty tubes a day; but additions are being made to the factory and according to A. W. Savage, president of the company, they will be putting out 200 a day in two months. It is claimed by many that by the first of the year the San Diego factory will be putting out 1000 inner tubes a day.

These tubes are made of extra heavy red rubber. Graphite is worked into the facing of the tube, giving it a steel-gray color. No powder is required with these tubes, which are expected to find instant favor with California motorists.

—THE CALL OF THE ROAD

With the advent of spring comes the irresistible call of the road—then the inevitable spring rush for automobiles.

Do not let your haste prevent you from going into the car question thoroughly—it's an important purchase and requires the exercise of your best judgment.

You will be acting unwisely if you commit yourself to any car before you have seen this year's KisselKar models — the best values on the market.

If you fancy a moderate-priced "Four" that outstrips any "Four" on the market in style, riding quality and engine supremacy, the KisselKar "40" at $2000 is your car.

If it is a light "Six" you have in mind, the limit of smooth, quiet action, of refinement, convenience and completeness is the KisselKar "48" at $2500.

If it is a big "Six" that can hold its own with any car at any price, under any conditions, the KisselKar "60" at $3300 should be your choice.

Hupmobile

This Happens Often

Tried one Hup. Threw out all the others; and made it all Hups.

Hup's One Cent a Mile

The other cars had gone backward three times as much.
That was the last straw—the others went out and Hups came in.
This concern proved scientifically what every Hup owner knows by actual experience.
That's why they're worth more second hand.

MOTOR MAN VISITS A LOCAL DEALER.

John Teeter, president of the Teeter Motor Company of Hagerstown, Ind., spent last Thursday visiting the local beaches as the guest of W. J. Burt, the local Auburn distributor. The Auburn car is equipped with the Teeter motor and the president of the company is to spend about four weeks in this city, making his headquarters at the Auburn agency.

At present Mr. Teeter is visiting relatives who reside out at Ontario.

KEEP THE COLOR.

The car with its color showing original purity of tone, unfaded and unbleached, with no cracks or fissures extending into its film, with its striping or decorative effects intact and showing, as many surfaces do, only a warm and possibly slightly fractured varnish surface will require, as a rule, merely rubbing down with water and pulverized pumice, thorough washing, abrasions of the surface touched with a bit of the original body color, and then given a heavy coat of some reliable body finishing varnish. Such a treatment will suffice to carry the car over the summer in fine condition, and in contrast to the hit or miss practice prevalent in many parts of the country of coating the car up with color and putting on a couple of coats of varnish may be considered not only economical, but ultimately a real advantage in several ways.

SPEEDWAY TRAIN ONE WAY ONLY.

Leon T. Shettler, chairman of the Racing Committee of the Western Automobile Association, announced yesterday that the W.A.A. special de luxe train, which is to carry Los Angeles motor race enthusiasts to the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, would probably be changed to a one-way special.

Many of those who have reserved accommodations have expressed a desire to remain in the East later than the date set for the return of the special.

DOUSING GLIMS.

Turn off acetylene lights quickly; do not allow them to die out gradually, or a tarry substance will be deposited in the burners, which will eventually harden and clog up the passages. Especially in generators should the lamps be extinguished quickly. A good plan is to cut off the flow of gas altogether for a moment by pinching the rubber tube, thus extinguishing the flame instead of allowing it to die out slowly after the generator is put out of operation.

SAN DIEGO WEEK-END TOUR POPULAR THING.

Los Angeles Party in Winton Makes Run to Southern Exposition City and Well-Known Automobile Man Predicts Record-Breaking Motor Car Traffic for Excellent Highway.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

ONE of the most enjoyable week-end tours for the Los Angeles motorist, is the run to San Diego and return.

H. L. Owesney, Pacific Coast manager for the Winton company, made the run last week in a big Winton "Six" with a party of friends and pronounced it the greatest tour of the kind in the land. By going down the coast and returning over the valley route, there is variety of scenery. It is not a hard trip and it is claimed that this tour will be popular with the tourists who visit the California expositions next season.

SOME BUNCH.

In the Winton party with the Pacific Coast manager, were Dr. A. J. Turnball, J. Burris Mitchell, "Dad" Perry, Frederick Pabst and "Dutch" Gilelen. They left the Los Angeles Athletic Club at noon. The first stop was at San Juan Capistrano. Members of the party wished to look over the ruins of the old mission and incidentally eat a cookie and lemonade luncheon.

This stop was a near disaster. Owesney fell asleep in the shade of the palms and delayed the game an hour. The doctor met an old friend in the soft-voiced waiter and "Mitch" met an old schoolmate.

The new State highway is being built from both ends. The roads are in excellent condition almost to Capistrano. The San Luis Rey road is the popular route at present into Oceanside.

From Oceanside to the foot of the Torrey Pines grade, the paved highway is a perfect speedway. The road on into San Diego through La Jolla is in good condition, althoug paved.

OLD CANYON ROAD.

The crowd in the Winton took the old Rose Canyon road instead of the La Jolla route. This is not the best piece of roadway, but the scenery is beautiful. For miles, the big machine plowed its way through the mustard growth that fringed and overhung the narrow roadway.

The Grant Hotel was the destination of the party in San Diego. arrived early in the evening and after a dinner the car was again put in service. Owesney wanted to see the town with the candles burning.

The next morning all hands were on the job early. A visit to the Savage tire factory, a run over to Coronado and an inspection of the exposition grounds, then the journey was started up the valley route.

POINTS OF INTEREST.

There are many points of interest in and around San Diego that are of interest to the average motorist. San Diego Mission, seven miles up the valley, Point Loma, around the bay through Coronado and Imperial Beach, historic Old Town and La Jolla. It is almost impossible to see all of these in one day.

When the exposition opens main attraction will be there during the coming summer, ands of automobile parties pected to make the run to San over the new State highway, about noon on Saturday and ing Sunday evening.

Dr. Turnball was so well with the trip that he is now on a plan to have a fleet of touring cars operating between Angeles and San Diego exposition. These machines run down one route and other.

It is believed that the of motor travel over the roads will appeal to making the round trip in Dr. Turnball expects to keep busy.

Rates Reduced.

AUTO CLUB PUTS OVER OWER INSURANCE AC

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA motorists have found a remedy for high insurance rates against fire, theft and collision.

They have sought refuge in the membership of the Automobile Club of Southern California, there taking advantage of the reduced rates of the club's inter-insurance department.

This department has found it possible to give insurance at rates 30 per cent. lower than the lowest rate of any old-line company, and is considered one of the greatest advantages of becoming a member of the powerful auto organization. With the elimination of agency expenses, officers' salaries, dividends and high overhead costs, the lowering of rates has been made feasible.

When the Auto Club officials, in an effort to aid local motorists, established this inter-insurance exchange a little more than a year ago, many friends of the organization felt that the move was doomed to failure.

The result has been exactly the opposite. Since then the Auto Club has forced the old-line companies on the Coast to lower their rates, while at the same time the club has lowered its own rates. The saving of large sums to club members, comprised of Southern California motorists, has justified the installation of the insurance department in addition to the map service, sign work and touring information.

During the month of March, a year ago, 250 motorists took out insurance in the Automobile Club exchange. It cost 193 of these, whose policies continued until March of this year, a total of $8826.11. This same insurance in any of the old-line companies would have totaled $12,6 initial saving to this 193 was almost $4000.

These policies expired March this year, and at that time L. Mitchell, secretary of the Club, signed checks for a fund totaling $2,861.88.

This makes a total amount these motorists have saved insurance of more than $400 are enjoying the novelty returned to them a cash seems to be a very large when it is considered that possible rates are given overhead expense, and son for this saving is

YOUNG DEALER EVENS SCORE WITH MAGNAT

THE sudden departure of F. L. Pierce, general sales manager for the Regal Motor Car Company, from Los Angeles last week, has been explained by Roscoe Anthony of the local Regal agency.

At the annual convention of Regal distributors, held at the factory a few weeks ago, young Anthony was called upon to head the list of speakers. Oratory not being in his line, and being somewhat awed in the presence of so many celebrities, Roscoe struck out. LOS ANGELES MAN MAKES MOTOR DASH TO LIBERTY.

THREE HUNDRED miles through war-ridden Mexico with $50,000 in gold under the rear seat of a Peerless touring car was the experience of L. F. Converse, who is now in Los Angeles. Converse, after this experience, was only too ready to get back into the United States, and he says he will remain here until the war is over.

Converse was chief clerk in the engineering department of the North Power Company of Santa Rosalie. Four thousand men were employed by the company and the arrival of pay day found the necessary money at Parrol Jimenez, 300 miles away. The driver of the Peerless car used by this company, was instructed to make the trip and bring the money.

As the revolutionary forces were very active less than a hundred miles from Santa Rosalie, the regular driver refused to make the run. Converse volunteered. Accompanied by Manuel Bustilias, who was to show him the road, the big car was sent on its way.

The trip over was made without incident.

To secure a safe place in which to carry the money, an extra gasoline tank with a false bottom was constructed. This tank was connected and really carried fuel in the upper half.

In this tank the money was placed and the Los Angeles man started on the return trip. He had not traveled a hundred miles when he was stopped and a small platoon of revolutionists took possession of the car and ordered him to carry the commander, who was a general or a colonel.

For ten days he drove about the country at the command of the Mexican soldiers. All the while the $50,000 rested in the car.

Ten days elapsed before Converse saw his chance to escape, and, having his fuel tanks filled, made a break and got away. He drove 400 miles without a stop of more than a few minutes. But after that trip he was glad to return to this side of the border.

Eighty per cent. of the cars sold in New South Wales, one of the most prosperous divisions of the commonwealth of Australia, are sold outside of the cities, going as they do largely to farmers and stock raisers.

POPULAR ROAD IS OPEN TO TRAVEL.

Motorists will welcome the news issued yesterday by the touring information bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California showing that the coast road from Laguna Beach to San Juan Capistrano is now open and in good condition.

This has proved to be one of the most popular summer tours in the past, and many requests for information on the road have been received at the Auto Club this year.

MOTOR TRUCKS AS ARTILLERY.

Horses Unable to Fill the Military Bill.

Untrained Animals Cannot Be Harnessed.

Capt. Ford's Battery Makes Morelands Serve.

Motor trucks have even put the artillery horse out of business.

The equipment of Battery A, National Guard of California, was hauled to the harbor celebration at Wilmington last Saturday on Moreland trucks. Capt. Ford, commanding officer of the battery, has followed the development of the motor truck since the attentions of military men were first attracted several years ago, and his demonstration with the Morelands is considered the greatest victory for the motor wagon yet scored.

Even the packing of the equipment, which was considered a difficult feat, was accomplished by the men of Capt. Ford's command in a remarkably short time.

The equipment was freighted to the harbor in much less time than would have been required if trained horses had been used. The artillerymen took to the use of the trucks readily, and further tests of the efficiency of the power wagons are to be made in the near future.

Horses were furnished for Battery A by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. The animals were waiting for the soldiers when they arrived at Wilmington, but they refused to be harnessed. It would have been almost impossible for the field pieces to have been hauled down by these horses, as they were unaccustomed to the service.

The equipment of the battery was unloaded at Wilmington and the soldiers made ready to hook up the guns. The first horse refused to don the artillery harness, and made a break for parts unknown, carrying a share of Uncle Sam's fighting regalia. The second animal also made a quick getaway.

That was enough for Capt. Ford. He ordered his men to load the trucks again. This was done in record time, and the field pieces were hauled out to the municipal wharf.

For the second time the guns were unloaded. This time they were made ready for action, and the salutes were fired in a manner that did justice to the crack local military organization.

After the ceremonies, the guns were brought back to the Armory at Exposition Park and the men were dismissed early in the evening.

A light Moreland truck, equipped with seats, was used by the officers, and the men rode the loaded trucks or the guns that were trailed.

Official reports of the Detroit police motorcycle squad show the average cost of upkeep per machine to be $2.18 per 5000 miles.

WATCH THE TOP.

In conditioning the car for its season's work the top should have its fair share of attention. Hand-buffeted leather tops very often need nothing more than a careful sponging off with tepid water and castile soap, the leather tops with the enamel fractured or worn thin will doubtless require, in addition to sponging off with the solution of water and castile soap, renovating with a thin application of some reliable leather dressing. This may be prepared by adding to one part of liquid asphaltum three parts of castor oil, to which further add a little ivory black for proper intensity of color. Apply this material sparingly to the leather. This same dressing may also be used to advantage upon rubber tops.

Some Tires Cost $5 to $14 More

More Than Goodyear No-Rim-Cut Tires

Sixteen makes sell higher—up to one-half higher. Seven now ask as much for three tires as Goodyear asks for four. All because our matchless output has brought Goodyear costs way down.

Save This Extra Price

Remember that No-Rim-Cuts were for years the high-priced tires. They cost one-fifth more than others, because of costly features others never used.

Now their very popularity has brought down making cost. No-Rim-Cut prices last year dropped 28 per cent. Get this saving in the tires you buy this year.

Get These Things, Too

Get our No-Rim-Cut feature. No other satisfactory way has been found to end this fearful waste.

Get our "On-Air" cure. This extra process saves the blow-outs due to wrinkled fabric. We give it to you at an extra cost of $1,500 daily.

Get our All-Weather—the best anti-skid tread. It is double-thick, tough and enduring. Its grips are deep and sharp. Yet it runs like a plain tread—is smooth and flat and regular.

The Maximum Tire

We offer you what seems to be the maximum in tires. After thousands of efforts we believe No-Rim-Cut tires mark the present-day limit in low cost per mile.

They hold top place in Tiredom after millions have been used. No other tire commands so large a sale.

Our price is due to output, to equipment, to efficiency. And to our modest profit, which last year averaged 6½ per cent.

We know of nothing of value we could give you to warrant a higher price. Any dealer, if you ask him, will supply you Goodyear tires.

PREMIER

Again the Season's Sensation

GEORGE WEIDELY never built an unsuccessful engine, his latest and best work is the new Premier 6-48, the newest sister of the popular 6-40, which doubled the sales of the Premier Company last year.

The new model weighs 250 pounds less than last year's car and the new engine, a unit power plant and three-point suspension, gives the additional snap, get away, speed and power demanded—20 per cent. more power to use if you want it; also electric starter and other refinements and improvements.

The chassis and rear construction are the same that permitted the 12 Premiers to make the Ocean-to-Ocean trip, driven by amateurs, with the ease and comfort that the average car rolls about town.

Sturdy, simplified, economical the new 6-48 is the very embodiment of the word efficiency and we offer it without qualification as the best value in an automobile today.

Our best selling argument is to suggest that you satisfy yourself by comparing our product, part by part, with any car offered the public at a higher price—bar none.

ARIZONA MAN FAVORS CAR.

Business Is Horses, but He Drives Cadillac.

Well Known Here as Daring Broncho Buster.

Even one of the world's greatest horsemen is partial to the automobile.

Dell Blancett, owner of a large horse ranch on Date Creek in Arizona, is in Los Angeles, having driven to this city in his Cadillac touring car, accompanied by his wife, Bertha Blancett, the well-known Rodeo star.

The Blancetts came to this city to close a deal for a number of horses. They are to stop over at Bakersfield for the Rodeo, which is to be a part of the Home Coming Week celebration programme, although they are not to take part in the show.

From Bakersfield they are to drive the Cadillac on up the Coast to San Francisco, and then on to the Northwest for the great rodeos which are held there each summer.

On the Blancett ranch there are more than fifty of the wildest bucking horses in the country. These are sent around the Rodeo circuit each season. Blancett also raises hundreds of horses for the market.

The horseman's business calls him all over the new State, and he has toured practically every road in Arizona. His car looks like a sturdy, old battleship, but he says it beats a horse, and he claims that he could not get along without his Cadillac, although his business is horse business.

Mrs. Blancett always accompanies her husband on his trips, and is an expert automobile driver as well as one of the most noted woman trick riders in the country. Dell Blancett is also well known here as a daring rider of bucking horses, having taken part in local rodeos.

The first appearance of the Blancetts is to be at Union, Or. They are to drive in their car to the following cities, where horse shows and rodeos are scheduled to take place this summer:

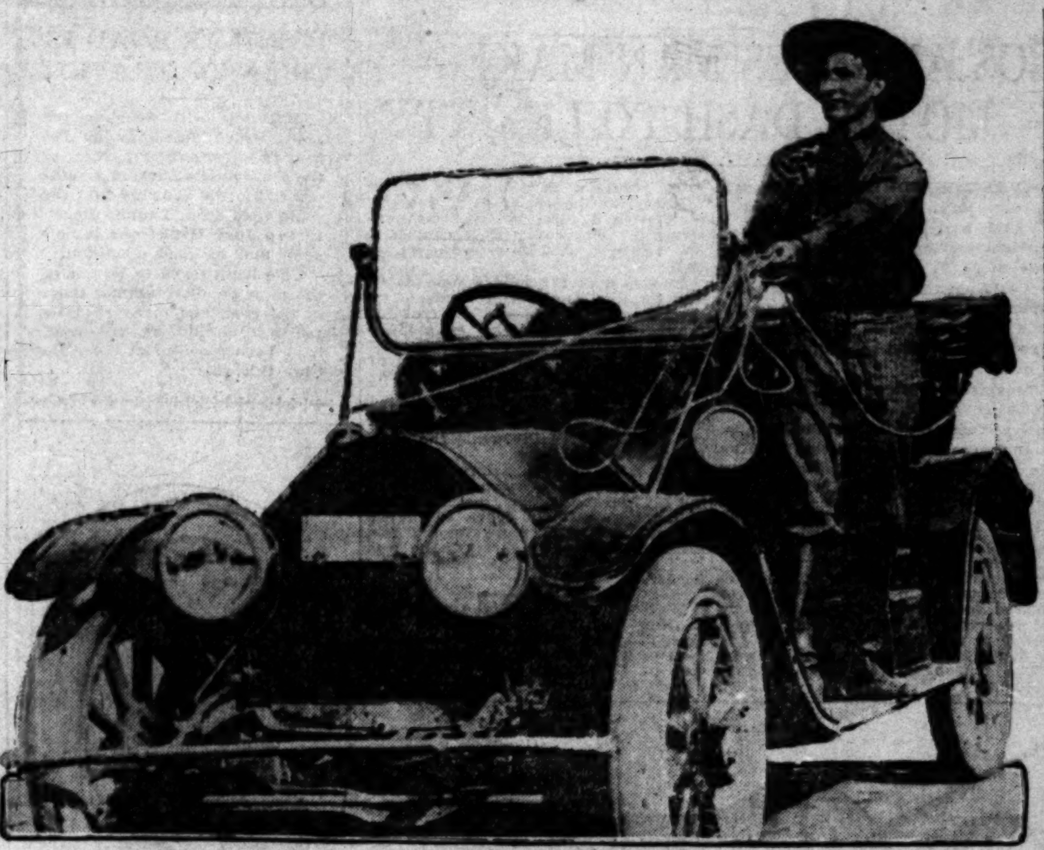
Miles City, Onion, Dalles, Pendleton, Walla Walla, Wash.; Spokane, Vancouver, Billings, Mont.; Boise, Idaho; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Grainville and Salt Lake City.

NEW MANAGER IS IN NEW BUILDING.

Walter Sahland is now installed as manager for the W. D. Newerf Rubber Company. He was kept busy last week receiving friends who called at the new store of the Newerf Company to pay their respects to the new manager.

Sahland announced that the final touches had been put on the new store, stockroom and service department and the building could now be called completed.

Improvement operations have been started on the two-mile course in Sioux City, Iowa, in preparation for a 300-mile race on July 4. The track is being oiled, and the seating capacity of the stands increased to 18,000. The promoters are planning to spend $60,000 in getting the course in shape.



Dell Blancett, cowboy motorist.

From his horse ranch on Date Creek in Arizona, this sturdy westerner drove to Los Angeles in his Cadillac touring car and intends to continue on up the coast to the great rodeos of the Northwest with his wife.

Long Ride.

LENGTHY AUTO TOUR PLANNED.

LOS ANGELES MAN TO DRIVE THROUGHOUT COUNTRY.

Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Is Route Chosen by Trio of Local Automobile Enthusiasts for Gasoline Vacation Which Is Expected to Consume Three Months of Travel.

Billy Suppe, display manager for the Owl Drug Company, has planned one of the most extensive automobile tours ever undertaken by a resident of Los Angeles.

About May 1, Suppe, Robert Burns, a local hardware man, and H. B. Suppe of the E. A. Featherstone Company are to start for New York in a Chalmers touring car.

The Chalmers party is to travel over the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway. The trip is to be a vacation tour and the men intend to be away from Los Angeles about three months.

If business will permit, Suppe will return by automobile after an extensive tour throughout the Eastern States, but if too much time is consumed, the Chalmers will be shipped back to Los Angeles.

While the tour is to be for pleasure alone, the members of the party say they will boost the California expositions and spread the fame of California's good roads all along the route.

After completing the run across the continent, a tour is to be made of the Atlantic Coast. The car is slated to then cover the territory about the Great Lakes and run south. If the return trip is made by auto, this will be one of the longest motor-car trips made by a resident of this city.

An automobile circus, in which motor trucks will carry all the paraphernalia, and in which, instead of an elephant act, a racing car at full speed will run over a man without hurting him, is being planned by Bernie L. Wallace of Peru, Ind.

Riley Courtney and Riley Wilson, cousins, living in Poplar Bluffs, Mo., have started for Los Angeles in their Mitchell roadster. They will make the trip by easy stages, expecting to reach here in about five weeks. The boys have equipped their car with a special camping outfit, and left home with the idea of passing up hotels and living in the open until their run is ended.

NEW HOME FOR TIRE COMPANY.

Local Manager Puts Record Sales Over.

Rapid Rise from the Racing Game Made.

Business Doubled Often in Five Years.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company is to have a new home.

May 1 this concern will move to new quarters at the southeast corner of Twelfth and Olive streets. The building was formerly occupied by the Maxwell Company, and the entire building, which has three stories and a basement, will be occupied by the Goodyear Company.

Some idea of the magnitude that the Goodyear business has reached in Southern California can be gathered from the fact that more than [illegible] Goodyear tires a day are delivered.

To the personality of Manager Eddie Lingenfelder, as well as to the quality of the product, is much of the Goodyear success in Los Angeles due.

Five years ago Lingenfelder quit motorcycle riding, after winning all the world's motorcycle records at that time in existence. A short time later he took a position with the local Goodyear agent as city salesman. A year later, when the Goodyear opened a direct factory branch in Los Angeles, he was given the management of the new concern, on the showing made selling Goodyear tires. Under his management the business has grown from 50 tires a day to more than 400.

The showing made by the Los Angeles branch has attracted the attention of Goodyear officials. A. F. Osterloh and H. B. Hamlen, prominent factory officials, have just left for the East after a visit here.

LOTS OF BUSINESS WITH HIS SMALL AUTOMOBILE.

LEON T. SHETTLER, distributor for the Apperson and Grant lines, has a novel way of demonstrating the little Grant car.

The machine is kept running in a wide circle, in the garage in the rear of Shettler's salesroom. When a prospective Grant owner comes in the party is at once taken out into the garage where the car is traveling the circle, around a big Apperson model.

After pointing out the sterling features of the little machine, Shettler will swing aboard the car like a Pullman conductor and from the running-board or the seat explain the mechanical anatomy of the Grant. Its like watching a circus trick rider on [illegible] horse to watch the well-known [illegible] perform with his little automobile.

Mountain Run.

SMALL CAR MAKES LONG TRIP ON LITTLE FUEL.

THE first long trip of the Saxon car in Southern California was over the mountains from Los Angeles to Bakersfield by way of Palmdale.

When the first carload of Saxons arrived Thompson and Smith, the Bakersfield agents, were here waiting for it. They were given their car at 4 in the afternoon.

"You can ship it up on the night train," said Manager F. M. Headleen.

"Ship up?" said Smith. "I'll drive it up."

He did, starting that same afternoon.

The main Bakersfield road was closed and the long route takes a car about 190 miles. No longer can the short route through the San Francisquito Canyon and over the Tahoe be followed. The heavy rains played havoc with the mountain grades, but work is being done and they will again be open within a short time.

The Saxon was driven out of Los Angeles over the San Fernando boulevard, and just beyond Saugus the turn to the right was followed. There is a sandy wash to cross about two miles into the canyon, but the little car went through and it was not even necessary to go out of the high.

Instead of following the Soledad Canyon road the Mint was taken. This was found rough in places, but the Bakersfield agents found the car rode unusually easy.

BEDIENT WINS FROM SHAWKEY.

BOSTON, April 18.—Bedient outpitched Shawkey today and Boston won the first of a five-game series from Philadelphia, 1 to 0.

The visitors obtained only three scattered hits and did not get a man past second base during the game. Shawkey was batted hard in the first three innings. A single by Engle and Lewis's two-base hit in the third inning gave the Red Sox the only score.

Speaker figured in two double plays. In the fourth inning he made a fine throw to the plate, after catching a fly ball and Baker was caught out by several feet. In the sixth the Boston center fielder ran into second base and took a throw from Engle, doubling Collins, after Murphy had been run down by Gardner.

It is estimated that the sixteen clubs in the American and National baseball leagues will spend not less than $80,000 for training expenses before the season begins on April 14.

The first of the intercollegiate rowing races for this year will be the annual contest between the University of Washington (Seattle) the University of California and Leland Stanford University crews on the Oakland Estuary on April 11. The Washington crew intends to compete in the Poughkeepsie regatta against Syracuse, Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin again this summer.

SENSIBLE SPEED LAW.

The draft of the uniform motor vehicle law finally determined by representatives of eight Eastern States provides that vehicles shall be operated with due regard to public safety and to the width of the highway and the condition of traffic, and that speed in excess of twenty-four miles an hour shall be considered prima facie evidence of reckless driving should an accident occur. It does away with the distinction between "chauffeur" and "operator" in so far as license is concerned, and provides for an examination as to competence before license is granted to any driver. It gives the power to the Secretary of State or the Motor Vehicle Commissioner or Commission, as the case may be, to refuse license and to suspend or revoke it for intoxication or other cause, and thus opens the way also for the control of the non-resident motorist through complaint to the proper authorities in his home State. Though not embodied in the draft, it was voted the sense of the body that lights should be carried on all vehicles, whatever their motive power.

It has been calculated by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce that if horse vehicles were subjected to taxation proportional to that suffered by the automobiles, the yearly fund for road work obtained from vehicle license fees would be doubled. Instead of between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 now obtained over the whole country from a single class of road user, there would be an annual maintenance fund of about $15,000,000.

MATHEWSON TAKEN OUT; CHIEF MEYERS SPIKED.

BROOKLYN (N. Y.) April 18.—The New York Nationals, with Mathewson on the rubber, were beaten today by the fast-traveling Brooklyns, 9 to 6. The lead seesawed for six innings, Brooklyn forging to the front by scoring two runs on four hits in the first. Loose fielding behind Ragan allowed the Giants to get three runs in the next four innings, and then the Brooklyns took the lead again by scoring twice on triples by Miller and Dalton and Cutshaw's sacrifice fly. Stock's single, steal and a hit by Burns tied the score again in New York's half of the seventh.

Egan opened Brooklyn's half by reaching first on Fletcher's error. Singles by Miller, Dalton and Cutshaw and Wheat's long drive to deep center for a homer, sent five runs across and sewed up the game. Fromme pitched the eighth inning and held the locals hitless. Chief Meyers had his hand severely cut by Wheat's spikes when the latter slid into him at the plate in the first inning, and was forced to retire.

HANS WAGNER LEADS IN BATTING.

CINCINNATI (O.) April 18.—Pittsburgh outbatted Cincinnati and won by 8 to 5. The visitors through errors in the field allowed the locals to remain on even terms with them until the ninth, wwhen they batted out the victory. Mowrey materially assisted in this inning when he drove a home run to deep center, bringing in a runner ahead of him.

Adams and Johnson started the game, but each was knocked out of the box, the former at the end of the third and the latter at the end of the fourth inning. Conselman, who relieved Adams, pitched magnificent ball, yielding only one hit in the six innings he worked. The one run registered against him was due to an error by Viox. Rowan was hit hard and often, the first four men up in the ninth making safe drives, with Mowrey's home run coming as the climax.

HANK ROBINSON MAKES DEBUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—Hank Robinson made his debut with the St. Louis team today and was effective against Chicago except in the last inning, when the visitors scored their runs. The score was 5 to 2 in St. Louis' favor. Pierce, who started the contest for the Chicagoans, was hit at opportune stages and had poor support.

Up to the last inning Chicago was helpless at the hands of Robinson, who had kept his hits scattered. In this inning Sweeney hit for two bases and counted on Zimmerman's long double into left. Schulte was out at first, advancing Zimmerman, who counted on Bresnahan's sacrifice fly. Score:

TOURING WEEK.

To encourage automobile touring the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which is the manufacturers' organization, have a plan they are prepared to work together in order to get motorists with their families out on the roads. The idea, according to a statement by Alfred Reeves, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is to set aside some one week, preferably in June, when motorists with their families all over the country will get out and make trips lasting several days. Furthermore, the A.A.A. is planning some sort of a touring trip this summer to the White Mountains, for which the Glidden and Anderson trophies will be offered as prizes.

LOWRY MANAGER OF SPEEDWAY.

MAN WELL KNOWN HERE IS NOW BOOKING ENTRIES.

Seattle's New Motor Speedway Now Under Way and Is to Be Completed by Middle of July, Date Set for the Opening Event With 250-Mile Race for 450 Cubic Inch Cars as Feature.

Frank Lowry has been named vice-president and general manager of the corporation controlling the new Seattle motor speedway, which is now being constructed. The opening events are scheduled for July 13 and 19.

Lowry is well known in California racing circles, having been the assistant starter of the recent Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize contests held on the Santa Monica course. He is now in the East securing entries.

Approximately $20,000 in cash will be given the victorious drivers at Seattle. In addition, the winner of the feature event, a 250-mile race for cars of 450 cubic inches and under, will be presented with a $10,000 trophy, which will be the gift of a Seattle civic organization. This race will be held on the second day, the opening day being confined to sprints, varying in distance of from five to twenty-five miles. Fred J. Wagner is to act as starter.

The Seattle motor speedway, when completed, will be one and one-quarter miles in length, built with a concrete base and an asphaltum surface, banked seven feet on the turns. The two main grandstands will accommodate 40,000 spectators, and parking space for 3000 automobiles will be reserved in the infield.

IGNITION TROUBLE.

The fact that a number of the parts of a dual ignition system are used both for battery and magneto current renders the trouble hunt in the ignition system a little simpler. When in such a system the ignition is faulty only on the battery side, the batteries themselves should be inspected, and not the coil or switch. The fact that ignition is all right on the magneto side immediately puts out of consideration those parts that are used in common by both systems, and this leaves, in the case quoted, little but the battery and wiring to switch.

Money Put Into a Car

A Buyer who can afford a Car of Quality has no great task in the process of elimination, there being comparatively few Cars of real Class on the Upper Crust of Automobiledom. It soon becomes a choice between two or three Machines.

You have thought of how much YOU will put in a certain Car; have you stopped to consider how much the BUILDER figured on putting into that same Car?

No; well, go into it a little.

See if any Caf has as much real Quality (both in material and workmanship) as a NATIONAL LITTLE SIX has in its construction.

Go into the Record of the Builders of the NATIONAL; see what quality they have been giving the Auto World, regardless of price, during the last fourteen years.

The NATIONAL'S Builders have never considered their Cost when Quality and Result were the objects to be attained.

Too many Buyers think of what THEY have put into a Car, and not what the Builders have put into it.

The NATIONAL LITTLE SIX is Dollar for Dollar the Best buy in th market today. Demonstrations of this Car are eye-openers.

STANFORD BASEBALL TEAM WINS FROM BERKELEY.

PALO ALTO, April 18.—Stanford's varsity baseball nine lost the intercollegiate series this morning when the Californians defeated it by a score of 5 to 3 on the Stanford diamond. The Cardinals lost to the heavy hitting of their opponents and because of poor pitching in the first inning.

Both infields held together more closely than heretofore, the Blue and Gold players being guilty of but five errors, one of which was that of a fielder. Terry made three, the only ones chalked up against the Cardinals.

The first four Californians up got two hits, two walks and three runs off Halm, when "Doc" Hayes was substituted for him and stopped the scoring for the first inning. Hayes allowed throughout the game five hits and five walks and struck out seven.

Dodge passed two Cardinals and struck out one before giving place to Gefkin in the second, who pitched the balance of the game, walking one and striking out three.

The Cardinals put over one tally in the third, the fourth and the fifth; the Californians, three in first, one in the second and one in the third.

"Doc" Hayes led out with a three-bagger in the third, and came in after Terry had flied out. In the fourth Noonan hit, stole second and came in on Hayes's bingle.

California scored in the second when Dodge was hit by a pitched ball and crossed the plate on three successive walks. The Blue and Gold gleaned another in the third, when Sebastian singled and tallied on Gianelli's triple.

They Can Do It.

GOVERNMENT RANGERS USE AUTOMOBILES NOW.

AUTOMOBILES have been introduced in the work of the rangers on the Angeles National Forest reserve, with excellent results, and it is believed that in a short time, in the most of the districts, the patient burro and the sure-footed Dobbin, will have to give way to motor cars.

There are nineteen rangers employed on the local reserve. Five of these men are already equipped with automobiles. Arrangements are being made to supply the riders all over the reserve, where conditions will allow, with the machines.

Does Uncle Sam buy the machines and present them to the rangers? Oh, no; but they are allowed 5 cents a mile for all travel on official business, and that buys the oil and gives the rangers a profit of 4 cents a mile to help pay for the machine. It is about the same as the government allowance for horse feed, and the advantages are too numerous to mention.

With an auto, the average district can be covered in a day or less, while at least three would be required for the horse. It affords quick presence at a fire, and besides, the rangers are much more enamored of riding a fast machine over the roads where its use is allowed, than sitting astride of a horse and not quite sure that the animal can go the distance.

The only bar to the universal use of the auto by the rangers of the local forest, will be the presence of narrow trails, or broken, uncertain roads, where it would not be possible to go.

The feed bill is limited to gasoline, and an up-to-date machine never gets the colic or the heaves. Rangers are furnished a home, water, garden patch, and other things that add to the high cost of living on the part of the ordinary citizen, and with the allowance of the government, they can pay for autos and "hit up" the road whenever necessary business or pleasure beckons.

COOL THE CAPS

It will usually be found that valve caps can be removed best when the engine is warm and any deposit of carbon and oil acting as a cement is less binding. Occasionally, however, a cap that was screwed in tight when cold will be found to stick, and for this it will be found a good remedy to put a piece of ice on the cap. Care should be taken to get none of the ice or water on the cylinder, for what is wanted is for the ice to cool the cap considerably below the temperature of the cylinder. The cooled cap will shrink and thus loosen itself. This is the reverse of the method sometimes effectively employed of loosening a refractory nut by heating it with a red-hot poker, or an old spanner that has been heated.

Harvard University is to have a permanent freshman football coach. The man selected will be paid a salary. It is said that Tommy Campbell, Harvard varsity half-back in 1911, and "Bob" Guild, who was coach of the second team last fall, are the leading candidates for the position.

Percy Jones of Perth, the flyweight boxing champion of England, and Eugene Criqui of France are to fight for the championship of the midget class on March 26 at Liverpool stadium. The match is for $500 a side and a purse of $2000, and will take place on the eve of the Grand National steeplechase.

VIRGINIANS TOO POLITE TO WIN.

ANNANDALE CONTINUES TO GATHER LINK LAURELS.

Southerners Beat Opposing Team Captain, However, Just to Show Their Class—L. A. Country Club Announces Open Championship Tourney for May.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The gallant and sporting Virginians duly presented themselves for gentlemanly defeat at the Annandale Country Club yesterday, winning but one match. That was the solace of F. Hicks who beat E. N. Wright, captain of the team and father of the champion, by 2 up and 1.

The Virginians only mustered six, so one match went by default to R. C. Gartz, and for the rest, A. A. French defeated A. M. Goodhue 5 and 4, Michael McLaughlin defeated W. W. Campbell 4 and 3, Charles Biggar defeated F. B. Browning 1 up, Carlton Wright defeated A. C. Sellery 2 and 1 (not such a crushing defeat for the doctor, considering,) and Lincoln Clark won from Scanlon 6 and 4.

The other team match that should have taken place, but didn't, was between the Midwick and Los Angeles—so much class and yet. . . .

Of course such distinguished teams could not be demoralized and that they are unsporting is unthinkable. Wonder why they didn't play? Can't have lost all interest just because Annandale seems so buoyantly triumphant. What nonsense! But they didn't play and never meant to play.

The Spring Handicap.

But we were very enthusiastic about the progress of the spring handicap which has reached the final stages. Three matches still to be played in the first flight—Macbeth and C. A. Smith, Coffin and Hal Braly. Thomas McCall defeated Gillelin yesterday by 3 up and 2, and is one of the semi-finalists thereby. He will play the winner of the Macbeth-Smith match and meet the winner of the Braly-Coffin match in the finals—er—possibly.

At all events he won a large share of the sweepstake yesterday with a net score of 1 up on par. He and H. S. Brintnoll tied for second place.

Winsor Walton won the lion's share with a net 2 up on par—2 handicap. Is this real achievement or is the course hardening up out there?

The second flight of the handicap has also reached the finals. J. H. Moulton defeated L. L. Elliott by 4 and 3 and Lagrange defeated McCausland by 3 and 2 in the semi-finals.

The Big Open Event.

The Los Angeles Country Club has just completed arrangements for a big open tournament, constituting the open championship of Southern California. Every and any golfer is eligible and it will be played on May 2 and 3.

It takes the form of seventy-two holes medal play and the course is available for practice from now on.

We have a number of first-class professionals in Southern California, and one or two of them may be expected to give us some exhibition golf. In the previous open event at the Midwick no one showed off to any great extent, but even so, the professionals easily outplayed the amateurs.

Local clubs will be represented by Ernest Martin, Los Angeles; Frank Peebles, Midwick; George Hanley, Annandale; Arthur Rigby, San Gabriel; Joseph Martin, Virginia; George Lawson, Redlands, and Bob Simpson, who is at present very busy exploiting the charms of Clifton by the Sea for golfing purposes. William Locke of Riverside has gone away for the summer, and Hutton Martin, who won large money at Midwick, is engaged on a northern course.

All the best amateurs will enter for the event and are supporting it enthusiastically. In the long, long ago there used to be an open championship in these parts and Ernest Martin was twice champion. But enthusiasm simmered down and this is in the nature of a revival meeting.

The Caddies.

And Annandale is again triumphant even in her caddies. The cup which was donated by Edward Tufts for the best out of three team matches between the caddies of the Los Angeles and Annandale Clubs has been won by Annandale. The last match was played yesterday morning, Annandale winning 6 points out of 7, by which score also she won on the previous occasion.

COMBINED DELIVERIES.

Several department stores in New York City have combined their delivery systems, and will use motor trucks exclusively in delivering the goods. Two three-ton machines will collect the parcels from the delivery-rooms of the twelve stores. The parcels will be taken to a central "clearinghouse," where they will be sorted and loaded on one-ton delivery trucks for carriage to their destination. This plan will eliminate the duplication of routes that is entailed by the operation of a delivery system by each store individually. For the use of the system, a total of fifty trucks has been ordered. They will be equipped with express bodies with canopy top and side curtains, and will have a loading space of five to ten feet.

Aluminum floor and running boards will keep bright and untarnished for some time, but will eventually grow very dull in places where there is no wear to keep them shiny. Scrubbing with ordinary substances is of no avail, and the only thing to do is to apply a solution of 10 to 15 per cent. sulphuric acid. This should be well rubbed into the surface with a stiff brush, and afterward washed off with pure water. Care should, of course, be taken that none of the acid gets on the hands or clothes, or on the wood parts of the car.

The Track Men.

TROJAN TEAM RAN AWAY WITH THE A.A.U. MEET.

Fred Kelly in the Greatest Form in Which He Has Been Seen This Season—Feature of the Meet Was the Game Exhibition of Paul Pritchard — Thomson and Drew Divide Honors.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

THE wonderful track team of the University of Southern California ran away with the A.A.U. championship of the south by an overwhelming score of 57. The L.A.A.C. was second with 18½ points, followed by Occidental with 17½. Pomona with 11, Pasadena High 8, Manual Arts 5, Anaheim High 5, unattached 5, Santa Ana High 2, Long Beach High and the Y.M.C.A. 1 point each.

Shut out of the points in only two events, the Trojans captured no less than seven first places and in three events first and second places went to Comstock's crew.

With the local track season complete, the Trojans find themselves in the position of having finished in the foreground of every meet in which they have competed.

Fred Kelly was in form far surpassing any that he has shown this season. In the high hurdles the peerless Trojan tore away from Ward and Thomson in the last thirty yards, crossing the tape a winner by a few feet in the wonderful time of 15 seconds flat, a performance spoiled only by his tipping over of one hurdle.

DISTANCED FRED THOMSON.

In the low hurdles he lit out from the start and was never headed. For the first time this year he seemed to get his stride and dashed over the tape yards ahead of Fred Thomson in the really great time of 25 seconds flat.

In the broad jump the Trojan for once seemed to really care and far surpassed any of his previous performances by leaping 22 feet 1 inch and taking third place in the event.

The real feature of the meet was the two-mile run in which Paul Pritchard of Occidental gave one of the bravest exhibitions ever seen on a Southern track.

Determined to retrieve his defeat of last week, the Tiger freshman started out like a race horse. He was fifty yards to the good at the end of the fourth lap and at the end of the fifth had increased it to 75 yards.

In the meanwhile, trailing far in the rear was Ernest Fisher, one-time Pomona star, his peculiar springing stride carrying him along with peculiar grace and apparent ease. He was last at the first lap, but at the end of the fifth had pulled up to third, a yard back of Teeters.

On his sixth lap he began to let himself out. Teeters was determined not to be passed and for the entire lap fought bravely to keep second place, but the boy in the blue flappers was not to be denied and as he passed Teeters in front of the grand stand at the end of the sixth lap the exhausted Trojan collapsed in a heap.

This sprint had brought the Hun star to within forty yards and the seventh lap brought him within thirty yards of the flying Tiger runner.

THE LAST LAP.

At the sound of the gun for the last lap, the Tiger leaped out on his accustomed sprint and here for the first time he knew that there was something wrong.

The sandy-haired youngster bravely struggled to stride out, but the spring was gone. Fisher, his head stuck out like that of a greyhound, began to sprint. Stride after stride he gained on the fast-tiring Tiger.

In front of the clubhouse he drew even. For a few steps the Tiger pulled himself together and kept pace with his rival, but Fisher was not to be denied and drew slowly past. His eyes dimmed and glassy, the plucky Tiger tried to catch up, but his deadened muscles failed to respond.

Fisher dashed on around to the finish, but the eyes of the crowd for once were not on the winner. At the last turn, Pritchard, his haggard face drawn and pale, stopped. He could do no more. A cheer from the bleachers spurred him on and slowly he walked down the straightway while officials kept eager hands from helping him.

Ten yards from the finish the dogged spirit of the Tiger aroused him to a final effort. With a look of anguish upon his face, he broke into a trot and staggered across the tape into the arms of his [illegible], defeated, but not beaten.

DREW AND THOMSON.

Fred Thomson, world's champion all-round athlete and Howard Drew, the Trojan sprinter, divided individual honors with fifteen points apiece. Drew captured both sprints by a block and took the broad jump with a leap of 22ft. 5 3-4in. Thomson won the shot put and hammer throw, second in the low hurdles and third in the high hurdles and discus.

Bill Kendricks, the human [illegible] of U.S.C., sprang a huge surprise when he captured the high jump at 5ft. 11 1-4in., after jumping off a tie with Anderson of Santa Ana, considered the certain winner, and [illegible] Johnson of the L.A.A.C. The [illegible] Trojan has had a clean record of first places during the year with the exception of the California meet.

Bill Annin of Occidental and Clarence Beebe of Anaheim [illegible] rather hollow victories in the mile and half-mile runs. Annin [illegible] off the distance in 4m 33 [illegible] and finished a hundred yards to the good, while Tipton loafed in an [illegible] distance behind Beebe in the half. Beebe's time was 2m. 1-5s.

IN THE QUARTER.

Larry Gillette ran true to form in the quarter, nosing out Johnny Cook of Occidental by two yards in [illegible] flat. The Tiger took the lead at the start, but Gillette passed him on the backstretch. In front of the training quarters, Adkinson, the Santa Ana High School boy, threatened Gillette's lead, but coming into the stretch Cook passed Adkinson while the Hunn captain loafed over the line a winner.

The High School eight-man relay was an awful thing. Bill Fee of Manual won it for his team on the second lap by giving his man a [illegible] yard lead. By the time Hughes of Manual started the last lap, he had twenty yards on Ware of Long Beach. The beach flyer cut it down to [illegible] yards, but the task of finishing [illegible] was too much for him.

Real Load.

HEAVY GIRDERS HAULED ON MOTOR FREIGHTERS

ONE of the heaviest loads ever trusted to a single motor truck was hauled last week by the Motor Truck and Terminal Company on one of their five-ton Peerless freighters. The record load weighed more than fifteen tons, being a steel shipment from the Baker Iron Works plant in Los Angeles to one of their construction jobs in Long Beach, a distance of some twenty-five miles.

Four loads were made of a shipment of almost sixty tons of girders to the beach city, all of which were carried on the big Peerless cars.

Trailers were used on these trips in order to [illegible] lengthy beams, but the weight was so arranged that it [illegible] almost entirely upon the truck.

This company, which has [illegible] seventy-five trucks now in operation, is using about fifty of the big [illegible] models. In addition to the [illegible] schedule runs on this "trackless way system," there are always special trips to be made, [illegible] everything, from live stock to [illegible] under which the big trucks [illegible] excellent service.

An Improvement.

BALL PLAYERS' RECORDS TO BE MORE COMPLETE

MORE than one hundred ball players were denied recognition in the record books last season because the secretary of the National League followed precedent and did not make public the records of the men who participated in less than fifteen games. John Heydler, the National League's secretary, is to print the averages of these players of the limited-opportunity class this year.

It has been almost impossible for baseball experts to get a complete line on any ball player. The guides did not contain complete information and it was necessary to call upon the league secretaries.

According to the guide books, the first year Christy Mathewson was in the National League was 1901, but he really broke into fast company the year before.

Marquard shows up in the guides for the first time in 1909 and is left out in 1910. The truth about the "Rube" is, he won one game [illegible] and played in eight contests [illegible]

THREE TEAMS PICKED FROM COASTERS IN EAST.

Walter Johnson on Staff of Team Composed of Former California Players—Chance and Chase in Infield, and Meyers Behind Bat—Team Picked from Ex-Coasters Is Better Balanced.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

[illegible] seeking good ball teams, [illegible] entirely of western [illegible], could be picked from the [illegible] and National leagues.

[illegible] of these would consist of former California players, and the other [illegible] who have graduated from the [illegible] League into the majors.

[illegible] field—Lewis, New York Americans.

EX-COAST LEAGUERS—NO. 1.

EX-COAST LEAGUERS—NO. 2.

First base—Meyers, Brooklyn Feds.

[illegible] base—Zeider, Chicago Feds.

[illegible]—Goodwin, Kansas City [illegible].

[illegible] field—Krueger, Kansas City.

Right field—Beck, Chicago Feds.

All of which is proof positive that the virile West is some pumpkins when it comes to supplying the eastern baseball markets.

Naturally, the team which looms up the most formidably is that composed of ex-Coast Leaguers now in the American and National leagues.

But with Walter Johnson present to do the pitching, the All-Californians would make them hustle on occasions. I hated like the deuce to transfer Fred Snodgrass from the outfield to third base, but this was necessary as Art Shafer positively refuses to play again.

It also will be noticed that Hal Chase is assigned to second base, but Hal, being a versatile lad, should fret. Frank Chance, I think, has a season or two of good baseball left in him, and he is placed on first base for the purpose of bringing it out. I am not satisfied that Frank should pull down $35,000 a year without doing some manual labor.

This team, with Meyers and Stanage signed up for the season, is nicely fixed behind the bat.

The ex-Coasters No. 1 are better balanced in all departments. They have a raft of good pitchers, a sterling pair of backstops in Agnew and Whaling, an embarrassment of good shortstops and outfielders to burn.

This would be a fairly good hitting club, strong in the field, and with considerable speed. Most of them are on the up-grade, and if I can hold them together long enough, who knows but what they might win a pennant or two?

It took some tall hustling to recruit a club of ex-Coasters from the Feds, but careful combing of the Gilmore organization resulted in sufficient talent being secured to insure nine men being placed in the field, as required by the rules, with an extra battery for emergencies.

Joe Stecker, a six-footer, who weighs 200 pounds, and is a farmer boy, 20 years of age, and lives twenty miles out of Lincoln, Neb., has shown wrestling form, and may be a successor to Champion Frank Gotch. He is moderately well fixed financially, practically a novice at the mat game, but, like Gotch in his early days, has already impressed the veterans with a conviction of his abilities. Stecker recently beat Marvin Plestina of Chicago in seventeen and again in three minutes in first and second straight falls. Hussan, the Turk, also failed to show much ability against the Nebraska boy.

BACHELORS AND BENEDICTS IN GOLF

'Tis rare, indeed, that [illegible], adorable creature though [illegible] any match or tournament [illegible], and such rare occasions [illegible] invariably a mere flash in [illegible] preceded and followed by dense mediocrity.

[illegible] Carleton Wright and Jack Neville, [illegible] two youthful champions, [illegible] yet given hostages to fortune, [illegible] their bachelorhood is of a [illegible] and fleeting nature.

But, after [illegible] only hover on the verge of [illegible], after all, their pre-eminence [illegible] the game is still only in the [illegible].

[illegible], the argument is biting. [illegible] Consider them severally [illegible] collectively, these bachelor [illegible]. Let's begin with the Los Angeles Country Club and the ever-de[illegible] Long, Y. L. Mott, Bob [illegible] Newlin, Frank L. Miller, [illegible], Carl Knappe, et al. Newlin, Cash, Long and [illegible] content with amiable [illegible] to bask in the comfortable [illegible] they ask no more of golf [illegible].

[illegible] San Gabriel things are the [illegible] A. Fowler, resplendent in [illegible] bats; James and Ed[illegible], Bobby Devereux, Har[illegible] the best of them is merely [illegible] a golfer. [illegible] E. C. Chaffee, Charles [illegible] "middling" de[illegible] very best. Redlands—[illegible] Harry Paine, socially desirable, [illegible] of course, but where stand [illegible]

[illegible] come to the benedicts, [illegible] our golf pride ex[illegible] would go so far as to say [illegible] to his domestic responsibility [illegible] their happy condition, so [illegible] of the man [illegible] married man, with [illegible] in the forefront of our stars. Happily married, minus babies, runs him close. Married and mildly happy, married and unhappy, married but divorced—we could grade our golfers along those lines with never a reference to the United States Golf Association's handicap sheet.

The Los Angeles Country Club would be a hopeless third-rater in golf if it depended on the efforts and skill of its bachelors. Instead, with Norman Macbeth, R. D. Lapham, Jack Jevne, Judge Frederickson, Arthur Braly, E. H. Seaver, Frank H. Edwards, L. T. Bradford, Jack Niven—sirrah, one could go on to the end of the page—behold it a force to be reckoned with and twice holder of the Tom Morris trophy. And Hal Braly, who looks like winning this spring handicap, Thomas McCall, a thrice blessed father, who always shows to advantage in his class, and Dr. Dudley Fulton—not amongst the stars, these players, but always doing credit to the game according to the utmost of their ability. Edward Tufts, president of the association, is himself thoroughly married.

And this year's triumphant Annandale team. But for the benedicts its glory would be meager—Michael McLaughlin, A. A. French, E. N. Wright, W. K. Jewett, W. H. Cornett—these and the two infants radiate golfing luster.

At the Midwick it is the same story. E. S. Armstrong, Robert Hunter, Hugo Johnstone, E. R. Williams, J. V. Eliot, A. W. Brand, Conde Jones—and bless me, didn't even N. M. Murray cull distinction with a fifth flight defeated eight cup only last week.

Riverside's bulwarks are H. G. Pattee, R. D. Osborne, W. C. Davidson, Dr. Howe. Could the Victoria Golf Club ever hold up its head again if its golf depended on its all too-charming bachelors—F. D. Hudson, Martin Redmayne—yea, even Robin Skelley and Roy Holland, although the last two give such promise that we feel their bachelorhood must be on the wane.

Redlands depends for its golf luster upon Raymond Hornby, Morris Phillips, Gregory Palmer, F. B. Lindsley, O. H. Hicks—all quite definitely married. And down at the Virginia, matrimony alone has forged them into prominence, A. M. Goodhue, W. W. Campbell, Dr. Foote—married every last one of them.

All the tournaments this year have been won by married men, excepting only this boy champion, and Woodcock's qualifying cup. Jack Jevne won the Los Angeles invitation event, E. S. Armstrong won the Annandale open. Michael McLaughlin won the Midwick, Morris Phillips at Riverside, Armstrong at Redlands, and even the best qualifiers and the runners-up have been benedicts.

Now golf is a game that requires patience, strength of purpose, the ability to overcome difficulties and bear misfortunes philosophically, a steady eye and a well-balanced mind, all of which the successful married man has in a more or less degree. Hazards and traps, bad lies and an egotistical partner are his daily diet—he is so used to them that they have long since ceased to be disquieting.

Then again we mustn't forget that they have a larger stake in the result. Wives can endure a winner with equanimity, especially if he brings home a little silver occasionally as evidence of good faith. The husband is up against the necessity of justifying his golf and creating family heirlooms.

The sentimentalists might put it down to sweet feminine sympathy and encouragement—I shouldn't be surprised if this is the bachelor's view of the case—the delicious incentive of wifely inspiration. Perhaps it is, of course. Every man knows his own stimulant.

WILD GAME FEATURE OF SHOW.

The largest and most complete display of wild game and fish ever made in the West will be one of the features of the Outing and Sportsmen's Show to be held under an immense tent at Fiesta Park May 18 to 31. Manager Walter Hempel has made arrangements for a display, not only of wild fowl and fish, but also a collection of mounted game. This is one of the most complete collections in the world. Within a few days a definite announcement will be made regarding this collection.

In a letter to Hempel, Frank W. Rogers, State Game and Fish Warden of Arizona, stated that he was deeply interested in the coming show in Los Angeles and would like to make a display of Arizona game and fish for educational purposes. Hempel has notified the Arizona officials that such a display would be given place in the show.

The Committee on Exhibits which is composed of George T. Cline, Bernal Dyas, C. J. O. Reiley and Walter Hempel, is busy lining up the exhibits and arranging for the many features. As this will come at the opening of the vacation season vacation haunts and vacation supplies will be made one of the features.

Philip D. Armour III, it is understood, who is a Yale freshman, will donate $50,000 for a new baseball cage at St. Mark's school, in Southboro, Mass., from which he graduated in June last. The plans show a building about 115 feet square with a glass roof.

TIGERS BEAT YOUNG PHENOM.

Kremer Defeated After Fine Exhibition.

Allows but Three Hits in Seven Innings.

Grows Wild in Eighth and Felines Win.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The Tigers forged ahead in the series yesterday, winning 3 to 1, but in so doing they were guilty of beating up Ray Kremer, a mere muling infant.

Kremer comes fresh from the tules. He is so young that he holds his pants up with safety pins, and Wolverton violates the chee-ild-labor law every time he pitches.

But even though he has not yet shed his milk teeth, this kid gives every appearance of being able to hold up his own in any old kind of an argument with fully developed human beings.

For seven rounds he held Hogan's crew to three scattered hits, and caused Ed Klepfer's brow to become corrugated with worry. But in the eighth, Kremer blew, tossed out the ballast as it were. He loosed up for three passes, threw up something that Borton and Elliott hit squarely on the seam, three Tigers piled over the tureen, and young Kremer's pitching classic was mutilated beyond repair.

WOLVES HAMMERED.

Meantime, the Wolves had been hammering away at Klepfer's combination dry and wet delivery with marked persistence, but with no visible effect. They hit him once or more in every inning up to the seventh for a total of nine, but squandered every chance with wild, weird and impossible work on the bases. This constant striving caused Hogan and all the rest of us untold mental agony, and left the issue in doubt right down to the wire.

Klepfer improved with age, and did not allow a hit in the last three innings. But in the ninth, he became wild and untamable, three walks and a sacrifice fly giving the Sacs their only run.

Shinn searched Klepfer's delivery deeply in the first inning, and the result was a double to right. Two were out and Coy made it three.

TENNANT'S CLUMP.

Tennant opened the second with a one-bagger to center. He was forced by Moran after Hallinan had flied to Kane, and Moran was flagged stealing. Two hits failed to get Sacramento any place in the third. Rohrer beat out something that was half fly and half bunt. Kremer attempted to sacrifice. Klepfer reached out a rangy arm, and forced Rohrer at second. Young put a single over third. Kremer is a good pitcher, but will never win any blue ribbons as a sprinter. Well knowing this deficiency, he courted certain destruction by trying to go from first to third on this single, and got it—not third, but destruction. Borton bagged Mohler's foul.

Leard was the first Tiger to get the semblance of a hit, and it was under suspicion. Bill bunted with two out. Kremer fielded the ball, but his spikes failed to hold, and he sat down with great force. With little chance to get Leard, he heaved the ball to the bleachers, Bill taking second. Young retired the side by backing into left and inhaling Kane's tall fly.

TWO HITS IN FOURTH.

Sacramento pecked away at Klepfer for two hits again in the fourth. Shinn hit to center and took second while Coy was curling up his toes on a grounder to Leard. Tennant lined the ball directly at Heid. "Red" ducked discreetly. This sort of flabbergasted McArdle, and the ball went through him. Shinn was held at third.

Hallinan watched a third strike flit by, and Elliott threw Tennant out at second, Tommy having started for that base in the firm belief that Hallinan would either walk or hit the ball. Eddie's alibi was that McCarthy called a wide one on him. He was inclined to argue the case, but Wolverton dragged him back to the bench.

Sacramento had two men on the bases in the fifth and three in the sixth, but by some subtle means failed to get a runner beyond second.

For the Tigers, McArdle reached third on a walk, a sacrifice and an error with two down. Kremer then let out a link and fanned Carlisle. Bayless made the second hit off Kremer in the sixth, a single to center, but beyond that there was nothing doing with the kid.

THE SEVENTH.

In the seventh Borton appeared to beat out a grounder to Young, but Held would not have it so. McArdle walked and took second on Elliott's hit. Rohrer picked Klepfer's foul out of the wire netting for the second out. Carlisle took a healthy swipe at the ball. The result was a fly to Moran.

This thing of hope deferred began to tell on Kremer, and he came up a bit wobbly in the eighth, walking Leard and Kane. Bayless sacrificed and Hosp popped to Young. Borton blazed a single to center, Leard and Kane coming home in a lump. McArdle walked, and Elliott scored Borton with a hit to left. Klepfer fanned.

Klepfer became infected with a similar species of wildness, and walked both Shinn and Coy right off the reel in the ninth. Tennant forced Coy, Shinn taking third. A pass to Hallinan filled the bases. Moran scored Shinn with a fly to Kane. The venerable Van Buren, batting for Rohrer, and with a great burden resting on his aged shoulders, popped to Leard.

RELEASE FOR PAT HARKINS.

Pat Harkins, southpaw pitcher, was yesterday released unconditionally by the Los Angeles club. It is possible that he will be given a tryout by Sacramento. Harkins pitched for Fresno last season, making a fine record.

Paul Musser will not report to the Angels in San Francisco, as expected. In a wire sent to Assistant Secretary Ferguson, Musser states that he will arrive in Los Angeles next Thursday.

BALL MAGNATES WAR ON GAMBLING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 18.—Directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League and A. T. Baum, president of the league, it became known today, have declared war against gambling on baseball games in Portland. Not only book-makers but small betters are aimed at in a sweeping investigation which the head of the league has started. Similar campaigns, it is understood, have been or will be started in all the other Coast League cities. President Baum said today conditions in Portland are worse than in other cities.

Angels Slaughtered.

HEN'S SCHOOLBOY PITCHER WINS CHEERS OF ENEMY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Saturday is getting to be "slaughter day" out at Recreation Park. Following up the beating that was administered last week to the Portland hurlers, the Seals jumped on three Los Angeles flingers today for a total score of 11 to 1. Nine of these tallies rolled over in the first two frames, so you can gather somewhat of an idea what class of game was dished up to a gathering of 8000.

Crabb and Barton were the pitchers who suffered the greatest punishment. They were wild as could be, and in addition, were hit when runners decorated the paths. Before Dillon would sidetrack them eight runs were over, and a runner was in a position to cross the rubber.

By far the feature of the afternoon from a Los Angeles standpoint was the showing of Howard Ehmke, a tall, slender high school youth who was picked up at Glendale by Berry. He doesn't look a day over seventeen, but the way he pitched the last six innings argues well for his future. We've never known of a successful pitcher who is handicapped by having Ehmke tagged on him, but this kid looks the goods.

The fans laughed when such a frail lad took the mound, but after he had uncorked speed, curves and a cool head, he was cheered for his efforts. He was only responsible for one of the many runs, and then Maggert dropped an easy fly.

For the Seals, Hub Pernoll started, but when the runs came so easy Manager Howard decided that he should save the lefthander while he is going so good. Accordingly Pernoll stepped out in the third inning after blanking the Angels and he therefore gets credit for his fifth straight of the season. Skeet Fanning was shoved in to get a workout in the warm sunshine and he did not extend himself to hold the visitors safe.

If you are making less than $50 a week you should write us today. We can help you to wealth and independence; you can work when you please, where you please, always have money and the means of making plenty more of it.

JUST LISTEN TO THIS. One man started from San Francisco and traveled to New York. He stayed at the best hotels, lived like a lord wherever he went and cleaned up more than $10 every day he was out. Another man worked the fairs and summer resorts, and when there was nothing special to do, just started out on any street he happened to select, got busy and took in $8 a day for month after month. This interests you, don't it? MY PROPOSITION is a WONDERFUL NEW CAMERA with which you can take and instantaneously develop pictures on paper Post Cards and Tintypes. Every picture is developed without the use of films or negatives, and is ready almost instantly to deliver to your customer. THIS REMARKABLE INVENTION takes 100 pictures an hour and gives you a profit from 500 to 1500 per cent. Everybody wants pictures and each sale you make advertises your business and makes more sales for you. Simple instructions accompany each outfit, and you can begin to make money the same day the outfit reaches you.

WE TRUST YOU

SO MUCH CONFIDENCE HAVE WE in our proposition that we TRUST YOU for part of the cost of the outfit. The regular selling price of the Camera and complete working outfit is reasonable. The profits are so big, so quick, so sure, that you could afford to pay the full price if we ask you to do so. But we are so absolutely certain that you can make big money from the start that we trust you for a substantial sum, which you need not pay unless you clean up $200.00 the first month. FAIR ENOUGH, ISN'T IT? Do not delay a minute but write us today for our free catalog and full particulars.
